HOOVER CHEST PLEA BY RADIO SET FOR TODAY

President to Talk From White House This Afternoon.

EMERGENCY GROUP WILL BE ORGANIZED

$150,000 Shortage Seen When Drive Ends Tomorrow.

$341,000 EACH DAY IS AMOUNT NEEDED

Poole Says Only 15,000 Have Given This Year as Against 65,000 in 1929.

President Hoover is to broadcast a message in behalf of the Community Chest through Stations WRC and WMAL at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon, it was announced yesterday by Newbold Noyes, chairman of the special gifts committee, addressing the daily report meeting of Chest workers at the Mayflower.

The President's address will be delivered direct to a gathering of about 150 persons in the east room of the White House, called to organize an emergency advisory committee to the special gifts committee to plan measures to meet the emergency which Mr. Noyes declared now presages a shortage of at least $150,000 under the quota sought when the Chest drive ends tomorrow night.

The Chest organization now is faced with the task of raising approximately $341,000 for each of the report meetings to be held today at the Willard Hotel and tomorrow night at the Mayflower. The amount of collections reported yesterday for the 4,500 solicitors who are canvassing the city was $72,846.16, making the total to date $1,108,554.37, leaving the chest still short $682,182.70 under its quota of $1,786,737.07 which must be completed by tomorrow night.

Hoover Grants White House Use.

Both President and Mrs. Hoover have taken an active interest in the Community Chest, Mr. Noyes stated, and when the present emergency situation was explained to President Hoover the Chief Executive readily permitted the use of the White House for the organization of the committee and agreed to speak in the interests of the Chest. Last year President and Mrs. Hoover sent their contribution to the Chest by telegraph, but this year delivered their gifts in person.

John Poole, chairman of the campaign, made an earnest plea to the workers at yesterday's meeting, urging them to see every prospect in their respective territories. He declared that only about 15,000 contributors have been listed thus far this year, whereas there were 65,000 persons who gave to the Chest last year in Washington.

Although he admitted that the task appears tremendous, Mr. Poole said that not only should the 50,000 other contributors be signed up before tomorrow night, but that a large additional number should be available, due to the growth and changing conditions in the city. He expressed his gratitude to the workers for their efforts thus far, and urged redoubled efforts until the closing of the campaign.

Rabbi Urges Support.

Pronouncing the invocation at the meeting yesterday, Rabbi J. T. Loeb, of the Ohev Sholom Synagogue, took occasion to set forth the worthwhile work of the Chest and to urge its support by every resident of Washington.

William Knowles Cooper, the principal speaker of the day, expressed his confidence that Washington will provide the quota asked by the Chest if properly solicited.

"Big cities have consciences," he said. "A big city has a heart, and it also has pride in its ability to accomplish a given task. That feeling of pride in Washington, I am assured, will not permit the Chest to fail."

Mr. Cooper pointed out that it will require work and utter loyalty to the great objects for community betterment represented by the Chest if the workers are to make the campaign a succss.

Loyalty Is Emphasized.

He explained that it would take loyalty on the part of Washingtonians toward the men and women who have devoted themselves to the work of the various organizations in the Chest. Loyalty was stressed as the keynote of Mr. Cooper's talk, and he described it as the factor which would sweep the city and carry the Chest to success. The honor of Washington is at stake, he asserted.

"We are under observation from all parts of the country for everything from our morals to our money," Mr. Cooper said, "and we are being observed carefully from every part of

Finance Dictatorship Accepted by Chicago

City Council, Without Funds, Surrenders to Citizen Committee.

Chicago, Feb. 4 (A.P.).—Chicago today accepted a virtual dictatorship in an attempt to drive the wolf from its governmental doors. Without one dissenting vote the city council capitulated to the ultimatum of the Silas H. Strawn citizens' rescue committee and pledged the city to cooperate with the committee.

The cooperation means that the Strawn group, backed by more than $50,000,000, will advance money as it is needed for economic functioning of the city government.

The city council also called upon the school board, the public library directors and the municipal tuberculosis sanitarium board to adopt similar resolutions of cooperation. Cook County commissioners already had signified their willingness to submit their needs and pay rolls to the Strawn committee.

Relief is expected to be accomplished through the purchase of tax anticipation warrants by Strawn and his colleagues, the purchases to be made as the money is needed, and only when the committee approves proposed expenditures.

Capitulation of the city brought hope to the many thousand city and county employes who have been without pay since Christmas. They looked tonight to the action of the governmental agencies which have not yet pledged cooperation, for on them depends the help from the Strawn group. Before leaving for Washington yesterday Mr. Strawn said relief depended upon cooperation from all officials.

The committee consists of 75 capitalists, the majority of them large

CHICAGO GANGSTERS KILL TWO IN ONE DAY

Seventh Slaying in Six Days Follows Ultimatum of Prosecutor to Police.

CHILDREN SEE MURDER

Chicago, Feb. 4 (A.P.).—A gangland weapon accounted for another victim today, the second within 24 hours and the seventh attributed to gangsters and hoodlums in six days.

The shooting occurred just a short while after State's Attorney Swanson made public a fresh ultimatum demanding that Police Commissioner Russell take "most drastic measures to halt the bloodshed."

Philip Marchese, 35 years old, was the latest victim. He was shot down and killed in the late afternoon by a man who approached him from the rear and emptied a revolver into his back and head. Scores of school children playing in the yard of a West Side school witnessed the slaying. They ran to an alley and found the body, lying face downward. One of them pulled a fire alarm box and brought a battalion in answer to the call. A fire chief called police, but the assassin had fled.

Marchese was identified by his fingerprint record at the Bureau of Identification. The record showed he had been charged with a murder but that the charge was nolle prossed in 1928.

Earlier in the day the first victim of the past 24 hours, William Healy, 37, identified by police as a hoodlum and former convict, was shot down, but true to the code of the gangster, he refused to name his assailants. With two bullets in his back, Healy is in a hospital tonight and may die.

In all six of the shootings have been fatal, and another life was taken in an incendiary explosion which yesterday destroyed a West Side grocery. The victim was identified as Vitto Russo. Yesterday also saw the killing of Joseph Cada, referred to as a "dude" and beer runner. He was shot to death at a busy intersection on the North Side, following which Commissioner Swanson called the police "on the carpet" today.

Mr. Russell said immediate steps would be taken. He revealed that plans "to meet the enemy" had been

BROWN AND CROSBY FAVORED BY HOOVER

Both Would Accept Posts as Commissioners of District, Is Belief.

LETTER HITS JONES BILL

Herbert D. Brown, chief of the Bureau of Efficiency, and Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, chief of Cavalry, United States Army, are the men that President Hoover wants as the next civilian Commissioners of the District of Columbia, according to all present indications.

Mr. Brown, whose name in connection with the office was mentioned in The Post yesterday morning, is understood to be willing to accept the appointment, and there is reason to believe that Gen. Crosby also will accept.

Eventually it is expected that Col. William B. Ladue, the Engineer Commissioner, will be replaced by Lieut. Col. John J. Kingman.

The present civilian Commissioners, Proctor L. Dougherty and Sidney F. Taliaferro, have told President Hoover, in response to a request by him, that they will continue to serve until such time as he is ready to relieve them. They are expected to remain in office for a month or more.

In March, Gen. Crosby's term as chief of Cavalry expires and he then will be eligible for retirement.

That the selection of Gen. Crosby will cause a controversy seemed certain yesterday. There are some who are opposed to putting a military man on the Board of Commissioners. They point out that, with the Engineer Commissioner, there would be two soldiers on the board as against one civilian.

On the other hand, there are those who think that a man with Gen. Crosby's background and experience in handling men would make a splendid administrator of the Police and Fire Departments.

The selection of Gen. Mason M. Patrick to head the Public Utilities Commission was one of the most popular that President Hoover has ever made.

The President yesterday received a letter from E. J. Murphy, president of the Board of Trade, denouncing the Jones bill to permit the appointment of nonresidents as Commissioners. It read as follows:

"The Washington Board of Trade, representing 3,500 of the leading busi-

$1,184,602,927 Paid U. S. In Half Year Income Taxes

$171,531,330 Gain Seen Over Same Period of 1929.

(Associated Press.)

Income taxes, which increased amazingly in the 1929 fiscal year, continued their upward trend in the first six months of the 1930 fiscal year, which closed December 31, pouring a total of $1,184,602,927 into the Treasury. This was an increase of $171,531,330 over the same period of the previous year.

Individual tax payments for the first six months of the current fiscal year totaled $559,539,113, an increase of $142,591,181, while corporation payments aggregated $625,063,813, an increase of more than $28,000,000 over the same period of the 1929 fiscal year.

DISPUTE RAGES OVER METHODS OF NAVAL CURB

French and British Plans Bring Deadlock of Delegations.

SETTING OF RATIOS OPPOSED BY FRANCE

U. S. and Britain Hold This Is Necessary to Agreement.

BIG FIVE CONSIDER QUESTION BRIEFLY

Japanese-American Meeting Gets Down to Study of Actual Figures.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON.

London, Feb. 4 (N.Y.W.N.S.)—The five delegations to the London naval conference, sitting as a committee of the whole this afternoon in St. James' Palace, reached a complete deadlock in their debate on the issue of limitation of navies by total tonnage versus limitation by classes of ships.

Both the French and British compromises broke down on what the committee decided was "an issue of principle," the French balking at naval ratios being fixed at this conference and the British and Americans taking the stand that no five-power limitation treaty can be negotiated here until this is done. Confronted by these divergent viewpoints, the committee referred the dispute to the "Big Five" and adjourned.

The heads of the delegations took up the subject only briefly at a later meeting, deciding to wait until Premier Andre Tardieu returns from Paris tomorrow before going into it more deeply. The French premier is expected to reach London in time for a meeting with the "Big Five" at 6 p. m. tomorrow.

No Figures Yet Discussed Officially.

The British and Italians take today's so-called crisis seriously while the Americans do not. Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams said today that no figures either of total tonnage or of categories have yet been discussed at all officially, and prophesied that the real difficulties will come when figures are brought forward rather than over the present rows about abstract formulae.

Secretary of State Stimson, Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow and Senator David A. Reed had a half-hour talk this afternoon with the chief Japanese delegates, former Premier Reijiro Wakatsuki, Ambassador Tsuneo Matsudaira and Admiral Takeshi Takerabe. Mr. Stimson later confined himself to a statement that subject matters of interest to the two countries were discussed, but it is learned that the meeting was of importance because for the first time since the Japanese and Americans met in Washington they discussed figures.

Views Stated, Not Argued.

The meeting confined itself rather to a statement of the rival points of view than to detailed argument, the Japanese holding firmly to their demand for a 7 to 10 ratio in big cruisers. The American negotiators were fortified in their presentation by their talk with Premier MacDonald last night in which ratio problems were discussed from the American and British standpoints as they are affected by the positions adopted by the Japanese and French.

Mr. Stimson, in a talk with the press tonight, confirmed inferentially the published story that the main issues of the conference are now under earnest discussion, though informally. He said the conference is now in the hard part of its work and pulling a full stroke and that the flexible and informal method of procedure being pursued is the best way to achieve progress, even though it is unfortunate that these methods result in little information for the press.

Called "Complete Impasse."

It is in the light of these remarks of Mr. Stimson's that the story of today's row in the committee of the whole should be read. This body, referred to for convenience as committee No. 1, has accomplished nothing at all toward reconciling the French and British global tonnage versus category theses, and at least one important London newspaper tomorrow will speak of a "complete impasse" and the peril of breakdown.

But these quarrels will be seen in due proportion if it is remembered that no figures were discussed in committee No. 1, that figures are the crux of the whole conference, and that the American, British and Japanese delegations are admittedly discussing figures and ratios informally among themselves.

The "question of principle," which broke up today's committee meeting, stripped of technical language, was this: The French declare that no power participating in the deliberations here is under obligation to state

Austria, Italy Plan Friendship Treaty

Judicial Pact Will Also Be Signed at Quirinal Tomorrow.

Rome, Feb. 4 (A.P.).—Austria and Italy will sign a treaty of friendship and conciliation and a judicial pact on February 6 as the result of a meeting here today between Chancellor Schober, of Austria, and Premier Mussolini.

The treaty and pact are expected to go far toward smoothing over the difficulties of the two countries since the postwar rearrangement of frontiers and the advent of Fascism to power in Italy.

Chancellor Schober thanked the Duce for the Italian support given Austria at The Hague reparations conference and gave him the Austrian Grand Cordon with the gold star of merit. He also made him a present of the first copy printed in Austria of a book of prayers by Galeazzo Maria Sforza.

WETS PROPOSE LIBERAL PARTY; MEETING IS SET

National Convention to Be Held in Baltimore During Spring.

RENEWED MILITANCY PLEDGED AT DINNER

Political Organization to Combat Religious "Dictation."

WASHINGTON MAN IS TOASTMASTER

Neither Republicans Nor Democrats Offer Hope, Is View.

New York, Feb. 4 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—After pledging renewed militancy in "the good fight," directors of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, guests of Pierre S. Dupont at a private dinner in the Metropolitan Club, were urged tonight by Samuel Harden Church, of Pittsburgh, president of Carnegie Institute and a widely known Republican, to support a new political party—the Liberal party—which would combat not prohibition alone but "every form of religious dictation" now menacing the United States.

"It is my thought," Mr. Church told the 75 directors who attended the dinner as representatives of the association in many Eastern cities, "that the Liberal party shall begin an aggressive career through its fixed purpose to establish religious, political and social liberty in this country.

"To that end it would aim to extirpate all those organizations that are holding liberty in bondage, and it would disperse all those political groups of the churches which are endeavoring to enact their religious and moral tenets into the laws of the land.

Divorce Government and Church.

"Broadly and courageously it would divorce the Government from every form of religious dictation, reject every law that rests upon a religious basis and seek the dissolution of every society which aims to subordinate any portion of our citizenship because of race or creed."

The dinner, at which resolutions were adopted deploring the state of the Nation under prohibition and calling for continued effort on the part of the association to bring about reform, followed a meetin gearlier in the day of the executive committee, of which Mr. Dupont is chairman, which resulted in the first move for extension of the organization's activities.

This, it was decided after discussion of a proposal to that effect made by former United States Senator William Cabell Bruce, of Maryland, will take the form of a national convention of the association to be held in Baltimore on a date this spring to be set later. The gathering will be the first general meeting of the organization since its inception several years ago.

Washington Man Toastmaster.

Capt. William H. Stayton, of Washington, chairman of the board of directors of the association, was toastmaster of the dinner and presided at the "round table" discussion into which the gathering developed and to which Mr. Church's address was the principal contribution.

"Prohibition is not the only dragon that lies in our path," declared the educator who, after 52 years in the service of the Pennsylvania Railroad, retired two years ago to devote himself exclusively to Carnegie Institute and to public affairs.

"I have seen the printed program of the churches whose political groups are now at work in Washington, and

HOUSE WETS EAGER FOR HEARING ON RUM

Prominent List of Former Drys to Be Called to Judiciary Quiz.

WILLIAMSON BILL IS DUE

(Associated Press.)

If the House wet block has its way, witnesses at the hearings on prohibition beginning before the House judiciary committee on February 12 will include prominent persons once dry, but now wet.

Chairman Graham of the committee has said everybody will be heard, and opponents of the eighteenth amendment, along with advocates of its modification, are preparing a slate of persons they want to testify. The block has decided, however, not to suggest calling former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, of New York, or Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University. Their views against the dry laws are well known.

Representative Linthicum (Democrat), Maryland, chairman of the bloc, will include Cannon Cody, of Montreal, among those he wants called. Plans are for Mr. Cody to be questioned on conditions in the Canadian city before, during and after prohibition.

Another member of the bloc, Representative Dyer (Republican), Missouri, is expected to name witnesses he wants to question concerning his proposal to authorize the manufacture of 2.75 per cent beer. The Missourian has asked the law enforcement commission's views on that proposition, and Chairman Wickersham is expected to present the letter to his fellow commissioners at its formal meeting today. For several weeks it has been in recess so that the members could work on the various subcommittees. Following the customary policy of secrecy nothing

HOPE FOR RECOVERY OF TAFT ABANDONED AS HE REACHES CITY

Retired Chief Justice Is Lifted From Train on Arrival in Capital.

SLIGHT IMPROVEMENT IS REPORTED IN NIGHT

End May Be Delayed, but Doctors Expect Illness to Prove Fatal.

PRESIDENT'S LETTER OF PRAISE REVEALED

All Traces of Senatorial Opposition to Hughes' Nomination Fade.

Underwood & Underwood.

Former Chief Justice Taft upon arrival in the Capital yesterday morning from Asheville, N. C., where he has been resting. He had to be carried from his automobile into his home.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

William Howard Taft, who attained both of the two highest offices which this Nation has to give, lay at rest in his Wyoming street home yesterday, at rest from the contentions and pleadings of men—an utter rest, in fact, such as he has hardly had in 40 years.

And there was no one who saw him, not even his physicians, but believed that it was that rest which comes in the twilight between a life's work well done and the end.

The huge form of the man who found so much in life, even happiness in the very fact that he was living, lay listlessly abed, decidedly shrunken from what it was just a few weeks ago, and his mind entertained no disturbing thought of any kind.

Recovery Out of Question.

His illness is such that the end might come at any time, and again his life might be prolonged, but recovery, even from the tone of his physicians' conservative statements, seemed to be out of the question.

A statement issued by Drs. Francis R. Hagner and Thomas A. Claytor after an hour's examination in the morning said his circulatory system had suffered a general breakdown, a condition complicated by the bladder trouble which sent him South three weeks ago seeking relief. In medical terms he is suffering from arterio sclerosis, myocarditis as well as chronic cystitis, the latter the organic ailment.

But he has no fever and suffers no pain, the doctors said.

Last night another statement signed by Drs. Hagner and Claytor, and Dr. William S. Thayer, of Baltimore, who had been called in, said Mr. Taft was "possibly a little better."

This statement said:

"His condition is due to arteriosclerotic changes. He is free of fever and is not suffering pain. His heart is holding out well. He is a little more alert. We feel he is possibly a little better."

Shortly before midnight Dr. Claytor visited the Taft home, and after a few minutes said his patient was "sleeping quietly." Dr. Claytor said he would not visit Mr. Taft again until this morning.

President's Letter Revealed.

In the meantime, the White House made public the President's letter accepting his resignation tendered Monday and also a statement of public tribute.

"The Chief Justice has given an almost unparalleled career to the highest responsibilities in the Nation," the President's statement said. "He leaves his great trust as Chief Justice not only with universal esteem and gratitude but with the affection of the whole American people."

In his letter to the bed-ridden man, Mr. Hoover said:

"I was deeply pained at receiving your letter of resignation today. For some time I have been aware of the shock you received to your health and have been fearful lest this event should occur.

"In accepting your resignation I would like to add my personal appreciation of the long and distin-

VETERAN OF WORLD WAR TAKES HIS LIFE

Charles L. Jones, 39, Capital Business Man, Shoots Himself in Home.

ACT BLAMED ON NERVES

Another World War casualty was written on the books last night when Charles L. Jones, 39-year-old former service man, of 3831 S street northwest, sent a bullet crashing through the roof of his mouth in a frenzied attempt to seek peace for nerves shattered in France.

Jones had undergone seventeen plastic operations to relieve his right cheek and right eye of distortion brought about by the premature explosion of a hand grenade years ago in the front line trenches. He was to have submitted to an eighteenth operation some time in the next few weeks.

For more than a year Jones had been unable to close the right eyelid. Skin grafted from his hip had been grown on the eyelid, and because of its unusual thickness, the eye muscles were not able to close it. The pending operation had been arranged to redemy that condition.

Mrs. Bertha B. Jones, widow of the man, told police that her husband, then a lieutenant, picked up a hand grenade and it exploded while he still held it. The full force of the explosion caught him on the right side of his face.

Jones had evidently prepared for the shooting. He had on his night clothes and he awaited the return of his wife from a shopping trip. When she came in she saw him at the head of the stairs and while she was placing her packages on a table she heard him enter the bedroom and slam the door. A second later the shot rang out.

Dr. Robert Oden, of Stoneleigh Courts, was called and pronounced Jones dead. Later Acting Coroner Joseph D. Rogers issued a certificate of suicide.

Jones was the owner of a battery store at 616 Pennsylvania avenue southeast.

guished service of a great American to his country."

White House to Issue Bulletins.

At the same time, the White House issued orders that every facility of the Government be afforded the stricken man and prepared to issue periodical bulletins on his condition.

At the Capitol the legislative wheels which will have to do with his successor, Charles Evans Hughes, moved tediouly on.

Every trace of senatorial opposition to him had disappeared, although there was no move to call the Senate judiciary committee into a special meeting to act upon his appointment. The committee will meet for its regular session Monday and at that time both Chairman Norris and Senator Borah believe that Mr. Hughes' nomination will be unanimously approved.

There was no serious thought on the part of the progressives to challenge him. As Senator Norris explained it, his viewpoint differed widely from that of Mr. Hughes, but he did not consider it within the province of a senator to challenge a man's Supreme Court fitness because of that.

Mitchell Test Out.

Neither was there any thought, despite rumors to the contrary, of applying what has come to be known as the Mitchell test to learn Mr. Hughes' views on prohibition. The judiciary committee members have, in fact, made known that they did not believe in applying this test to any judicial officers. Mr. Hughes, it will be recalled, discussed prohibition very fully in the last presidential campaign.

In his famous Buffalo speech he insisted that the prohibition issue was a sham, that it had no part in the campaign, that Gov. Smith was trying to make an issue that did not exist. It was embarrassing particularly to Senator Borah at the time, because he was in the South insisting that prohibition was the issue.

Mr. Hughes will not come here, it was said, until after his appointment has been confirmed. There is no especial hurry, as the Supreme Court is in recess until February 24.

Condition Startles Friends.

Mr. Taft's condition was such yesterday morning when he returned from Asheville that his friends were startled. He had lost considerable weight in the past several months by means of a rigid diet enforced to relieve the strain upon his heart, but it was a picture of sharp emaciation that he presented as he was assisted from the train.

His features were drawn and only at rare intervals did he show any interest in his surroundings. He was up and dressed, but Dr. Hagner had to take him by the arm before he seemed to realize that he must leave the train. He was virtually carried to the platform and then placed in a chair to be lifted from the train. Then he was wheeled to the automobile of Justice Vandevanter, a personal friend, and taken immediately to his home, where he was placed in bed.

Dr. Hagner called in Dr. Claytor and later in the day Dr. William Sidney Thayer, of Baltimore, was summoned for a consultation. A second one was held later in the day and another planned for late last night.

Death Held Not Imminent.

In spite of Mr. Taft's condition, no arrangements had been made to summon relatives. Dr. Hagner said that in so far as he could determine death was not imminent. His wife was at his bedside, as was his son, Robert A. Taft, who had preceded his father to Washington by a day in order to submit his resignation to the President.

Knowledge of Mr. Hughes' appointment to succeed him had previously come as gratifying news to Mr. Taft. It meant more than the appointment of a worthy successor. It meant the return to the bench of a man whom Mr. Taft as President a decade ago had appointed to the same court.

Many years afterward, when Mr. Hughes resigned in an attempt to retrieve the Republican party's losses that it had suffered under Mr. Taft four years before, there was the serious suggestion of reappointing him, after he had been defeated for the Presidency. But Senator Borah and others would not have it so. They did not like the idea, as it was expressed at the time, of a man springing from the court into politics and then springing back again.

Time Lessens Breach.

But the intervening years have erased this attitude of Senator Borah toward Mr. Hughes. Whether time has also erased, or, rather, lessened, the memory of Theodore Roosevelt for Mr. Taft is something that will probably never be known.

Those who have enjoyed a fair degree of intimacy with the Chief Justice say that he never mentioned Roosevelt's name, but that he always looked philosophically upon his defeat for reelection which Roosevelt's bolt brought about.

"I was never much of a politician," he was wont to say.

Throughout yesterday hundreds of telegrams were received at the Wyoming street home expressing hope for his recovery and paying tribute to the service he has rendered. Friends came, too, in steady stream.

HUGHES KEPT BUSY WINDING UP AFFAIRS

Chief Justice Nominee Works at Top Speed to End Private Practice.

TLEGRAMS STACKED UP

New York, Feb. 4 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Today was a high pressure day for Charles Evans Hughes.

A stack of telegrams and cables from all over the world accumulated at his home and at his law offices here, bringing congratulations on his nomination by President Hoover as Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court, succeeding former President Taft. Telephone calls to the same end poured in upon him. Friends flocked in to shake hands and chat for a moment.

Two secretaries worked at top speed all day long getting out correspondence as Mr. Hughes attacked the man-sized task of winding up the many angles of his lucrative private practice in preparation for what he has termed the greatest possible opportunity for service his country could have offered him. In between times were a number of conferences that in one way or another had to do with the transition back into public life of a distinguished man who, until Monday, had thought he would round out his career as a private citizen.

But a telephone call from the White House had changed all that. Chief Justice Taft was gravely ill and had been forced to resign in consequence; would Mr. Hughes serve in his place? His answer was immediate and President Hoover at once notified the Senate of his appointment.

Today photographers beseiged Mr. Hughes at his office, clamoring for pictures "cleaning up your desk before you go to Washington." Reporters asked for an interview or a formal statement on the honor that had come to him so unexpectedly. Kindly, but firmly, he put them all off.

"There is time enough for that when the Senate confirms the appointment," he said. "In the meantime I have too many other things to do."

Cornwallis Surrender Observance Is Urged

President Hoover would be requested to invite foreign governments and individuals to participate in the observance of the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the surrender of Lord Cornwallis at Yorktown, Va., under a resolution introduced yesterday by Representative Bland (Democrat), Virginia, which would authorize appropriation of $25,000 for this purpose.

The Virginian also offered a resolution to authorize appropriation of $200,000 for participation by the Government of the United States in the celebration.

COUNTY TO PROVIDE LIGHTS ON HIGHWAY

Sixteenth Street Extension to Have System Like That of District.

READY TO START WORK

Electric lights similar to those now on Sixteenth street in the District of Columbia will be placed on the extension of Sixteenth street into Montgomery County as far as the east and west highway, it was announced yesterday by County Commissioner Lacy Shaw, in charge of the eastern suburban district. The lights will conform in every way with the District lights.

The preliminary work for the installation is in charge of Ward W. Caddington, clerk to the county commissioner for that district. Contracts have been awarded for the posts and equipment necessary for the lights and some of the equipment has arrived. Actual construction probably will be started this week.

Mr. Caddington expects the installation to be complete by March 1, although it is not possible at this time to definitely place the actual date the lights will go into commission. There will be approximately eleven poles from the circle at the District line to the east-west highway which is to connect Silver Spring and Bethesda when completed.

Mr. Caddington was enthusiastic in his praise for the cooperation given him by District officials in the preliminary work, especially Warren B. Hadley, electrical engineer of the District, and F. Lyman, inspector of street lights.

The Montgomery County commissioners yesterday approved the recommendation made by the appraisal subcommittee of the courthouse building committee that all bids for the removal of the buildings on the block west of the present courthouse be rejected. The commissioners then accepted a bid presented by H. L. England and awarded to him the contract for the demolition and removal of the buildings on the square which is being cleared as a site for a modern courthouse and jail.

Mr. England bid to remove the buildings at a cost of $650. This was $100 less than his offer of a week ago. The contract was awarded subject to the approval of the counsel to the county commissioners, Capt. Joseph C. Cissel, who will render an opinion on the transaction after he has investigated the legal requirements.

The commissioners also accepted a bid of $250 made by the Masonic Hall and Library Association of Rockville for the building which was owned by that association until the square was purchased by the county as a courthouse site. The building is located at the corner of Montgomery avenue and Washington street and is one of the landmarks of the town. This award also was made subject to the approving opinion of the counsel.

Judge A. L. Wilson, of the Takoma Park Police Court, reported to the county commissioners yesterday that his court had collected fines and costs totaling $153.76 in the month of January. Of this amount $110 was collected for motor-vehicle-law violations, and this sum must be forwarded to the commissioner of motor vehicles in Baltimore.

When is a compalining witness a defendant? This question was settled for Montgomery County Police when Francis W. Bryant, 25, who gave his address as Plymouth, Mass., confessed that he and not a mysterious stranger stole a car from Hyattsville.

Bryant walked into the county police headquarters at Rockville yesterday and told Corpl. Roy Bodmer that he had been walking along the Rockville pike when a passing motorist stopped and gave him a lift until they reached the Rockville fair grounds where the motorist stopped and told him that his car was out of gas and that they would have to walk as he had no money. Bryant said he asked if the man didn't want the car and the latter replied that the car was not his but that he had stolen it in Hyattsville. Bryant said that he had come in to report the matter so that the police could catch the man.

Policeman Windsor C. Pool hopped onto his trusty motorcycle and went in pursuit of the motorist. He found a pedestrian who answered the description given by Bryant. Then the latter broke down and admitted that he had stolen the car himself, police said. The car was listed to Charles Reid, of Riverdale, and had been stolen in Hyattsville. Bryant was turned over to State Policeman M. D. Brubaker to be taken back to Prince Georges County to answer charges of larceny of the auto.

Students of the Poolesville High School will present their annual operetta, "Betty Lou," Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the school auditorium. Dancing will follow the show.

Senate Reporter Hears Laudations

Theodore F. Shney,85, Has Served in Chamber 61 Years.

(Associated Press.)

Theodore F. Shuey, veteran official stenographic reporter of the Senate, with a record of 61 years of service without missing a day, sat at his customary place in front of Vice President Curtis yesterday and heard that record praised by senators old and new at the game of politics.

Spry and alert as any man 20 years his junior, Mr. Shuey, who celebrated his eighty-fifth birthday Sunday, happened to be on the shift when the tribute began and necessarily had to record the eulogies in his behalf.

Senator Herbert (Republican), of Rhode Island, said he had been thrilled by speeches about men who had served the better part of their lives in the Senate, but found equal admiration for a man who, while not a member, had been an integral part of that body nearly all his lifetime.

FATE OF CRABTREE IN JURY'S HANDS

Slaying of Magistrate One of Three Killings Laid to Defendant.

INSANITY IS PLEADED

Special to The Washington Post.

Romney, W. Va., Feb. 4.—The jury trying Walter Crabtree for the slaying of Justice of the Peace Walter Inskeep here, one of three whom he slew on the morning of December 18, was given the case at 5:10 o'clock this afternoon. Judge Hughes immediately took a recess over the supper hour with the explanation that he would be at the call of the jury this evening if they reached a verdict.

The general impression among observers was that an agreement would be reached tonight. Summations and instructions to the jury occupied the final day, the eighth of the trial.

Judge Hughes' instructions included three possible verdicts: Guilty of first-degree murder with death or life imprisonment; second-degree murder, with a prison sentence of from five to eighteen years, or not guilty. Insanity was permitted as sufficient ground for a not guilty finding, but Judge Hughes explained the burden of proof under the insanity plea was upon the defense.

The final arguments were delivered by Capt. J. P. Roman, Cumberland, Md., for the defense, who asked mercy for the defendant, and E. L. Luttrell, of Martinsburg, W. Va., who asked a first-degree verdict both as justice to Crabtree and in protection to the citizenry.

A packed courthouse followed the case to the very end. One girl fainted in the room this morning and was taken out without disturbing the proceedings by State policemen. Crabtree went through the closing moments little more moved than during the remainder of the trial. His bearing has been one of indifference. The only new evidence of nervousness toward the close was a blinking of the eyes.

FORD MAY FINANCE LEE SHRINE PROJECT

Stratford Dinner Guests Are Told He Is Interested in Enterprsie.

GENEROUS GIFT LOOMS

Henry Ford's visit to Stratford, the ancestral home of Robert E. Lee, coupled with the expression of his intense interest in the perpetuation of the plantation as a national shrine, gave rise to the rumor last night that he was gonig to restore Stratford.

At a dinner last night in the Willard Hotel of the District committee of the obert E. Lee Memorial Foundation, Mrs. Charles D. Lanier, national preident, told the group of society folk that Mr. and Mrs. Ford spent all yesterday at Stratford.

They were accompanied by officials of the foundation. Mr. Ford, according to Mrs. Lanier, has manifested much interest in the proposal to perpetuate Lee's birthplace and she added, during her talk, that generous response from him could be expected.

Later she would not confirm the rumor that Mr. Ford had expressed an intention of financing the project, but agreed that he was more than usually interested. Mr. and Mrs. Ford were en route to Savannah, Ga., for a rest. They stopped at Fredericksburg and accompanied by the Foundation officials surveyed the property at Stratford.

During the meeting last night Mrs. Lanier announced that $50,000 had already been paid on the purchase price of $240,000 and that the balance would be forthcoming from private donations.

They were converted into schools, hospitals, workmen's clubs and headquarters of village soviets. In the previous five-year period 364 churches were abolished in the same territory.

The government today announced that the antireligious movement was becoming very intensive, especially in regions where state collective farms have been established. The commissariat of home affairs is prepared to close additional churches upon the petition of workers and peasants.

Laymen of Chicago Diocese Win 30-Years Fight for Canon Amendment.

Chicago, Feb. 4 (A.P.).—Five prominent Episcopal clergymen from the Chicago diocese and three from out of the State were mentioned today at the ninety-third annual convention of the local diocese as potential candidates to succeed the late Most Rev. Charles P. Anderson as Bishop of Chicago.

The possible candidates include the Right Rev. Sheldon M. Griswold, Suffragan Bishop of Chicago, close associate of Bishop Anderson; the Rev. George Craig Stewart, of Evanston; Dr. George Thomas, of Chicago; Dean Duncan H. Browne of St. James' Cathedral; Dean Frederick C. Grant of Western Theological Seminary, all from within the Chicago diocese, and Missionary Bishop Arthur W. Moulton of Utah; the Rev. Dr. Samuel S. Drury, of Concord, N. H., and Bishop Edward M. Cross, of Spokane, Wash.

Episcopal laymen of the Chicago diocese won a 30-year fight today when the ninety-third diocesan convention granted them concurrent authority with the clergy in the election of bishops. The action was in the form of an amendment to the church canons. The change can not become effective in the present convention, which tomorrow will choose a successor to Bishop Anderson as head of the Chicago diocese.

"It is commendable that the Grigsby-Grunow Co. and the company broadcasting system are providing you the American school of the air," he said. "It affords a wonderful opportunity for you to supplement your studies. And the true American youth never misses an opportunity for education."

Two Fire Departments Extinguish $3,000 Fire

Flames wrought damage of $3,000 to the Washington Screen Factory, Bethesda avenue, Bethesda, Md., about 10 o'clock last night before the Chevy Chase and the Bethesda fire departments extinguished them. The loss was chiefly to the building, as it contained little stock.

The fire originated through a short circuit in the single story sheet iron structure. The blaze was well under way before it was discovered.

Soviet Abandons Hope for Eielson

ArcticCommission Believes He and Boreland Died in Snowy Wastes.

Moscow, Feb. 4 (A.P.).—The arctic commission of the Soviet government has abandoned all further search for Carl B. Eielson and his companion, Earl Borland, in the belief the two American airmen perished in Siberia.

Officials of the arctic commission had persisted in their search for the two men despite the discovery of Eielson's wrecked plane on the Siberian coast on January 25.

There was no trace of the two fliers, who had been missing in the Arctic since November 9, but there was still a hope that they might have survived the crash and made their way to some place of safety.

Today, however, the Arctic Commission regretfully acknowledged the conclusion that the two Americans had perished, and consequently announced abandonment of all further search for the courageous Americans who gave their lives in an effort to bring aid to the stranded trading ship Nanuk off the northern coast of Siberia.

WISCONSIN CORRUPT USAGES LAW UPHELD

Governor Loses Tilt Before Supreme Court in Fight on Ouster Move.

HIGHER APPEAL HINTED

Madison, Wis., Feb. 4 (A.P.).—Wisconsin's corrupt practices law, challenged by Gov. Walter J. Kohler in his defense against ouster proceedings, today was held constitutional by the State supreme court. The case was brought by Progressive Republican political opponents of the governor, who charged that more than $100,000 was expended in his behalf in his 1928 campaign. The court directed that the case be sent back to Sheboygan Circuit Court for trial.

The corrupt practices law limits expenditures of not more than $4,000 by a candidate.

Decision of the State supreme court, however, may be appealed to the United States Supreme Court. The chief executive's attorneys, in arguments before the State court, raised constitutional points which indicated that a basis was being laid for such an appeal.

Four Men File Charges.

Charges alleging violation of the law were filed against Gov. Kohler soon after he was inaugurated a year ago by Phil La Follette, brother of United States Senator La Follette; William Evjue, Madison newspaper publisher; State Senator G. D. Roberts, and Assemblyman Alvin Reis, leaders of the Progressive-Republican faction in Wisconsin.

The action reached a county court several months ago, but Judge James Wickham sustained a demurrer filed by the governor's attorneys. Judge Wickham held that the corrupt practices act was void in so far as it provided for the removal of the governor from office.

The Supreme Court reversed Judge Wickham's decision and overruled the demurrer. The court found that the action against the governor might be continued inasmuch as the statutes say that a person who secures an apparent election and in so doing violates the act, gets no title to the office for which he is candidate.

$4,000 Expenses Listed.

The court made clear that it had no permission to determine what would be a proper sum to permit a candidate to spend.

Expenses of less than $4,000 were filed by the governor but the expenditures of his friends, of which the chief executive said he was unaware at the time, brought the total to more than $100,000.

Gov. Kohler was elected on a "businessman-for-governor" platform and his election was virtually his first step into active politics. He is the head of a large manufacturing concern.

Neither the governor nor his attorneys could be reached for comment on the decision.

Mexican Troops Attacked at Rodeo.

NAVAL LIMITATION METHODS ARE DISPUTED BY DELEGATIONS

figures at this conference and that these need be furnished only to the League of Nations preparatory disarmament commission, but that if figures are given here they should be total figures for whole navies only, and that this tonnage should be distributed within categories by each country exactly as it sees fit in accordance with its views of its absolute needs, with no question arising of ratios with any other power.

Britain and U. S. Differ.

The British and Americans, on the other hand, argue that figures can only be fixed by agreement on ratios and that these ratios must take into account not merely total tonnage of whole fleets, but the relation of ships within categories to the ships of other nations within these same categories.

Secretary of the Navy Adams and Ambassador Hugh S. Gibson supported the British thesis in committee No. 1 today after Mr. Gibson had warmly congratulated Rene Massigli, of the French delegation, on the logic and lucidity with which the French case had been presented. However, Mr. Gibson added, other powers also had certain qualities of mind that may prove useful and certain contingencies they must guard against.

The fur flew fairly fast after this, although there were no reproaches and nothing unpleasant. The Japanese maintained their recent pose of silence. Admiral Sirianni, for Italy, reiterated Italy's demand that absolute needs be stated before any other discussion takes place and then said that Italy prefers the present French proposals to those put forward three years ago, but can express no opinion until figures and ratios are supplied. That, M. Massigli at once responded, France is not prepared to do.

Taken as Basis of Discussion.

Mr. Gibson made two speeches in the committee and while accepting the French plan as a basis of discussion he pointed out that the original French plan had only four categories, while the new one has five. Americans said Mr. Gibson must not be held as committed to the French plan.

In his second effort Mr. Gibson made what the British called an illuminating speech to show that the differences between the total tonnage and categorical systems are not so great as claimed. But he said that ratios and figures must be brought forward or the committee would have nothing on which to work.

The breakdown came while the committee was trying to go through the French compromise paragraph by paragraph. The French proposed that after global tonnage is fixed it be divided into categories as each power wishes. First Lord of the Admiralty Albert V. Alexander declared that Great Britain wants total tonnage divided into categories "on an agreed basis." M. Massigli, for France, was unable to agree, since the British phrase means that each category be fixed in accordance with a ratio scheme relative to the strength of each of the other powers and this is what the French say they will never permit.

Actual Details Are Divulged.

After today's meeting the British said little and the French attempted to convey the impression that their compromise has been accepted in principle and that all is going well. It wasn't until tonight that the actual details of what happened in committee No. 1 became available through sources not interested in the dispute.

Secretary Adams said there should be no difficulty in settling the difference between the French and British because the five powers certainly would not sign a treaty which included the French table of tonnage by categories until there is a five-power agreement to those figures, which would result in the British getting what they want and what the Americans want; that is, consideration of ratios, sooner or later.

Figures to Bring Main Dispute.

The main dispute, Secretary Adams hinted, will soon be transferred from these squabbles about abstract principles to figures as he said. As Mr. Stimson said later, that figures are now being discussed at informal meetings between the delegations.

While most people assumed that the meeting of the big five, minus M. Tardieu, this afternoon was gravely debating the deadlock in committee No. 1. I believe most of the talk was about relations between the conference and the press. The subject was brought up by Secretary Stimson and there was debate as to whether some pretext for another plenary session in the near future can't be found so that the newspapers may be supplied with some "news." It was decided that no such pretext exists at present.

Eight Hurt by $100,000 Blast and Fire in Store

New York, Feb. 4 (A.P.).—Eight persons were injured, two critically, in an explosion and fire today in the machine shop and garage of the A. I. Namm Department Store, Brooklyn, which caused property damage estimated at $100,000.

The neighborhood quickly filled with smoke, causing excitement in the Brooklyn Hospital and the Raymond Street Jail. Guards in the jail were rushed to their riot posts to prevent a possible outbreak. The fire followed the explosion of two cans of gasoline. The flames destroyed fifteen motor trucks and damaged twenty other automobiles.

AIRCRAFT CARRIER ACTION IS WAITED

Navy Conference Expected to Have Wide Effect on These Ships.

POLICY IS UNDECIDED

London, Feb. 4 (A.P.).—One of the most important problems of American naval policy hingeing in large measure on the decisions of the London naval conference is, in the opinion of American naval experts here, that regarding aircraft carriers.

This class of warships, which already was partly limited by the Washington Treaty, is generally expected to be the last to come before the conference, unless it is academically discussed in connection with cruisers.

American and British experts, who have studied the question for a long time, have begun jointly examining the possibility of bringing aircraft carriers under the closest scrutiny.

Change In Policy Noted.

Since the Washington agreement limited the United States and Great Britain to 135,000 tons each in this class of ship, there has been a distinct change in the American policy toward aircraft carriers. Already there are indications that the decisions of the five-power conference about them may have a vast effect on America's future naval policy.

The United States possesses at present the Lexington and the Saratoga, aggregating 66,000 tons. But since these ships went into commission, it has become an open secret that American naval men have been casting about in an effort to determine the values of other types of carriers.

How far the present conference will go in attempting to limit this category, no one at present will attempt to guess.

Considered Experimental Types.

Navy men look upon these ships as purely experimental types, of which the potential or actual values have not yet been determined.

In the American delegation there is a considerable section that believes the figure set at the Washington conference for the United States should not be disturbed. On the other hand, there is another group, known to have the support of some advisers and even some delegates in other delegations, of the opinion that some effort should be made at this conference to limit carriers under 10,000 tons.

MILLIONS ARE LOST IN CORNER ON GRAIN

investor in the rye market. Efforts to reach him by telephone at his Boston home and here in Providence proved futile.

It was reported in financial circles here that sixteen prominent Easterners formed the pool in Providence to corner the grain market several months ago and had stored nearly 10,000,000 bushels of rye in the huge Chicago elevators awaiting a favorable opportunity to sell, when the bottom fell out of the market.

The aggregate loss of the syndicate is believed to be somewhere around $10,000,000, although several persons close to the pool's operations estimated the loss might run as high as $15,000,000. The only tangible figures obtainable revealed that Providence grain brokers started on the present ill-starred spurt when rye was listed at $1.05 a bushel. The syndicate soon ran the price to $1.15—the high point when the slump started. It was down to 85 cents today.

John Nicholas Brown, who is believed to be one of the leaders in the scheme, inherited $70,000,000 or more when but a baby, and for years after was publicized in the press. His family is very close to the Metcalfs. Mr Brown is a descendant of the founder of Brown University.

A poll of Providence brokers today resulted in a denial from every firm that it had participated in the so-called pool.

Chicago Traders Silent.

Chicago, Feb. 4 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Chicago's active rye and wheat traders, cognizant of the so-called Eastern rye pool, kept a sort of ethical silence about their Eastern friends' losses today, although the impression was that the syndicate was not through by any means. The losses of the pool were placed at between $7,000,000 and $10,000,000.

President John A. Bunnell, of the board of trade, official spokesman for the traders, announced today there was no such thing as a rye corner, and said the members would prevent the formation of such a group.

He did admit, however, that there had been some suspicion for "in December," he said, "the board of directors ordered all members to report immediately concerning the individual standing in rye trades. This was taken as a precaution when it was obvious that a large long interest existed."

It was by means of this check that the huge pouring in of rye was discovered. The pool, however, had not stored all its rye in one basket, for it was understood they had stored the grains in St. Paul, Duluth and on leased vessels on the lakes.

Wheat was listed rather unevenly the past few days, but rallied today on the strength of the Government's statement that farmers had 50,000,000 bushels less wheat than at the corresponding period a year ago.

American Talkies Ruin Good English, Is Claim

London, Feb. 4 (A.P.).—Sir Alfred Knox, Conservative, rose in the House of Commons today to champion English as it is spoken in England against "ravages" of American language through the medium of talking pictures.

He asked William Graham, president of the Board of Trade, if something could not be done about this through limiting the import of American films and encouraging production of British films.

President Graham pointed to the cinematographic act as designed to encourage British films, but added, "I'm not prepared to place direct restrictions on the importations of American talking films into this country."

Sir Alfred wanted to know if just now wasn't the time "to do something to protect the language and ideas of people in this country."

ITALIAN DELEGATES PLAYING LONE HAND

Grandi Believes Four-Power Pact May Result, Although No One Else Does.

COMPROMISE IS HINTED

London, Feb. 4 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The danger of the Italian delegation being isolated at the London naval conference is being forcibly borne in upon its members now that the French proposal for a compromise between limiting navies by total tonnage and by classes of ships has been accepted here as a basis for discussion. The Italians foresee that the direction which discussions among the other four delegations are taking is likely to leave them all alone out on a shaky limb.

Foreign Minister Dino Grandi is further aware that Premier Andre Tardieu would not object to sawing off that limb, especially under present circumstances, in which the United States, Great Britain and Japan, as well as France, would appear to have hands on the saw.

Senor Grandi is sufficiently pessimistic to foresee the possibility of a four-power treaty being negotiated here with Italy left outside the pact, although no one else envisions such a development.

Position of Grandi Cited.

The trouble is Senor Grandi's position here. He has come to London with a demand based on prestige and it is practically impossible for him to drop it unless Premier Benito Mussolini tells him to climb down.

And from Senor Grandi's viewpoint as well as from that of all aspirants to high Fascist honors in the Italian delegation such an order would be unwelcome.

What makes his position bad is the fact that the French, who have always shown a certain willingness to talk over with the Italians a so-called Franco-Italian treaty of amity, designed to do away with the troublesome disputes over the status of Italians resident in Tunis and rectification of boundaries of French and Italian colonies in Africa, have, at London, maneuvered themselves into a position where there is less incentive for them to placate the Italians.

Difference Is Stated.

Meanwhile mediators have been calling to Senor Grandi's attention the vast difference between American parity with Great Britain, which is in reality an American concession to cease building when the American Navy reaches equality of strength with the British, and the Italian demand for parity with France, which is a mere matter of prestige, since Italy is in no position financially to build up to France.

They are talking to a hopeless listener, however, as Senor Grandi would only be helping his rivals in Rome if he were to advance such ideas.

As a consequence, well-informed people in the conference see ahead of its leaders a delicate task of swinging Italy into line on a final compromise, though they believe it will eventually be done.

State Senate Reverses Position, Invites Green

Jackson, Miss, Feb. 4 (A.P.).—The Mississippi Senate today reversed its position of yesterday, and by a vote of 22 to 13 adopted a concurrent resolution inviting William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, to address the Legislature.

A tie vote of yesterday was reconsidered. The resolution now goes to the House.

Kentucky Woman Held In Slaying of Youth, 17

Jackson, Ky., Feb. 4 (A.P.).—Mrs. Mary Tharp was indicted today charged with the murder of George W. Thompson, 17, who was shot to death January 16. Mrs. Tharp, wife of a railroad worker, claimed that young Thompson and another youth tried to force entrance into her home and that she fired through the door after warning them.

The youths were said to have gone to her home by mistake.

U. S. AMBASSADOR REASSURES JAPAN

Naval Conference Will Not Suggest Sacrifice of Security, He Says.

MAKES FIRST ADDRESS

Tokyo, Feb. 4 (A.P.).—William R. Castle, jr., United States Ambassador to Japan, said today that "whatever may be accomplished at the London naval conference, I am sure that nobody will suggest to Japan any sacrifice endangering its national security or challenging its preponderant naval strength in the Orient."

Making his first public utterance in Japan in an address at a dinner of the American-Japan Society in his honor, the new Ambassador said:

"It is a wonderful thing to be a representative in Japan of a Nation desiring nothing but friendship. I know of no two nations whose interests more thoroughly coincide than those of Japan and America."

Continuing, Ambassador Castle said: "President Hoover did not send me to Japan to insist upon the American viewpoint in such controversies as may arise in London. He sent me in order that there might be some one in Tokyo able fully and frankly to express his ideas."

Referring to the effect of the development of aviation on naval values, the Ambassador remarked:

"This shows how dangerous and unwise may be the stirring up of popular opinion by the press of any country favoring any single type of ship. The American press, for example, said so much about 10,000-ton cruisers that many people believe that the conference will stand or fall on this type.

"Would it not be more accurate to say that the conference will stand or fall, according to the measure of good will of the particular nations? Here, certainly, Japan and America stand firmly together."

Alluding to the Kellogg peace pact, Ambassador Castle said that "If we have agreed to live in peace, surely we can discard some of the weapons that we have forged against each other."

Senate Candidate Seen in J. H. Lewis

Picked to Head Democratic Ticket in the Coming Illinois Fight.

Chicago, Feb. 4 (A.P.).—The Daily News said today that former Senator James Hamilton Lewis has been decided on as the Democratic candidate for United States Senator from Illinois by a committee appointed to work out the party's slate for the forthcoming primary election. The complete State ticket will be announced tomorrow, according to State Chairman Thomas J. Donovan, and petitions for the organization's candidates will be filed this week at Springfield.

Mr. Lewis, who was understood to have had the backing of the powerful Cook County (Chicago) group headed by Anton J. Cermak, antiprohibitionist, was opposed by supporters of Bruce A. Campbell, of East St. Louis.

Representative Ruth Hanna McCormick and Senator Charles S. Deneen, incumbent, have filed for the Republican nomination.

Death Penalty Sought For Young Bank Bandit

Bowling Green, Ky., Feb. 4 (A.P.).—The Commonwealth announced today that it will seek the death penalty for James Elmer Grayson, youthful bank robber, contending that he is guilty of murder regardless of which of the trio of robbers actually fired the shot that killed J. Robert Kirby.

The statement was made by John B. Rodes, special counsel for the Commonwealth, in his address to the jury as the case got under way. Grayson had confessed that he and two other men robbed the Bank of Oakland of about $1,500 in December, but denied that he shot Kirby, president of the Farmers Bank at Smiths Grove, who was killed in attempting to halt the robbers' flight.

10-Cent Baltimore Fare Takes Effect Tomorrow

Baltimore, Feb. 4 (A.P.).—A 10 cent street car fare will go into efect in Baltimore Thursday, carrying out orders of the Supreme Court of the United States, it was announced today by the United Railways Co.

Setting of the date followed signing by Judge Joseph N. Ulman, of the circuit court, of an injunction prohibiting the State public service commission from interfering with the 10 cent rate. The present rates call for sale of four fare tokens for 35 cents.

Two Inquiries Launched In Guardsman's Killing

Boston, Feb. 4 (A.P.).—Two Federal investigations were being made today into the death of Victor L. Harris, Coast Guard boatswain's mate, first class, who was found dead in his berth at the Coast Guard base Sunday morning. Harris died of a bullet wound in the head. A service revolver, not his own, was near his body.

Harris would have been an important witness in rumrunning cases in which he was the boarding officer.

30,000 "Worthless" Autos' Taxes Paid

Almost Third of Licensed Cars Are Listed as of No Value.

Of the 95,987 new license tags issued so far this year, 30,000 were for automobiles of such age that they were given no value in the blue book valuation rating for taxation and resale purposes, according to figures compiled by C. A. Russell, assistant tax assessor, yesterday.

These "worthless" automobiles yielded $15,000 to the District treasury last month in personal property taxes, for William P. Richards, assessor, arbitrarily fixed a minimum value of $59 for any automobile. That figure was fixed because it would yield an annual tax of $1. Any automobile worth getting a license tag for was worth paying $1 a year tax, Mr. Richards said. Only a half year's tax was paid by car owners this January, but next year, when tags are issued the District will collect for the full year.

The total tax derived from automobiles taxes so far this year amounts to $196,699.46, the average tax being brought down somewhat by the 2,197 free tags issued to Government and diplomatic motor vehicles. Because taxes on automobiles were included in general personal property tax payments in the past there is no record of the increased amount the new tax-tag law brought into the District, but it was estimated that the increase would be between 25 and 33 per cent.

Attempted Suicide's Skull Flattens Shots

Warsaw, Mo., Feb. 4 (A.P.).—Either the skull of H. A. Beyer, 80-year-old farmer of near here, is bulletproof, or the pistol he used in a suicide attempt today is woefully shy of power.

Beyer pointed the pistol at his head and fired five times, but all except one of the bullets bounced off his skull like hail off a roof top. One entered the scalp and was dug out by Dr. Lee Hurt, who found the lead flattened to the size of a 25-cent piece.

Beyer, who was not badly hurt, said he tried to kill a ram with the same revolver 30 years ago by shooting it in the head. The bullets had the same effect on the ram, he said.

Bank Employes Locked Up as Trio Gets $10,000

Riverton, Ill., Feb. 4 (A.P.).—Three robbers today locked employes of the Riverton State Bank in the vault and escaped with an estimated $10,000. The trio applied at the bank for change. A teller notified Cashier E. H. Dasher that they looked "suspicious."

"You're right," said one of the robbers, "stick up your hands." The employes were forced into the bank vault, one of the robbers rifled the vault, a second went through the cash drawer and the third kept watch. They left the bank, apparently unnoticed, and fled in an automobile.

$2,500 Kiss Case Ordered Retried

Court Upholds Objections to Testimony Concerning Old Indictment.

Upholding an objection to a defense witness being permitted to testify that he had once been indicted for a felony, the District Court of Appeals yesterday reversed the $2,500 verdict awarded by a Circuit Court jury two years ago to Mrs. Madeleine MacNamee Price against Vasilios I. Chebithes, Washington attorney, as the price of a stolen kiss, and directed a new trial of the case. The opinion was handed down by Justice Josiah A. Van Orsdel, who stated that the case at best was a frail structure on which to hang a verdict and judgment.

Mrs. Price was Chebithes' secretary several years ago and accompanied him to Chicago to attend a convention of the Ahepa, a Greek organization, of which Chebithes was president. She alleged that her employer forcibly kissed her and threw her across a bed while they were in the headquarters of the Ahepa convention at the Drake Hotel, and was awarded a $2,500 verdict.

COAL-TAR DYE RATES WILL BE CONTINUED

Postwar American Policy of Valuation Decided Upon in Senate.

57-TO-23-VOTE IS CAST

(Associated Press.)

After two days of debate, during which charges of price fixing were hurled against both the American and European chemical and dye interests, the Senate yesterday voted to continue the postwar policy of protecting the domestic manufacturers by assessing duties on coal-tar products on American valuation. All other ad valorem rates in the tariff law are based on foreign valuation.

Republican independents stood solidly behind Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, spokesman for the group, in his attempt to repeal the section in the chemical schedule relating to American valuation, but the odds were too great against him. The vote for continuance of the policy of high protection was 57 to 23.

Twenty Democrats voted with 37 Republican regulars for American valuation, while eleven Republicans and twelve Democrats opposed it. The roll call follows:

For American Valuation.

For American valuation:

Republicans—Allen, Bingham, Capper, Couzens, Dale, Deneen, Fess, Glen, Goff, Goldsborough, Gould, Greene, Grundy, Hale, Hatfield, Hebert, Jones, Kean, Keyes, McCulloch, McNary, Metcalf, Oddie, Patterson, Phipps, Pine, Robinson of Indiana, Robsion, Shortridge, Smoot, Steiwer, Sullivan, Thomas of Idaho, Townsend, Vandenberg, Walcott and Watson.—37.

Democrats—Ashurst, Barkley, Brock, Broussard, Dill, Fletcher, Glass, Harrison, Hawes, Heflin, Kendrick, Ransdell, Sheppard, Steck, Stephens, Swanson, Trammell, Tydings, Wagner, and Walsh of Massachusetts—20.

Against American valuation:

Republicans—Blaine, Borah, Brookhart, Cutting, Howell, Johnson, La Follette, Moses, Norbeck, Norris, and Nye—11.

Democrats—Black, Blease, Bratton, Caraway, Connally, George, Harris, McKellar, Overman, Smith, Walsh of Montana, and Wheeler—12.

Tariff Debate Nearly Ended.

With disposition of the dye controversy, the Senate finished the last committee amendment to the House bill. The end of the long tariff debate is in sight, with only individual amendments to be acted upon. Amendments to the chemical schedule will be considered today, as it is No. 1 in the bill. The remaining fourteen rate schedules will be taken up in the regular order.

Several hundred amendments are pending, but party leaders expect many will be withdrawn and the bill placed in a position for a final vote by February 15.

GANGSTERS CLAIM SEVENTH VICTIM

formulated, but said he could not reveal their nature.

"The State's attorney's office is willing to do its part cleaning Chicago of its hoodlums and gunmen," Mr. Swanson declared, "but we don't intend to assume the duties of the police. It's their work to bring in the killers and potential killers."

Precautions Are Taken.

He said two of his assistants had been ordered to appear against known gunmen now in custody, to insure against their being released. As a result, four men whose names have appeared often in police records were today bound over to the grand jury under heavy bonds for carrying concealed weapons. They were:

Jack "Machine Gun" McGurn, once indicted in connection with the George Moran gang massacre last Valentine Day, and caught walking through the Loop with a loaded gun at his side; Danny Stanton, Frank Diamond and Tony Accardo.

McGurn and the others, also bearing reputations as gangsters, were put under $10,000 bonds each.

Woman's Screams Rout Penny Thief.

After taking 100 pennies from the cash register in the store of Nathan Cohen, 1601 Twelfth street northwest, early yesterday a Negro thief invaded the bedroom of Cohen on the second floor of the building. His movements in the room awakened Mrs. Cohen, who screamed. The thief fled. Police reported that entrance to the store was gained through a side window.

Washington Aviator Held In Alleged Airplane Theft

Milton E. O'Connor, Arrested in Cornelia, Ga., on Warrant Issued in Accotink, Va.; Larceny Also Charged by Second Complainant.

Milton E. O'Connor, Washington aviator, was arrested in Cornelia, in northern Georgia, Sunday and held in connection with his alleged theft of an airplane from the Mount Vernon Airways on January 26, shortly before a warrant charging larceny of the craft in a previous case could be served, according to Associated Press dispatches yesterday.

O'Connor was placed in the Habersham County Jail at Clarksville, upon his arrest by Deputy Sheriff Jesse Everett, who had kept the place under surveillance since January 28, when O'Connor was said to have made a forced landing in a cotton field because of engine trouble. When he started to tune up the ship Sunday he was placed under arrest. A man with O'Connor, whose name was not learned, was not arrested.

O'Connor was held pending word from authorities of Fairfax County. The larceny warrant was issued by Justice of the Peace Henry Shepherd at Accotink, Va., upon the complaint of Jesse Duke, counsel for the United States Aviation Club, with offices in the Colorado Building. Mr. Duke contended that the plane had been obtained from O'Connor and that the aviation club held custody of the craft until O'Connor was said to have flown away from the Mount Vernon Airways, where it had been stored.

Police of Virginia cities had been notified and at Richmond the same afternoon police attempted to arrest O'Connor when he landed to refuel, but they arrived just as the craft was soaring away.

PRESIDENT FAVORS BROWN AND CROSBY

ness and professional men of the city, has consistently refused to indorse any individual for public office, but it views with regret the introduction of Senate bill 3180 which radically changes the requirements for appointees to Commissionership in the District of Columbia.

"Further, this organization most respectfully urges that the custom of appointing two civilians who are bona fide citizens to the office of Commissioner be adhered to. Feeling that the 550,000 voteless citizens of the District of Columbia, who raise approximately $30,000,000 in taxes each year, in which they have no voice in expending, should be granted the privilege of providing men to fill the civilian Commissionerships in the local government."

Not Aimed at Crosby.

President Murphy emphasized last night that the letter was not aimed at Gen. Crosby, that it was conceived before he was even mentioned for the office.

"The board," said Mr. Murphy, "will not object to Gen. Crosby or to any other officer, providing that the President wants to appoint him and that he is a legal resident of the District."

Like all other appointments made by President Hoover, the selection of Mr. Brown and Gen. Crosby came as a surprise. Neither name had figured in the speculation that had raged here for six months.

Both Surprised Themselves.

Not only that, but Mr. Brown and Gen. Crosby themselves were surprised. Gen. Crosby came back here from a tour of inspection in entire ignorance of the fact that President Hoover wanted to offer him the job.

Mr. Brown is thoroughly familiar with the machinery of the District government, having directed many an investigation into its various departments at the behest of Congress.

It was his Bureau of Efficiency that did most of the investigating for the Gibson subcommittee of the House District committee when that body was making its study of the local government.

60 Western Union Boys Get Trip to Washington

Western Union messenger boys to the number of 60, recruited from various cities of the Eastern States, arrived in Washington yesterday morning to be the two-day guests of the company on what many of them termed the "trip of their lives" as a reward for meritorious service.

A visit to the Washington Monument, Mount Vernon and Tomb of the Unknown Soldier was but a part of yesterday's itinerary, with a banquet at the Raleigh last night in which Secretary of Labor Davis and Manager Walter Johnson, of the Nationals, were the principal speakers. Today the "fleet-footed couriers" are to visit the Capitol, where they will be addressed by Vice President Curtis, followed by a trip to the White House, where they will be received by the President.

Calumd Torah Installs Officers.

Mrs. H. Katz has been installed as president of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Congregation Calumd Torah, it was announced yesterday. Other officers installed are Mrs. H. Mathanson, vice president; Mrs. J. Landman, treasurer; Mrs. M. Bobys, secretary, and Mrs. H. Morgenstein, Mrs. J. Katzman, and Mrs. J. Vornoss, trustees.

DRY QUIZ PROMISES LIVELY DISCUSSIONS

was given out as to subjects to be discussed.

Representative Cramton (Republican), Michigan, introduced into the Congressional Record yesterday a letter from Prohibition Commissioner Doran, which declared that should nonpoisonous denaturants be substituted in industrial alcohol instead of wood alcohol, millions of gallons would be diverted for beverage purposes. The use of nonpoisonous denaturants has been proposed in a bill by Representative Sirovich (Democrat), New York.

"The Government," Mr. Doran wrote, in denying charges made by Dr. Sirovich on the floor, "is not using any denaturant in sufficient quantities to be fatal if any one, through ignorance or otherwise, should use denatured alcohol as a beverage."

Three Modification Bills.

In the House three bills for modification of the dry laws were introduced, one each by Representatives Carley, Lindsay and Cullen, all New York Democrat wets.

Representative Linthicum announced the wet bloc would support seven resolutions now before the judiciary committee for the repeal and modification of the eighteenth amendment. "The only solution," he said, "is Government control.

"However, we do not desire to give the Federal Government power to open dispensaries in Sates and political subdivisions where they are not wanted."

Williamson Bill Is Due.

Tomorrow the House will begin consideration of the Williamson bill to transfer the Prohibition Bureau from the Treasury to the Justice Department, as recommended by President Hoover and the Law Enforcement Commission.

A letter to Dr. R. N. Holsaple, Michigan representative of the Anti-saloon League, was made public yesterday by Representative Clancy (Rep.), Michigan. He charged the league with opposing an increase in the number of representatives in the House from Detroit.

Mr. Clancy also charged that the league had attempted to defeat him in his race for Congress and that it had "shamelessly and unscrupulously" attacked him over a period of years.

Columbia Alumni Here Plans World Program

Columbia University alumni of Washington will participate in the world-wide celebration of Columbia University Alumni Day on February 12. The Washington group will hold a smoker at the University Club and will listen to speeches of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of the University, and John Erskine, author and Columbia professor, which will be broadcast from New York City.

Washington is one of the 50 cities in this country which will listen to the program from the principal gathering at Morningside Heights, New York City. Alumni in four foreign capitals, on board ocean liners at sea, and in private homes will participate in the celebration.

Man Stabbed in Street.

Accosted by an unidentified Negro while walking along Willard street northwest near Seventeenth street early yesterday, Harold Robinson, colored, 24 years old, of 736 Hobart place northwest, was stabbed twice in the right shoulder. He was treated at Emergency Hospital. Robinson could ascribe no reason for attack.

FLYNN SUSPENDED FROM DRY SERVICE

Visit of Herbert to Capital Appears Enshrouded in Mystery.

MORE INQUIRIES, RUMOR

Capt. Frank S. Flynn has been suspended by Prohibition Commissioner James M. Doran and the action of the bureau's head has been approved by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Seymour Lowman, all of which is just another way of saying that Capt Frank S. Flynn has been dismissed from the prohibition unit.

While it is true that under civil service procedure Capt. Flynn has three days in which to file an answer to the charge of insubordination, which brought about his suspension, it is hardly likely that the stormy petrel of the prohibition unit will attempt to alibi his failure to report for duty in Baltimore as ordered by the bureau.

At the expiration of three days, should Capt. Flynn fail to offer a valid excuse for failing to report to Prohibition Administrator Thomas E. Stone Monday morning for duty, the bureau will then recommend his dismissal and upon approval by the Secretary he will be carried upon the records as having been dismissed.

Mystery Surrounds Visit.

More or less mystery seems to be enshrouding the hurried trip of Col. John F. J. Herbert, in charge of the Montano-Idaho district, to the National Capital. It was against Col. Herbert that Capt. Flynn levelled his charges, which were later aired on the floor of the Senate by Senators Wheeler and Borah.

Col. Herbert was summoned to Washington by Commissioner Doran and arrived here Monday afternoon. He was supposed to have had an appointment with the head of the Prohibition Bureau yesterday morning, but Dr. Doran stated last night that he had failed to put in an appearance. Repeated efforts to locate Col. Herbert at his hotel yesterday and last night proved futile.

Rumor had it around the Capitol yesterday that a senator from the Middle West, who has been "taking in" the Borah-Wheeler-Prohibition Bureau controversy from the "sidelines," plans a showdown all around within the next few days.

To Investigate Flynn.

It is stated that the senator in question has any number of questions he and other senators would like to have explained relative to the controversy which has arisen between Senators Wheeler and Borah and the Prohibition Bureau, chief among which has to do with the past record of Capt. Flynn.

Capt. Flynn is reported as denying that he was dismissed from the Veterans' Bureau office in Denver, Prohibition officials, on the other hand, say that his resignation was forced, which is equivalent to dismissal.

Another matter which this senator desires light on is the war record of Capt. Flynn and the subsequent increasing of his pension from one with 10 per cent disability to that of one with 31 or more per cent disability, which is regarded as total disability and through which Capt. Flynn now draws a pension of $187.50 per month.

Larner Is Appointed To Princeton Board

Announcement was made yesterday that the Rev. Dr. Wallace Radcliffe, pastor emeritus of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, and John B. Larner, president of the Washington Loan & Trust Co., had been elected to the new board of control of the Princeton Theological Seminary, located at Princeton, N. J.

Princeton is the official theological school of the Presbyterian Church of the United States and the new board is the governing body provided by the Presbyterian general assembly under the reorganization directed by that assembly at its session held last May.

Literal-Minded Auto Driver Has Rough Ride

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 4 (A.P.).—A man with a new automobile and who followed directions explicitly drove his small car for 10 miles from Waukesha to West Junction over bumpy ties and rails of the interurban right of way, officials of the electric company reported today.

The motorist stopped at Waukesha and inquired the shortest route to Milwaukee. He was told to follow the interurban tracks. This he did until a train crew stopped him at West Junction. Deputy sheriffs, who were summoned, heard his story and guided him to the highway which extends along the tracks most of the way.

Chain-Stores' Wage Scale Is Attacked

U. S. Women's Bureau Says Average Salary for Girls Is $12.

(Associated Press.)

The "phenomenal" increase in sales of chain stores of the 5-and-10-cent variety was held yesterday by the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor not to have been paralleled by advances in wages to girl employes.

Many of them were said to receive insufficient pay "to procure the necessities of life," or an average of $12 a week. Mary Elizabeth Pidgeon, of the bureau, said this average applied in the last quarter of 1928 to slightly more than 6,000 girls in 179 limited-price stores throughout 18 States and 5 additional cities.

Only 7 per cent of the girls earned as much as $18 a week, while 70 per cent earned less than $15, and the others less than $10.

Tire Store Is Padlocked Under One-Year Order

United States deputy marshals yesterday placed a padlock on the tire store conducted by Frank Shore at 1223 New York avenue northwest. The padlock, under orders of Justice Wendell P. Stafford, will remain one year. It was secured on representations of the Government that the prohibition law had been violated there.

The padlocking of the premises follows the conviction and sentencing of Shore to serve a year in jail for alleged violation of a temporary padlock injunction. Shore has appealed and is at liberty under $1,500 bond.

A card party for the benefit of the activities of the Converts League of the Catholic Daughters of America will be held tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock at the league's headquarters, 601 E street northwest. Mrs. Anna J. Uhl, chairman of the card party committee, is in charge of arrangements.

Automobile Prospects Good, Miller Asserts

Emphasizing the excellent prospects immediately ahead of the automotive industry, L. A. Miller, president of the Willys-Overland Co., in Washington for a series of conferences, said yesterday that the motor-car distributors should experience unusual prosperity in 1930. He declared that throughout the industry today there is general recognition that this is "the dealer's year," and that production schedules are being adapted to insure the sound success of retailers.

In the opinion of Mr. Miller, the export of American automobiles will become a factor of increasing importance to the industry. He predicts that the present matter of the proposed high French tariff will be adjusted satisfactorily. W. J. Chown, manager of the Mid-City Sales Co., local Willys-Overland distributor, is Mr. Miller's host during his stay in Washington.

Man Hurt in Motor Crash.

Herbert Dent, 17 years old, of 503 Maryland avenue southwest, was treated at Emergency Hospital early yesterday for lacerations of the scalp as the result of a traffic mishap. He was riding in an automobile driven by Frances E. Swing, 18 years old, of 182 Sixth street southwest, which was in collision with another car, operated by Milton J. Sales, 38 years old, of Fredericksburg, Va., near the Highway Bridge.

A HOME built well and maintained in good condition is a prime investment. It is ready security for any need. But bankers tell you that, unless your home is protected against depreciation, the security is short-lived. Therefore, many such leaders as Mr. O'Leary advise you to build for permanency—with Copper, Brass and Bronze.

Brass or Copper pipe, Copper flashings, gutters and downspouts and solid Brass or Bronze hardware and lighting fixtures cannot rust. Their presence in any structure, whether it be a skyscraper or home, protects it against depreciation.

When you build or buy, it is sound business to specify these lasting materials. They are worth far more than their slightly higher initial cost.

The Building Service Department of the COPPER & BRASS RESEARCH ASSOCIATION, 25 Broadway, New York, will be glad to advise you without charge about the uses and proper application of these metals.

the JOY of LIVING is founded on Good Health

Did you know that every cubic millimeter of the normal, healthy person's blood should contain about 5,000,000 red corpuscles?

Your joy may depend upon rich, red-blood-cells

A HEALTHY body is vigorous, strong and sound. It is man's and woman's greatest asset. It demands that the red-blood-cells shall not be decreased in number.

The red-blood-cells are its workers—5,000,000 to the cubic millimeter. They give to the blood its color and are carriers of nourishment to every part of the body. Rich, red blood wards off disease. It is very dangerous to let the blood count remain below normal. Even though you have allowed your blood count to get too low, with resulting ill health, you may still be strong and well again.

With an increase in the red-blood-cells, you will be on the right road to Health. This is Nature's way to body power and to clear skin. Naturally, with your strength restored, it is easier to fight disease and infection; to enjoy your food and to sleep soundly. When firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby, you will feel strong—your nerves will become steady—more happiness and friends will follow.

You owe it to yourself and family to give S. S. S. a trial. It promotes healthy body building. It helps Nature build rich, red blood. For more than 100 years S. S. S. has been helping people regain and retain their strength and charm. It is made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs and is easy to assimilate. Thousands of users have testified to its benefits in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

WORKING FOR CONFUSION.

Debate on the administration bill transferring the Prohibition Bureau from the Treasury to the Department of Justice promises to center about the clause providing that the two departments shall jointly prescribe the necessary regulations for issuance of permits for industrial alcohol. The bill, as reported to the House by the committee on executive departments, makes the Attorney General and the Secretary of the Treasury equally responsible for the distribution of industrial alcohol. But a minority report attacks this arrangement, and recommends that all prohibition activities be concentrated in the Department of Justice.

It is necessary only to read the majority report to detect the inconsistency of the bill as it now stands. "Division of authority," the committee says, "is not conducive to the best results where a specific end is sought. This is especially true where the object in view is law enforcement." In the next paragraph the committee recommends that authority over alcohol permits be divided between the two departments.

The executive departments are on an equal footing. It is not the function of one to check up on the others and see that they are conducting their business efficiently. Issuance of permits for industrial alcohol falls suitably under the jurisdiction of the Treasury. But the committee says, in effect, that the Treasury can not be trusted to administer this part of its business efficiently, and therefore the Attorney General should have "a veto power in the granting of permits." In other words, the Treasury needs a guardian to see that it doesn't allow industrial alcohol to be diverted into beverage uses.

Such a scheme is certain to provoke a controversy of major proportions in the House. The group of extreme drys, which is trying to transfer this business function from the Treasury to the Justice Department, would defeat the purpose of this legislation, which is to assign to each department its logical function. The committee majority, which would generously distribute authority between the departments, with the Attorney General set on guard over the Secretary of the Treasury, are fiddling with high explosives.

AIR-MAIL DEFICIT.

As a result of negotiations with air-mail contractors the Postoffice Department is sponsoring legislation designed to eliminate the large annual deficit in the air-mail service. Important provisions in the proposed amendments are: That mailable matter of any description may be transported by aircraft; that compensation be allowed contractors on the basis of fixed rates per mile for definite weight space; that the Postmaster General shall have authority to award contracts by negotiation instead of advertising for bids, and to make extensions or consolidations of the routes. The bill would also provide a reduction of the air-mail postage rates to 5 cents per ounce. The present rate is 5 cents for the first ounce and 10 cents for each additional ounce.

The proposed deviation from the general rule of awarding contracts on bids would allow the Postmaster General to take into consideration services rendered by the pioneer companies in transportation of mail by air. This amendment would require "proper consideration of equities"—these operators have acquired in the routes they have developed. Some opposition to negotiation of contracts without bidding may develop, but it seems necessary to allow the Postmaster General a large degree of discretion in order to maintain the established routes and secure reliable contractors.

The public is more interested, however, in the provisions for reduction of rates and transportation of all classes of mail by air. Some Postoffice Department officials have recently attempted to discourage use of the air mail for any but urgent letters. There were rumors that the postage rate would be raised in an effort to cut down the air-mail deficit. The department has apparently concluded that the solution lies in exactly the opposite direction, that is, in the encouragement of mailing by air.

Under the new arrangement the operators would be paid on the same basis as mail-carrying railways. If the space contracted for is not needed for the regular air mail, other matter could be supplied to make up a full mail load. The result may be substantial new demands for air mail transportation leading to the development of new lines and better service.

THE LIBERAL PARTY.

It was inevitable that a new political party should be suggested as a means of doing away with the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead law. Samuel Harden Church, of Pittsburgh, steps forward as the champion of a new party, to be called Liberal, with "its fixed purpose to establish religious, political and social liberty in the country." His speech before the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, delivered last night in New York, sounds the knell of the old parties. After castigating the Pilgrims for coming here to establish liberty and then going bigot, Mr. Church roasts church politics, the Klan, the Antisaloon League, the Republican party and the Democratic party. The Republican party, he says, "stands upon shifting sand, in the common atmosphere of hypocrisy and fanaticism, promising everything and accomplishing nothing, its situation typified by the great god Borah." The Democratic party is "notable for its bigotry, hypocrisy and intolerance, typified by the great god Cannon."

The Republican party will be dumbfounded to discover that it is typified by Mr. Borah, but its surprise will be matched by the astonishment of the Democratic party in finding that Bishop Cannon is its god. Some Republicans hold that Mr. Borah is not a Republican, and are perfectly willing to lend him to Mr. Church's new Liberal party. Democrats, notably those of Virginia, would like to chip in Dr. Cannon if the Liberal party craves his company.

Mr. Church does not tell how he is to recruit members of his new party, seeing that Republicans, Democrats, Klansmen, Antisaloon Leaguers, religious folks, and Pilgrims are banned as unfit. But he has a plan of action, and it is simple. He would address an appeal to the "legal conscience" of the Supreme Court, "praying them to wipe the whole of this iniquitous legislation out of existence," meaning the eighteenth amendment and the prohibition laws. He thinks they could set aside the amendment on the ground of no quorum, or because the people stuck a statute in the amendment, "a thing unheard of," or they could do it on the question of concurrent power, "or on a score of other questions."

It is a simple plan, sublime in its directness and effectiveness. Let the Supreme Court reverse itself, and liberty will prevail. All that the court needs is courage. Heretofore the court has lacked the nerve to declare the Constitution unconstitutional, that's all. It had an opportunity to free the people by declaring the eighteenth amendment unconstitutional, but it followed the old beaten path and missed a glorious chance to strike the shackles off.

Mr. Church's peroration pictures "a great host of eager men and women, with indomitable will, unconquerable soul, and flaming enthusiasm, marching in the full splendor of the day," but it again omits all reference as to the source of supply. Where is the host to come from, if everybody except the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment is barred out? The new Liberal party should be at least liberal enough to admit Senator Borah, Bishop Cannon, and all others who kick over the traces of their old parties. The Liberal party will not amount to much if it excludes all kickers.

FILL THE CHEST.

The Community Chest is face to face with an emergency. This year 75 agencies are members, as compared with 57 last year, and the total budget required for their maintenance comes to almost $1,800,000. It was realized at the onset of the drive that the budget would not be raised easily. The drive is scheduled to conclude tomorrow and the chest is far short of the goal.

The Community Chest is no extra spoke in the wheel of charity. It is no new agency set down to usurp the field administered by a long-established institution. The chest is, in effect, a cooperative agency through which the charitable institutions of Washington have combined to make an appeal for funds. By substituting one large drive for 75 scattered campaigns economy is secured, and the public is spared the bother of making numerous small contributions to many solicitors. The Community Chest relieves institutions of financial worries.

Personal responsibility for the relief of the suffering may not have been realized early in the campaign, but it should be realized now. The citizens of Washington can best meet the community's inescapable duty by filling the community fund.

PLEASANT PHONETIC PHRASES.

It is doubtful if Charles Dickens himself, covering the debates in Parliament, ever wrote in shorthand phrases which, in the words of Leigh Hunt, were more "charming for their truth," than those set down on Monday by a veteran reporter for the United States Senate. It is likewise doubtful whether since 1802, when for the first time places on the floor of Congress were assigned for stenographers and reporters of congressional debates, there has been an instance where phrases were more grateful to the ear of him who recorded them.

For 61 years Theodore F. Shuey has been "taking notes" on the floor of the Senate. It is also his enviable record of having never missed a single day of any session. Millions of words and thousands of phrases during that period have been registered by his trained ear and been made to trickle off the tip of his pen.

"One of the most faithful servants the Government of the United States has had."

"One who, though not a member of this body, yet has been for several generations an integral part of our proceedings."

"How well Mr. Shuey has performed his duties."

"Not excelled in point of efficiency anywhere on earth."

"Consider it to be beyond criticism."

"Earnest congratulations and best wishes to him."

These are phrases out of eulogistic sentences, the tributes of three members of the United States Senate—Hebert, Sheppard and Smoot. The unique experience of recording his own praise must have been pleasant for Mr. Shuey, coming as it did but one day following his eighty-fifth birthday. In the words of Senator Hebert, "may he be spared for many years to come."

SOMETHING FOR NOTHING.

Up in New York, one Dr. Frank Sullivan has demonstrated to the wondering gaze of newspapermen and neighbors a free energy machine that he claims will "revolutionize science and commerce and the transportation and power sources of the world." Sullivan, who says he is a one-time Canadian Northwest mounted policeman, a former lecturer on anthropology, the former director of a sanitarium and lately an unsalaried operative in the United States secret service, describes the machine as "the embodiment of the mathematical formulae of Einstein and LeBon." The device has the appearance of a squirrel cage, revolving on a central bearing from which are slung motors connected by gears to the cage. The revolving cage turns a generator which supplies power to the motors, which turn the cage, which turns the generators, &c.

The demonstration calls to mind the Hendershot motor which was introduced with a fanfare of publicity in February, 1928. The device was without visible means of power. According to its inventor the motor obtained its initial impulse from a precharged magnetic core and its secondary and greatest power impulse by magnetic induction from the earth. It was claimed that the Hendershot motor would revolutionize transportation. Col. Lindbergh and Maj. Thomas Lanphier were represented as being impressed with the device, and in November, 1928, Representative Kelly, of Pennsylvania, introduced a measure to grant a congressional patent to Hendershot, provided five scientists approved his device as practicable.

The Hendershot motor has not revolutionized transportation. The congressional patent has not been applied for. But the public, as is evidenced by the crowds that are besieging Dr. Sullivan's workshop, continues blindly to have faith in those who invent and demonstrate perpetual motion machines. Thus is made manifest the age-old desire to obtain something for nothing.

"THE PUBLIC INTEREST"

By A. G. LAMPKE,
In a Letter to the New York Times.

There has been considerable discussion within the last few weeks about amending the antitrust laws. The need for such action has been greatly diminished by a decision of the United States Supreme Court on January 6, 1930, in the case of International Shoe Co. vs. Federal Trade Commission, and quoted in the Times' Washington dispatch.

The question before the court was the interpretation of section 7 of the Clayton act. This deals specifically with the legality of merger by stock acquisition as distinguished from the subject of merger by acquisition of assets, which lies within the province of the Sherman law. It provides that "no corporation engaged in commerce shall acquire the whole or any part of the stock of another corporation engaged also in commerce where the effect of such acquisition may be to substantially lessen competition between the corporation whose stock is so acquired and the corporation making the acquisition * * * or tend to create a monopoly in any line of commerce." Then, to cover the situation where the merger is accomplished by a holding company, it further provides that no corporation shall acquire the stock of two or more corporations engaged in commerce where the acquisition of such stock may lead to a similar result.

In this case, the Supreme Court declared, for the first time, that this section does not forbid mergers which are not prejudicial to the public, and, furthermore, that this was such a case because, first, there was no substantial competition between the two companies, and "the public interest is not concerned in the lessening of competition, which, to begin with, is itself without real substance;" and, secondly, that the company absorbed was in failing circumstances, and, therefore, "the purchase of its capital stock by a competitor * * * is not prejudicial to the public."

This exemption of mergers which are not prejudicial to the public, while it has no foundation in the language of the section, has a precedent in the "rule of reason" interpretation which the Supreme Court finally gave to the Sherman law, namely, that the statute in providing that "every combination * * * in restraint of trade * * * is illegal" only forbids combinations in unreasonable restraint of trade.

The view taken by the United States Supreme Court in this case renders a fundamental change in the understanding of section 7 of the Clayton act. It had previously been held by the Circuit Court of Appeals, Third Circuit, in the case of Aluminum Company of America vs. Federal Trade Commission, 284 Fed. 401, that this section must be construed literally so as to exclude such considerations as the difficult financial condition of the company absorbed. The impracticality of such a construction, however, is demonstrated by the fact that if applied consistently, it would even forbid the merger of two companies the competition between which had only been incidental, inasmuch as the stock aquisition in such a case would not only, in the words of the statute, "substantially lessen competition between the corporation whose stock is so acquired and the corporation making the acquisition," but entirely eliminate it.

In the place of a literal construction, there has now been substituted one which properly makes the public interest the paramount consideration and which promises a clean bill of health to those mergers which do not prejudice the public. Such an interpretation is both consonant with the basic principle of our law that the Government regulate business only in so far as the public interest is affected and is in harmony with the frequently desirable tendency in modern business toward merger.

With the court taking so liberal a view of the Clayton act as it has already done with regard to the Sherman law, there seems to be little reason now for modifying the antitrust laws.

CLOTHES AND THE CONFERENCE.

Conference clothes, observes the Manitoba Free Press, aren't what they used to be at these gatherings, not by yards of gold lace. Now that the really important news is coming through, it seems that King George chose for the occasion of that first meeting a simple costume of morning coat and striped trousers. There is no account of a single star or ribbon or even of a Christmas tie. So with all the other gentlemen. Back to the wardrobe trunk went satin and jewels and the monotonous array of morning coats took their places.

All that remained of picture-book dreams was the gold throne. It was from a gold throne that his majesty stepped when he delivered his address, which at that wasn't so much of an address as a now-let-us-reason-together, with all the Rs and Gs salvaged, much to the gratification of a not entirely Oxforded world.

Judging from the reports, even in the most staid of the old country papers, it begins to look as though the women secretaries would have to save the day—for clothes, that is. And it can not be denied that the girls are throwing themselves into the breach nobly. Whole paragraphs are being devoted to pumps and sheer stockings and fur coats. Even lipstick gets a line. This, and the conference only begun. Once let the Lady Help get really doing their stuff and the conference will be safe for color. Morning coats and striped trousers, indeed!

PRAISE.

He made his little world a place,
Where mignonette in safety grew,
He edged the narrow yard with grace,
Built shelters for a bird or two.

His neighbors knew him as a friend,
The children thought him "lots of fun."
What more than this at life's long end
Do we repeat of anyone?

The needs of life he understood,
He faced the world with smiling eyes
Must one be brilliant to be good?
Must one be famous to be wise?

Perhaps man's greatest praise can be
When all the toil of life is done,
He loved all things of land and sea
And children thought him: "Lots of fun."

If Debt Doesn't Worry Him, He Isn't Mature Enough to Deserve Credit.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE only men and women qualified for citizenship in a free country are those who cheerfully observe the unwritten laws that define fair play.

The unwritten laws are the ones that preserve us from anarchy and the rule of the jungle.

Men and women stand patiently in line at a ticket window, awaiting their turn, because the accepted rule of good sportsmanship gives first place to those who come first.

That spirit of fair play and that decent regard for the rights of others reveal the good breeding and the good citizenship that preserve our civilization.

A woman, arriving late, takes advantage of her sex immunity to physical violence and steps to the head of the line.

A man, knowing the well-bred detest a scene, takes advantage of their good manners and follows the woman's example.

These two feel scornfully superior to the "boobs" who obey rules. "Look out for Number One" is their motto, and they are proud of their ability to "get away with murder."

They are not superior, except in selfishness. They are childish. And their unwillingness to cooperate, or their inability to realize the importance of cooperation, proves them unfit for the responsibilities and privileges of citizenship. They need guardians.

Scorn of fair play and selfish disregard for the rights of others have been responsible for every woe America has endured, from the day when greedy traitors sold rum and guns to the Indians to the day when a few planters sacrificed the South in an effort to save themselves and thus surrendered billions of dollars to the boll weevil.

If all should disregard good sportsmanship, neglected camp fires would destroy every forest; no car would be safe on the highway; contagious diseases would rage unchecked; every public gathering would be a brawl.

And since the spirit of fair play is our salvation, the selfish who scorn the rules to gratify themselves without regard for the rights of others deserve no more respect than the man who betrayed his Master for thirty pieces of silver.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Old Timers Oppose Progress, and Glamour of Olden Days Comes From Haze of Time, He Says.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I notice in your paper a letter from a Mr. Dwyer relative to the evil days that have fallen on Washington since the advent of so many "foreigners" within its gates. I happen to be one of those "foreigners," since I understand Mr. Dwyer's use of the word to mean a person of American extraction, but born and raised outside of the Capital.

I hail from one of those small towns where the old settlers have something of the same attitude. They don't want progress and they don't want new blood. When the railroad tore down the old station and erected a pretty, new stucco edifice they bewailed the fact. When the first filling station came they compared it unfavorably with the old livery stable. I doubt whether any one could open a store there with a chance of success unless he had grown up in that locality. The real fear was that some newcomer might have a spark of progress lurking somewhere in his system. So one day I took up my suitcase and reduced the population of the town.

The Capital of the nineties I know of only by hearsay. I can feel only that Washington is a much better city today than it was when classed as "the greatest old town or village in the world to live in."

No city is the better for lacking the spirit of progress. I admit that some evils come with change. One can not bring up a child without mumps, measles and chicken pox. But dear as children are to most of us, I doubt whether we would want them to remain children always. Nor would we want our Capital City to put aside the spirit of being up to the minute in order that it might drowse in the lassitude of olden days. If by some magic we could be transported back to those days we would probably discover that much of their glamour is derived from looking at them through the haze of time.

200-Story Community Buildings and Steel Streets Predicted.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: C. F. Abbott, of New York, executive of the American Institute of Steel Construction, recently made a statement which is very futuristic. He says the time is approaching when buildings in cities will be replaced by immense community-owned skyscrapers. That is, landowners having ground in the same block, instead of constructing several buildings, will pool their property in a community company which can construct a building 200 stories high, if desired.

If such buildings were constructed it would revolutionize the appearance of all the cities, and would necessitate the construction of triple-decked streets to handle increased traffic. The traffic conditions of all the larger cities are rapidly approaching the point where something must be done to relieve congestion. Big buildings concentrate traffic.

Another prediction by Mr. Abbott is that in the future highways will have welded steel plates for a base to withstand the pounding of heavy traffic. The welded plates will form a heavy metal ribbon the width of the road, and will be laid on steel girders between which tar-treated gravel will be packed. A coating of asphalt or concrete will be laid on top of the smooth steel road. With such a solid foundation, the roads will stand up under heavy traffic and many present-day repairs will be eliminated.

Murderous Starlings Destroying Song Birds—Story of a Tragedy in Upperville.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: My next-door neighbor related a true story to me about a battle between two birds. She said she was awakened early one morning by noises which she recognized as angry bird talk. In a beautiful tree near a window, a flicker had selected a lovely, quiet and private spot for her nest. On a limb directly above the flicker was perched a black intruder which was viciously stabbing at the flicker's head with its long, yellowish beak. The antagonist was none other than a pesky starling. The flicker put up a valiant fight, but its strength was ebbing. My neighbor could not see the final result of the conflict, as the foliage obstructed her view. After breakfast she went out to the tree, under which she found a demolished nest, four little blue eggs crushed, and the dead mother flicker beside them.

The starling is not only a nuisance in Washington, but it is killing or driving from our midst the sparrow, cardinal and other small birds that are a joy to us throughout the winter.

Urgent Call From Disabled Officers For Passage of Pay Bill.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Having faith that our grateful country has a heart for the still war-disabled, we, who are about to die, after having been privileged to have served our republic, with her combat divisions, in the latest of her reoccurring emergencies, ask the passage, forthwith, of the Army, Navy and Marine bill, restoring their pay to prewar purchasing power, so increasing the service of defense in efficiency and national prosperity. Observations and experiences taught the dire need of more of the higher trained units, in action front and in reserve.

If you are for us, the permanently disabled, do write now to your senator or congressman, requesting help to improve the efficiency of the national defense by aiding this pay bill to get out of committee onto the floor and by voting for it.

This we, the disabled, ask that our comrades of the greater love, who died for us, and we, who are soon to pass, shall not have gone west in vain.

HOOVER'S OIL TARIFF HELP SOUGHT BY 300

Hurley and Wilbur Called In as Independent Operators See President.

REVENUES ARE STRESSED

(Associated Press.)

Three hundred independent oil operators petitioned President Hoover yesterday for support in their drive to obtain tariffs of $1 a barrel on oil and 50 cents a barrel on refined products.

Secertaries Hurley and Wilbur were called in by the President to talk with the group, but later no comment was forthcoming from any source. Earlier the visiting delegation had held a meeting presided over by Wirt Franklin, president of the Independent Oil Association of America, and attended by members of the congressional delegations from the Western and Mid-western States. Among the operators in attendance were men from Colorado, Wyoming, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Montana, Louisiana and New Mexico.

Others who urged Congress to "preserve the American market for American producers and refiners" were Robert Winbourn, attorney general of Colorado, the personal representative of Gov. Adams of that State, and James H. Gardner, president of the Gardner Petroleum Corporation.

Franklin said a protective tariff on oil "essential to national defense, the life of the domestic industry and the welfare of all business enterprises in producing sections of the Nation."

"The United States market should be saved for the domestic industry and not given to a handful of firms importing foreign oils," he contended.

"The oil industry is not the only one to consider. If it had not been for oil revenues, hundreds of thousands of farmers in producing States would have starved to death. Bankers, merchants, schools, highways, in fact, every business enterprise in oil States depend to a great extent on oil revenues. In Oklahoma alone the loss to schools and highways from oil revenue in 1928 amounted to $5,000,000."

31 Bids Are Received For Six U. S. Warships

(Associated Press.)

Thirty-one bids on six cruisers, once boats of the United States fleet but now obsolete, were opened yesterday by the Navy Department. The ships now lie unused in Pacific Coast navy yards.

The vessels to be sold are the U. S. S. Albany, the Frederick, once the Maryland; the New Orleans, the Salem, the Huron, once the South Dakota, and the Charleston. The bidders, most of whom were adjacent either to the Mare Island or Puget Sound Navy Yards, offered prices ranging from $13,000 to $69,000. Bids were submitted also on one Navy tug.

They Call It Politics

By CARTER FIELD

SAN FRANCISCO.—Automatically vacating the seat of any California senator or member of the House who should vote dry after its passage, the most belligerent wet referendum proposal on record is being studied by wet leaders here with a view to submission to the voters this fall.

It would repeal the State enforcement act, but prohibit the State from ever permitting barrooms or saloons, even if the eighteenth amendment, as well as the Volstead act, should be repealed. It looks forward to the increase of the California delegation in the House from eleven to sixteen under the reapportionment, and plans to have those sixteen votes in the House, as well as its two in the Senate, cast always against Federal prohibition.

The amendment was drafted by former Chief Justice Matthew I. Sullivan, who was appointed, incidentally, by Hiram Johnson when he was governor. Judge Sullivan started the wet and dry referendum for the repeal of this same local dry act at which his present referendum proposal is aimed, and which was defeated at the polls in 1926 by 63,000 majority, the dry counties clustered around Los Angeles overwhelming the wet votes in northern California and in Los Angeles City proper.

* * * *

FRIENDS of the judge say that had he not been stricken with illness just after he started that fight four years ago the result might have been different. Drys retort that Providence moves in mysterious ways.

Despite uncertainty, however, as to whether any wet and dry referendum is to be voted on, there is activity in plenty on the part of the wets in getting ready for it in case the decision to fight should be made. Five thousand women have been enrolled already in an organization in San Francisco under Mrs. John B. Casserly, who was a Democrat candidate for Congress against Representative Arthur Free in the last election. Mrs. Casserly is a Woodrow Wilson Democrat who glories in the fact that her political hero vetoed the Volstead act.

Meanwhile there is the possibility that the wet and dry issue will be injected in the gubernatorial fight. Already four men are flirting with the Republican nomination, three of whom, including Gov. Young and District Attorney Fitts, of Los Angeles, are dry, while Mayor Rolph, who has been San Francisco's chief executive for nearly a generation, may run as a "liberal," which in this case means wringing wet.

* * * *

BOTH sides are supremely confident. The drys feel so secure that they do not believe the wets will dare submit the referendum. If they do, the drys say, the majority against it will be larger than it was four years ago. The wets take comfort in the very small percentage of change it would take to overturn that result.

They are also in high spirits because the Hearst newspapers, which four years ago did not approve the wet proposal here, have been literally crusading on the wet side now for months, while several other influential papers are inclined to reverse their attitude of four years ago, especially if it is made clear that there is no thought of bringing back the saloon.

The drys point out that most of the increase in population has been in the south, which is their stronghold. This will mean, they insist, a much larger dry majority there, while northern California has not had anything like that increase proportionately.

U. S. Shipbuilding Scores Large Gain

Increase Here in Merchant Vessel Tonnage Leads Rest of World.

New York, Feb. 4 (A.P.).—Although with a low total as compared to Great Britain and Ireland, the United States showed the greatest gain in merchant ship building in 1929 over 1928 of any country, Lloyd's register of shipping announced today.

In 1929, 126,063 tons of shipping were launched in the United States, compared to 91,357 in 1928, a gain of 38 per cent. Great Britain and Ireland showed a gain of only 6 per cent, from 1,455,920 tons in 1928 to 1,522,623 in 1929 and the total for all other maritime countries showed a slight decrease, from 1,161,962 tons launched in 1928, to 1,144,524 tons in 1929.

The total gain for the year of all countries was only 94,000 tons, as compared to a gain of 414,000 tons in 1928 and 611,000 tons in 1927. The United States total for 1929, although showing a gain, hardly bears comparison with the launchings of the years immediately following the war when this country led in shipbuilding, the 1919 total was 4,075,000 tons. This year's total exceeds the totals only for the years 1922 and 1928.

14 Zoning Changes To Be Considered

Commission Plans Public Hearing on Proposals This Morning.

Fourteen proposed changes in zoning of properties will be considered by the Zoning Commission at a public hearing at 10 o'clock this morning in the District Building. In addition the commission will consider two amendments to regulations providing liberalization of the restrictions now existing against storage garages.

Another important amendment was proposed to the commission yesterday by the Operative Builders Association. This would provide for construction of eight-story apartment houses where only five-story apartments are now permitted, provided the cubic space of the eight-story apartment is not greater than that now permitted for the five-story buildings.

A similar amendment was proposed by the association sometime ago, but was disapproved. Maj. D. A. Davison, executive officer of the Zoning Commission, said that the new proposal will be considered by the commission in executive session and may be considered at a later public hearing.

Hoovers Dine As Guests of Postal Chief

Mr. and Mrs. Brown Are Hosts at Cabinet Function.

By JEAN ELIOT.

WITH every Thursday for the next six weeks given over to state functions at the White House and every Tuesday to Cabinet dinners for the Chief Executive, the President and Mrs. Hoover must be studying the calendar pretty carefully in order to fit in their proposed brief vacation.

It fell to the lot of the Postmaster General and Mr. Walter F. Brown to entertain for the President and Mrs. Hoover last evening. Normally it would be the turn of the Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Charles Francis Adams next Tuesday, but the fact that Secretary and Mrs. Adams are in London may give the President and Mrs. Hoover their very opportunity to prolong a week-end sufficiently to make possible a brief fishing trip off the Florida keys.

Postmaster General and Mrs. Brown entertained in the presidential suite at the Willard for a company which included Senator Simeon D. Fess and the Governor of Ohio and Mrs. Myers F. Cooper. Their other guests were Judge and Mrs. George Hahn, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Garford, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Nutt, all of Ohio; Miss Grace Burton, niece of the late Senator Burton, of Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Adams and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis H. Strauss, of New York, and Mr. and Mrs. Lamont Rowlands, of Mississippi.

Official dinner parties were numerous and interesting last evening. The Ambassador of Great Britain and Lady Isabella Howard were entertained by the Minister of Portugal and Viscountess d'Alte. Although Sir Esme Howard, as the ranking ambassador, is dean of the Diplomatic Corps, Viscount d'Alte, who heads the group of ministers, has had longer continuous service in Washington than any other foreign envoy.

Entertaining in compliment to the German Ambassador and Frau von Prittwitz und Gaffron, the Japanese Ambassador and Mme. Debuchi were hosts to an interesting company. The other guests were Justice and Mrs. Harlan Fiske Stone, Senator and Mrs. Claude Swanson, Senator and Mrs. Guy Despard Goff, the Minister of the Irish Free State and Mrs. Michael MacWhite, Representative Stephen G. Porter, Mr. George W. Wickersham, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. William D. Connor, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Joseph Strauss, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Belmont, Mrs. Henry F. Dimock and Col. and Mrs. George C. Thorpe.

The Minister of Sweden and Mme. Bostron entertained at dinner last night. So did the Minister of Ecuador and Senora de Viteri, whose guests were asked to meet Senor Don Juan Barberis, retiring first secretary of the legation, who is to sail on Friday for Europe and will be charge d'affaires of Ecuador in Paris.

The guests at dinner were the Ambassador of Peru, Dr. Hernan Velarde; Senora de Davila, wife of the Chilean Ambassador; Mrs. William S. Culbertson, wife of the United States Ambassador to Chile; the Minister of Panama and Senora de Alfaro, the Minister of Venezuela and Senora de Grisanti, the Minister of Costa Rica, Senor Don Manuel Castro Quesada; Senorita Angela Castro Quesada, the Minister of Nicaragua and Senora de Sacasa, Mr. and Mrs. Dana Munro, the Director General of the Pan-American Union, Dr. Leo S. Rowe; the secretary of the legation of Costa Rica, Senor Don Ferdinand Piza; Miss Blanca Huerta, sister of Senora de Viteri; the atttaches of the legation, Senor Carlos Mantilla and Senor Galo Plaza, and Senor Benjamin Chiriboga.

Gurgel do Amaral; First Secretary of the Brazilian Embassy and Mme. de Almeida, the Second Secretary of the Embassy and Mme. de Mello, Senhor Dom Mauri de Freitas, the Commercial Attache and Mme. DAVIS ELKINS STOLE WHISKY, IS CHARGE

Former U. S. Senator Faces Accusation in Litigation Over Estate.

CLAIM CALLED ABSURD

New York, Feb. 4 (A.P.).—Charges that Davis Elkins, former United States senator from West Virginia, as executor, stole ten canvas bags of liquor from the estate of his brother, Stephen B. Elkins, were made in Surrogate Court today by Max D. Steuer, an attorney, during argument of a motion for the appointment of a temporary administrator for the estate.

Mr. Steuer, counsel for Mrs. Evelyn I. Martin, who received a $1,000 monthly income from the estate of Stephen B. Elkins, her fiance, claimed that the liquor belonged to Mrs. Martin.

Liquor Theft Alleged.

Under the terms of Mr. Elkins' will, Mrs. Martin, in addition to the income, was to receive the contents of his apartment and half of the liquor stored there. She alleges that all of the liquor, 20 bags, was removed by the executor.

During a heated debate with Alfred L. Marill, attorney for the estate, Mr. Steuer charged that Elkins had made away with the estate's assets, besides "stealing" the liquor.

The estate was worth more than a million dollars at the time of the testator's death, he claimed, whereas Mr. Marill said that its value is only $75,000.

Charges Termed "Absurd."

Mr. Marill termed Mr. Steuer's charges "absurd." He said that Davis Elkins has been "president of several trust companies and occupies a position of international honor. His integrity is well known."

Mrs. Martin, in a suit to compel the probating of her finance's will, in New York instead of Washington, D. C., filed two affidavits which described how Davis Elkins removed all of the liquor from his brother's apartment in Park avenue.

Surrogate John P. O'Brien took the motion for the appointment of a temporary administrator under advisement.

Every Delaware Adult Is Questioned on Rum

Wilmington, Del., Feb. 4 (A.P.). Approximately 112,000 questionnaires, addressed to all of the known adults in Delaware, were placed in the mails tonight by Pierre S. duPont, in an effort to obtain the sentiment on the State law for the enforcement of prohibition.

Each person is asked to vote on the question, "Do you favor the repeal of the Klair law?" The voter also is asked whether he would be willing to have his name attached to a petition to the next Legislature for or against the repeal of the Klair law.

The Klair law, the State prohibition enforcement act, is regarded as more stringent than the Volstead law.

that program aims to suppress by legislative enactment tobacco, boxing, public dancing, horse racing, bridge when played for a stake and every joyous pastime that would make Sunday a day of happiness."

Declare for Repeal.

Reciting the "fanatical principles" of the Puritans, the speaker asserted these are "almost literally in operation" today through the activities of such bodies as the Lord's Day Alliance, the Ku Klux Klan and the Antisaloon League.

"The men who are in public life everywhere are under the dictation and control of these fanatical organizations," he continued, "and while they are fully aware of the disorder, intemperance and crime which are following in the wake of the eighteenth amendment, they will make no effort toward the repeal of all this legislation until we show them that their political extinction is going to be the penalty of their hypocrisy and cowardice."

Only complete prohibition repeal will now suffice to correct matters, Mr. Church declared, adding that George W. Wickersham "missed the chance of great leadership" when he failed to condense the report of his law enforcement commission into that one word.

Neither Party Offers Hope.

Neither the Republican party, "of which I have been a member all my life, sitting as a delegate in its national conventions and speaking in every one of its campaigns from McKinley to Hoover," nor the Democratic party offer any hope of relief, the speaker went on, the former because it "now stands upon shifting sand, in the common atmosphere of hypocrisy and fanaticism, promising everything and accomplishing nothing, shaping policies only to desert them at the moment of success," and the latter because it "is at this moment notable for its bigotry, hypocrisy and intolerance."

Other guests included Maj. Henry H. Curran, president of the association; Struthers Burt, of Wyoming; Dr. Samuel A. Brown, of New York; William D. Jratt, Philadelphia; Milton Dargan, Atlanta; Julian Codman, Boston; Benedict Crowell, Cleveland, and Frederick R. Coudert, Fabian Franklin, Henry W. Jessup, Grayson M. P. Murphy, Charles H. Sabin, J. Medill Patterson and Edwin R. A. Seligman, of New York.

What Made This Doctor Famous?

ONE'S HEALTH is the most important thing in life. When you suffer from any annoying symptom, feel rundown and discouraged, why don't you write for free medical advice—no matter what your ailment may be—to Dr. Pierce's Clinic in Buffalo, N. Y.? Dr. R. V. Pierce organized this clinic in Buffalo, in the 70's, and built the Invalids Hotel and Surgical Institute, which is so well known all over the United States.

One tonic which Dr. Pierce used over and over, was a prescription which he found was so successful in rebuilding and strengthening women that he later put it up in ready-to-use form. It is called Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and has brought health and strength to hundreds of women right here in this town and everywhere. It can be had in tablet or liquid form, at all good drug stores. Send 10c for trial package of the tablets to Dr. Pierce's Invalids Hotel, 665 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.

Second Holdup Attempt On Bank Is Successful

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 4 (A.P.).—A bandit, unmasked, but with his cap pulled low over his eyes, held up the Payne Avenue State Bank on the East Side today and escaped with $1,500 in currency.

One robber was killed and two other persons were wounded January 20, 1923, during a holdup of the same bank by four men. A patrolman stationed in the bank at that time killed Neal Hurley. In the exchange of shots Chester A. Ecklund, cashier, and Charles E. Carlson, a jeweler, were hurt.

Detroit Gang of Ten Robs Telegraph Office

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 4 (A.P.).—A well-organized gang of ten men tonight held up the main office of the Western Union Telegraph Co., in the center of the financial district here, and escaped with approximately $3,000.

Eight of the robbers, armed with revolvers and a submachine gun, guarded the two entrances to the building and the two automobiles in which the getaway subsequently was made. The other two, carrying revolvers, entered the office, herded eleven employes and twenty customers into corners and scooped up the money from cash drawers.

Boys Said to Admit Series of Thefts

Two Are Arrested When Trying to Dispose of Jewelry at Store.

Arrested in an attempt to sell some jewelry at a store on Pennsylvania avenue near Eleventh street northwest yesterday, two youths were questioned at Detective Headquarters and admitted, police said, breaking into fifteen homes and stores in the Northwest section during the last month.

The youths described themselves as Paul Calvert Embrey, 19 years old, of Fifth street northwest, near Jefferson street, and Frank Stephens Fowler, 18 years old, who gave no address.

Detectives James E. Springman and Charles E. Warfield took the youths in custody at the Pennsylvania avenue store on a warrant, sworn out by Merritt Caskey, of 5915 Third street northwest, charging them with housebreaking.

The prisoners, according to the detectives, confessed that they had obtained jewelry, clothing and household articles, valued at approximately $1,500, in invasions of stores and houses. The youths admitted, police said, that they had been operating since the Christmas holidays.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

PREVENTING MOSQUITO BREEDING.

THERE are several methods for preventing mosquito breeding. Among these are draining, the use of top minnows and other fish, spraying with oil and the use of larvacides. Each method has its advantages. Each is especially suited to certain places and unsuited to others. For use on ponds, lakes, impounded waters and marsh lands, in all of which there is much grass, weeds and logs and floating rubbish, larvacide is superior to oil spray. The best general larvacide is Paris green. For lakes and ponds too large for hand blowers and too small for dusting by means of aeroplanes the best method of spreading Paris green is by means of a motor boat and a motor-driven blower. This applies to marshes and ponds between one and one hundred acres in size.

Mr. J. A. La Prince comes to the following conclusions as a result of an experiment made at Reelfoot Lake. The various brands of Paris green vary greatly in efficiency. The poison should never be bought for this purpose without first testing a sample for toxicity to wrigglers. The proper mixture to use is one containing 15 per cent Paris green. The best diluter for the poison is powdered slacked lime.

The cost of materials for dusting is about 15 cents an acre. Frequent repetition of the treatments is not necessary as is the case with oil spraying nor do reeds and grass interfere. The dusting is done best when the wind is blowing about 6 miles an hour. The nozzle of the blower should be elevated so as to blow the powder about 10 feet above the water line. If the wind is blowing less than 2 miles an hour the nozzle should be directed higher.

Dusting should not be done when the wind is blowing more than 8 miles an hour. This method applies the dust to the water effectively over a path 525 feet wide. For convenience La Prince informs us that a pint measure of powdered slacked lime is 9 ounces. The same measure of the good quality of Paris green he used is 17 ounces. His equipment consisted of an ordinary skiff costing $70, an outboard motor, $140; a portable gasoline engine weighing 108 pounds, $224; a blower, weight 8 pounds, cost $50, and a hopper for the poison, $12.50; total, a little less than $500.

IT MAY BE FATTENING.

S. E. P. writes: Have been put on a diet of nothing but milk for gall-bladder trouble. I am supposed to drink 4 to 5 quarts a day.

1. Is milk fattening?
2. Has milk healing properties?
3. Can gall-bladder trouble be cured through this method or is an operation necessary?

REPLY.

1. That amount may prove so.
2. No.
3. Many cases of gall-bladder trouble are cured by dieting and other hygienic measures

"I Feel Like a New Person"

"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I was tired, nervous and rundown. I saw the advertisement and decided to try it because I was hardly able to do my housework. It has helped me in every way. My nerves are better, I have a good appetite, I sleep well and I do not tire so easily. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to other women for it gives me so much strength and makes me feel like a new person."—Mrs. Lena Young, R. # 1, Ellsworth, Maine.

BOSTON SYMPHONY FINDS FAVOR HERE

Koussevitzky's Leadership Marks Performance at Poli's Theater.

MRS. HOOVER ATTENDS

The magic of a Russian composer united with the wizardry of a Slavic conductor made the presentation of Tschaikowsky's Symphony No. 6 in B Minor, but the Boston Symphony Orchestra, under the leadership of Dr. Serge Koussevitzky, at Poli's Theater yesterday afternoon, noteworthy in every sense of the word.

So subtle was the blending of the various orchestral voices under the well-nigh inspired baton of Dr. Koussevitzky that at times the orchestra appeared to have but one beautiful voice, so marvelous was the ensemble tone in its perfect unison of sound.

His reading was quietly done, but with dynamic force that grew upon one more and more as one watched the conductor lead his musicians from movement to movement, winning a perfect response and the utmost of their musical powers from them.

After the first movement, "The Adagio," the audience broke into such prolonged applause that it would not be quieted until Dr. Koussevitzky had acknowledged it individually several times and again and again sharing the ovation generously with his musicians.

The other movements of the symphony possessed individual beauties of their own, well exhibited by yesterday's orchestra.

A novelty was presented in "Bolero" by Ravel, in which the orchestra was put to a severe test by the solo voices read into the constant but never monotonous repetition of a single theme of the characteristic Spanish rhythm. Out of this demand upon his orchestra resources the conductor managed to produce a number so entrancing that again the audience broke out in an applause most unusual in volume for Washington, led with vigorous hand clapping by Mrs. Herbert Hoover, who occupied a stage box with a party of friends.

The concert, which was presented under the local management of Mrs. Wilson-Greene, was concluded with two fine Wagner preludes in which Dr. Koussevitzky displayed familiarity and understanding of this master.

Will of Lansburgh Upheld in Verdict

Charity Legacies Payable Out of Income, Says Van Orsdel.

In an opinion written by Justice Van Orsdel, the District of Columbia Court of Appeals yesterday upheld the will of the late Henry Lansburgh, who at his death was an officer of Lansburgh & Bro. Mr. Lansburgh, who died November 29, 1925, was widely known in Masonic and civic circles.

The will provides annuities of $100 for ten years to 23 charitable institutions of various creeds in Washington. A sum of $500 was left for a room at the Masonic and Eastern Star Home to be known as the Henry Lansburgh room. The sum of $21,000 also was left to the general endowment fund of the Shriners' hospitals for crippled children.

In regard to some of the legacies the testator directed that they were a charge on the stock of the Lansburgh & Bro.'s Corporation belonging to the estate. Executors and trustees of the estate asked the court to construe the intentions of the testator. The appellate court held that all the legacies are payable out of the income and corpus of the stock and trust certificates of the firm.

Mr. Lansburgh left an estate valued at almost $250,000.

Man Hurt in Auto Crash Faces Traffic Charges

John W. Hardgrove, 42 years old, of Thirteenth street near Allison street northwest, had his fill of ill fortune early yesterday.

After the automobile he was driving crashed into a dirt embankment at Woodley and Klingle roads northwest, Hardgrowe was taken to Emergency Hospital by Fourteenth Precinct police and treated for cuts about the face. He was then taken to the police station, charged with speeding and reckless driving and liberated under $50 collateral.

Joe Opportunity Neglects Campaign to Assist Chest

C. D. Chance and Office Visitor Learn Several Facts About Sunshine Drive and Decide to Send in Their Subscriptions to Community Fund.

"Where have you been all day?" asked C. D. Chance, as old Joe Opportunity entered the office of The Post $20,000 Opportunity Campaign manager.

"Well, to be frank with you," answered the old gentleman, "I have been neglecting the campaign because my services were required by the Washington Community Chest. You see, my Post campaign is confined to individuals who are willing to work for their personal benefit, but the Community Chest gives every one an Opportunity to serve their fellow man.

"Do you call it an 'Opportunity' when some one wants a donation?" asked an office visitor. "One doesn't need an 'Opportunity' to give away money. You can do that anytime."

"That's the trouble," returned the old man, with some heat, "so many people regard what they give as mere dollars and cents, when they should remember that they are giving hours of happiness, giving health, food and shelter, letting sunshine into dark places, building character and substantial citizenship."

"I repeat," he said, "The Community Chest drive represents a real Opportunity for every man and woman to serve the best interests of the community."

"And think of the convenience," interjected C. D. Chance, "when through efficient, economical organization, you can 'give once for all'."

"That is true," acknowledged the visitor, "and I won't wait for some one to solicit my donation. I'll send in my check at once."

"Make the check larger," suggested Chance, "and enter The Post $20,000 Opportunity Campaign. You will easily be able to balance your bank account with the cash commissions you will receive for securing subscribers to The Washington Post or you may win one of the twelve automobiles or sixteen radios that will be given to the highest standing contestants."

"The idea sounds good," replied the visitor. "But won't I be accepting money that should go to regular carriers, agents or dealers?"

"No, sir," emphatically stated Opportunity, "this campaign has been arranged for their benefit and they will receive their regular commissions on all business which you may secure in their territories. The value of the prizes and the cash commissions to candidates in this campaign represent additional cost to The Washington Post, which have been assumed to extend the service of 'The Capital's Greatest NEWSpaper.'"

"Accept my nomination," said the visitor as he affixed his name to a nomination blank. "And while I'm here, Mr. Chance, may I see that 'secret service' police dog of which I have heard so much?"

"I'm sorry," replied Chance, "but he's over in front of the District Building blowing his breath against the Community Chest thermometer in an attempt to make the mercury rise to the top."

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

Playing Safe.

DEAR Miss McDonald: Will you, out of your great fund of experience, lend your aid?

I am just past 20, with a measure of good looks, intelligence, &c. Though never unusually so, I have always been popular enough to have several most trustworthy friends to dance with, walk, ride, swim or just talk with, and occasionally, on a moonlight night or under other provocative conditions, to hold hands with. Three of these, in particular, seem quite satisfied to go with no other, or practically no other, girls. Naturally, being still "finishing college," as well as holding down fairly good jobs, there has been no question of love, though there has been considerable friendly, if sometimes a bit embarrassing, speculation among my friends as to "who will marry Betty." This has so increased that I find I have begun to wonder which I like best, and I find that, while any one of them could probably make me happy and be an ideal provider, I don't feel at all thrilled at the idea.

Yet marriage, a home, several children and a husband seem to me the only really satisfactory life. I don't meet a great many men, but about a month ago I met a man who started me wondering. He is very attractive, at the same time giving every one who meets him the instant idea that he is dependable and trustworthy as Gibraltar. I have been dividing my free evenings and Sundays among my old friends, quite impartially, since I enjoyed going out with any of them, but this other man is a much more aggressive sort, though I don't think he is too much and I find that I have drifted into going with him whenever we are both free. He is a very hard worker at work and at school, and is as busy as I am, and I am nearly always "busy" when my old friends call, a fact which has made the rift in the lute of my otherwise placid life. Not having time for them, I find that I don't mind at all, yet they, knowing of this other man, have begun to make me wonder if I'm not almost throwing away something of proved worth—even now we do not have the old comradly feeling, instead a sort of tension that is uncomfortable—for something that may not last.

I have been entirely myself with this "new" friend of mine, but he has had no extra privileges, but nevertheless our friendship has advanced by leaps and bounds. I must either go on or draw back, for its doesn't stand still! Never particularly tactful or diplomatic, my frankness sometimes seems to get me into difficulties. How then, would you go about keeping these friends, yet also giving time a chance to say if my "new" friend and I really get along as swimmingly as we seem to?

Hoping for as quick a reply as practicable with your many other "troubles to men." "BETTY."

Well, Betty, your problem like most problems, arises solely from your own mental attitude toward your situation. To you the situation is tense, because it means much to you, therefore you supply the "tenseness" you notice when you meet the other boys. You see you are rather practical and a "go-getter," and you are concentrating decidedly on the subject of securing a husband. This attitude is causing you to attach over due significance to a situation which is present in the life of every passable girl of your age. There are always three or four boys during school and college. And usually several more mature.

The average girl accepts what they offer of friendship, devotion and entertainment and eventually makes a selection. Usually the wrong one, and becomes a good wife, if you happen to know what that is.

But you are a bit more bent upon one objective. The friendship, devotion and entertainment are not the point with you. You want "marriage, a home, several children and a husband," important to you in the order named. You will get what you want. You are that kind.

Your only problem now is the question of how you can eat your cake and have it. And that problem has remained unanswered for a good many years. It is so hard to play safe in this world and so utterly uninteresting to play all for one's self, with only one's self in mind.

$29,536,655 BOOST SEEN BY ASSESSOR

Estimated Increase in Real Estate Compares With $43,000,000 in 1930.

SUBURBAN GAIN GREATER

An increase of $29,536,655 in the assessed value of District real estate for the fiscal year of 1931 was announced yesterday by William P. Richards, assessor.

This compares with an increase of $43,000,000 put on the tax books for the current fiscal year over the fiscal year of 1929. The total assessment, which will become effective next July 1 was announced as $1,212,000,000.

Mr. Richards said that the principal increase in the total assessment was on properties in the outlying and suburban sections of the District. But, he declared, he looked for no "shrinkage" in the market value of business properties throughout the city and declared that there was still "a good market" for property in various sections, especially in Chevy Chase, and Cleveland Park and along such streets as Connecticut avenue, which afford opportunities for apartment house development.

Whether the total assessment for 1931 will go on the tax books exactly as estimated by Mr. Richards and his assistants will not be known for some months. One factor which will affect the final total will be the amount and value of property acquired by the Federal Government and the District in carrying out building programs. This property is withdrawn from taxation as it is purchased. A check-up of 500 sales of real estate since the preliminary assessments were made, Mr. Richards said, shows that the assessment has been between 90 and 100 per cent of the sales prices.

YOUR INCOME TAX

No. 3.

The personal exemption under the revenue act is $1,500 for a single person or $3,500 for married persons living together. Also a taxpayer may claim $400 for each person dependent upon him for chief support if such person is under 18 years of age or incapable of self-support because mentally or physically defective. Such dependent need not be a relative of the taxpayer nor a member of his household. The term "mentally or physically defective" includes not only cripples and those mentally defective but persons in ill health and the aged.

Frequently the question is asked, "Why is a return demanded when the personal exemption and credit for dependents amount to more than the net income and thus reflects a nontaxable return?" The filing of a return that shows no tax liability, however, is not a useless procedure as far as the Bureau of Internal Revenue is concerned. In many cases such returns are found upon examination not to be nontaxable, as claimed by the person filing the return. If the amount of personal exemption and credit for dependents claimed is more than he was entitled to under the law, such amount is properly reduced to the amount allowable, and there is disclosed a tax liability.

IN THE PLAYHOUSE

By JOHN J. DALY

WAS a time when Washington got most of the tryouts. Now producers are taking the new plays to other cities. Baltimore has one this week. It happens to be the new vehicle for Mrs. Fiske, "The Family Blues," by Hatcher Hughes and Alan Williams. Under the direction of A. L. Erlanger and George C. Tyler, the new play is being staged by Harrison Gray Fiske and is, so they say, loaded with dynamite. Somewhat startling, the theme of this play is rather refreshing and illuminating—a new slant on marital troubles, if there is such a thing.

* * * *

Dinner time down here on E street is quite the busy hour these days, with patrons of the National Theater trying to find restaurant tables during the intermission of "Strange Interlude," the play that begins at 5:30 in the afternoon, lets out at 7:40 and resumes again at 9 p. m. It's like going to two shows in one day—and the marvel of it all is how Miss Elizabeth Risdon, playing the lead character, holds up under the punishment. She has memorized a good-sized volume and never misses a line.

* * * *

Two interesting musical events are in immediate prospect. There is, to begin with, the joint operatic recital next Saturday evening, February 8, in Constitution Hall, when Rosa Raisa, soprano, and Giacomo Rimini, barytone, both of the Chicago Civic Opera Company, get together in a series of songs. The next bet is the concert at Poli's Theater next Tuesday afternoon, February 11, when Emma Otero, brilliant young Cuban soprano, appears as the third attraction in Mrs. Wilson-Greene's philharmonic course of afternoon concerts. There had been some mix-up on the Ponselle date. The aforegoing should straighten it out.

* * * *

"Blossom Time" has met with the approval of the music lovers on its ninth successive trip to Poli's—and even Mr. T. D. Bonneville, the manager, hops into the auditorium every now and then to hear some of the Franz Schubert music. It will never grow old, of course, and all the reviewers are in accord with the declaration that this company is as good as any heretofore seen.

* * * *

Of considerable interest to that portion of Washington which takes deep interest in politics is the announcement from the Theater Guild that George Bernard Shaw's new play, "The Apple Cart," will have its premiere in Baltimore at Ford's Theater on Monday, February 17. The play is a "political extravaganza," and not the least extravagant of its scenes is one in which the American Ambassador, a Mr. Vanhattan, proceeds to the Court of St. James with a proposition to the English King that he admit the United States to the British Commonwealth of Nations. The British King, a wary fellow named Magnus, decides that this would be unwise, that the United States, even as a dominion might annex all the other dominions. This is but an item in a play packed tight with Shavianisms, wit for which the great Irish dramatist is famous. A distinguished cast includes Tom Powers, Frieda Inescort, Ernest Cossart, Helen Westley, Claude Rains, Rex O'Malley, Frederick Truesdell and Marjorie Marquis. The production has been directed by Philip Moeller, and the settings are by Lee Simonson.

Willard Butler Hurt In Collision With Car

Jacob Toube, 55 years old, a butler at the Willard Hotel, was injured last night when he was reported by Third Precinct police to have walked into an automobile, operated by John Eaton, 17 years old, of Livingston street near Nebraska avenue, at Connecticut avenue and R street northwest.

Toube was taken in the same machine to Emergency Hospital, where his condition appeared sufficiently serious for admittance overnight. His head was said to have struck the handle of the auto door.

THE WASHINGTON POST
Bible Offer

When it was proposed to make the leading newspapers of the country the channels through which this Bible stream would flow, it was thought by some critics to be impossible, because it was claimed that the press is interested only in the news of the day. It would be an unworthy newspaper, indeed, that would not lend its aid toward encouraging Bible reading, and now that the movement is well under way, the critics are forced to admit their error. The present offer includes two different volumes—Style A, illustrated below, and Style B, which is fully as complete but less elaborately bound.

Bridge Game Featured By Squeeze Play

The twelfth of Milton C. Work's radio bridge games, broadcast yesterday afternoon from Station WRC, gave an excellent illustration of the important "squeeze" play, which in the hands of experts produces many a trick that the amateur bridge player counts as hopelessly lost.

The participants in this game were Mrs. George R. Campbell, Augusta, Me.; Miss Florence B. Grant, of Zanesville, Ohio; R. F. Rode, of Miami, Fla., and Dr. Maurice J. Lewi, of New York City, all of them figures of note in bridge circles. Dr. Lewi was one of the organizers of the American Whist League and of the New York Bridge Whist Club, which has grown to be one of the largest in the world.

The hands were: Mrs. Campbell, dealer, South, Spades, A, 7, 5; Hearts, J, 10, 8, 6; Diamonds, A, K, Q, 9; Clubs, 9, 5. Mr. Rode, West, Spades, 8, 6, 4; Hearts, A, Q, 9, 4; Diamonds, J, 8, 7, 4; Clubs, 10, 4. Dr. Lewi, North, Spades, K, Q, J, 10, 3; Hearts, K, 3; Diamonds, 10, 3; Clubs, A, K, Q, 6. Miss Grant, East, Spades, 9, 2; Hearts, 7, 5, 2; Diamonds, 6, 5, 2; Clubs, J, 8, 7, 3, 2.

Mrs. Campbell opened the auction with one No Trump, as picturing her hand better than would her other possible bid of one Diamond. Mr. Rode, West, was obliged to pass. Dr. Lewi, North, said two Spades. He was strong enough to bid much higher, but his hand was so strong that preemption was unnecessary. Miss Grant, East, like her partner, was forced to pass. Mrs. Campbell, delighted by her partner's shift to a major for which she had material assistance, also passed, as did Mr. Rode, giving Dr. Lewi the contract for two Spades.

Miss Grant's hand did not offer much in the way of an advantageous opening; she made the best choice possible in the 3 of Clubs, fourth-best of her only five-card suit. Mrs. Campbell spread her hand for Dummy, and Declarer played from it the 9 of Clubs. Mr. Rode, West, played the 10, and Declarer won with his Ace.

Dr. Lewi, appraising his resources, counted five Spade tricks, three Diamonds and three Clubs; a total of eleven. Doubtless he could make a small slam by ruffing his 6 of Clubs; further developments might produce opportunity for a squeeze play. He knew he could lead his King of Clubs and then the 6 for an immediate ruff without danger, as the original lead had shown him that Miss Grant had not more than five Clubs, and so Mr. Rode must have had at least two. However, Dr. Lewi decided to discover the trump situation before leading the Clubs, so he led his King of Spades, to which East played the Deuce. Dummy to 5 and West the 4. Dr. Lewi then knew that not more than three Spades remained in either adverse hand, and it was more probable that the division was 2-1.

To trick 3 Declarer led the King of Clubs. Miss Grant, East, appreciated from her partner's play of the 10 that Dr. Lewi had the Queen and had false-carded on the first trick; also it was probable, because of his shifting from trumps to Clubs, that he had a fourth Club which he intended to lead and ruff in Dummy. If by playing her Clubs as though she held only four originally she could induce Dr. Lewi to ruff the third Club with a small trump, she might enable her partner to make a trick by over-ruffing. Therefore she played the 7. Dr. Lewi played the 5 of Clubs from Dummy, and West played the 4. To trick four Dr. Lewi led the 6 of Clubs; East continued her endeavor to mislead by playing the 8. But Dr. Lewi, even though he did not know where the Deuce was, did not need to take the chance of ruffing low, as he held the four highest trumps and the adversaries had only three. He played Dummy's Ace of Spades, and West discarded the 4 of Hearts. West had to keep his four Diamonds intact to stop that suit exposed in Dummy.

Declarer next led Dummy's 7 of Spades; West played the 8; Declarer the Queen; and East the 9. Dr. Lewi led his Jack of Spades to draw the last adverse trump. East played the Deuce of Hearts; Dummy the 6 of Hearts; West the 6 of Spades. The adverse trumps were then exhausted, but Dr. Lewi, seeing the chance for a squeeze play, led the 10 of Spades to trick seven. East discarded the 5 of Hearts; Dummy the 8 of Hearts; West the 9 of Hearts.

Dr. Lewi knew that West was out of Spades and Clubs, and might hold the Heart Ace and guarded Diamond Jack; if so, leading North's remaining Spade and his Club Queen would force West to sacrifice one of his two winners. West's high discard in Hearts suggested that the squeeze might be working; so to trick 8 Dr. Lewi led the Trey of Spades. East discarded the Deuce of Diamonds; Dummy the 10 of Hearts; and West, bound to protect the Diamonds, unwillingly discarded the Queen of Hearts. Dr. Lewi then led his Queen of Clubs. East played the Deuce of Clubs; Dummy the Jack of Hearts; but Mr. Rode, West, found himself in a trying position. He had to discard either a Diamond or his Ace of Hearts, and either play was liable to be fatal.

By her discarding his partner had seemingly denied the King of Hearts, but it was possible that she had thought it important to hide it from Declarer, who was in the lead. Dr. Lewi evidently had been trying to obtain Diamond discards; the Ace-King-Queen-9 were exposed in Dummy, and East already had discarded the Deuce. Dr. Lewi must have a Diamond in his own hand, otherwise he would have led Dummy's Diamonds when that hand had the lead; so for West to part with a Diamond must be fatal. Consequently, it seemed to Mr. Rode that his only chance was to part with his Ace of Hearts, hoping that his partner had the King. As a matter of fact, his discard made no difference; in any event he was effectively squeezed, and Dr. Lewi was bound to take all the remaining trick.

With West's Ace of Hearts discarded, Dr. Lewi led the King of Hearts to the tenth trick, discarding Dummy's 9 of Diamonds. Dummy's Ace, King and Queen of Diamonds then captured the last three tricks, giving Declarer a grand slam, with a score of 63 below the line for tricks and above the line 100 for a grand slam and 90 for four honors in one hand and fifth in partner's.

In talking about the hand, after the exhibition game was finished, Mr. Work said:

"There is practically nothing for me to add to the description given by the announcer, other than to congratulate the eminent medical and Bridge authority who was the Declarer, upon the success of his clever squeeze which was bound to work if he found the Ace of Hearts and the guarded Diamonds in the same hand. The Doctor appreciated that to insure the success of a squeeez it must be carried to the bitter end. If Dr. Lewi had thought that he should retain one of his trumps, and for that reason had stopped the squeeze short of playing all his trumps and the Queen of Clubs, he would not have succeeded. It is rare indeed that a squeeze accomplishes its purpose until it has forced the very last possible discard from the adversaries.

"If this hand had been played in Contract Bridge, South, as in Auction, would bid either one Diamond or one No Trump. Over it North would appreciate the probable slam either in No Trump or in Spades, but with his honor count in Spades would select that suit, bidding five; South, with the Ace of Spades and with better than a minimum No Trump, would bid six."

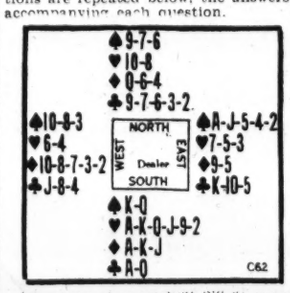
THE MILTON C. WORK Home Bridge Contest

FORTY-TWO questions were asked last week in the Home Bridge Contest concerning the eighteen hands, three of which we printed each day last week. The correct answers to the first thirteen questions have been given the last two days. Today we print the correct answers to the questions asked last Wednesday. Tomorrow and each day following this week we shall answer the questions asked on the corresponding day last week.

Of course most of you wrote down your answers last week so now you can compare your answers with the correct ones stated today and keep your score. Any readers who neglected to write down answers to last week's questions have an opportunity today to read last Wednesday's questions again and write down their answers before reading the correct replies given below.

"Playing Problems," the booklet which gives complete details regarding the answers, is announced in the notice which accompanies this article.

Last Wednesday's hands and questions are repeated below, the answers accompanying each question.



South is Declarer; final bid at Auction two Hearts, at Contract five Hearts.

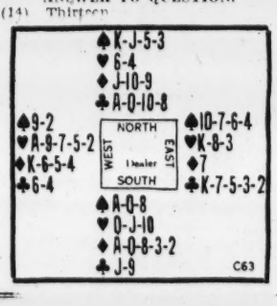
The initial lead made by West is the Trey of Diamonds.

CONTEST QUESTION.

(14) How many tricks should Declarer take?

ANSWER TO QUESTION.

(14) Thirteen.



BRIDGERS, ATTENTION!

Because of space limitations the answers given in our great Milton C. Work Home Bridge Contest are necessarily abridged, but in order to satisfy the intense interest in the Questions and Answers, Mr. Work has prepared a splendid 48-page booklet entitled, "Playing Problems," which reproduces the eighteen hands, the complete auction and contract bidding, with the reasons for each bid, the answers to every question and the reasons for such answers in complete detail, all written in Mr. Work's clear and interesting style.

This booklet, "Playing Problems," which will be of much greater value to the auction and contract player than many high-priced text books, is not for sale. It has been prepared exclusively for readers of this newspaper by special arrangement with Mr. Work. One copy will be mailed to you upon request if you send self-addressed, stamped return envelope, together with 6 cents in stamps, to defray part of the cost of printing and handling this 48-page booklet. Requests not complying with these conditions will be ignored. Address: Milton C. Work, care Washington Post, Washington, D. C.

South is the Declarer; final bid at Auction one No Trumps, at Contract three No Trumps.

Jane Engle INTERPRETS the MODE

A pale pink moire evening ensemble is lined and draped with green moire. (Courtesy of Philippe et Gaston, Paris.)

Paris, Feb. 4.

MONTE CARLO, not the wild and wicked Monte Carlo of fiction, peopled with hard-faced women and stupendous jewels, of titled and more or less crowned heads, if you follow me, but the actual Monte Carlo of orange-scented and lazy-mooned nights, of aperitifs sipped on historical balconies overlooking the immortal mauve of the Mediterranean . . . of elegant women with faces carefully kept from hardness either by beauty treatments or sheer ennui with exoticism.

Necklets of crystal grapes in a long twist falling down low-cut back decolletages. Modernistic and diminutively elegant cigarette cases. Rainbow-shaded sandals, mother-of-pearl nails tinted with a new varnish, which is made from the same composition as artificial pearls, but has an added surface of mauve or green.

And pastel tinted chiffon gowns, very often fragilely printed in floral designs. With hint of spring in the air, Monte Carlo has decided to throw off her burden of velvets and sumptuous elegance and be spring-like and young again!

There was a murmured stir of appreciation all along the line as an apparition like a soft summer rose in a cooling twilight made her quiet and lovely lady way around the salon of Philippe et Gaston.

The ensemble was of rose moire reversible, the reversible side, of just the right shade of green, being allowed to show in flashes at the back drape.

And the very novel wrap was of the same rose moire, showing the green as a lining. Oh, to be a ravishing blonde just once!

Have you a hat? You have! Well, have you a bag? Yes! And you have a scarf. Well, anyway, you have a hat, bag and scarf that match, or "go together," because of the incrustations on each, or the material, or just that little dash of color on each, which tells the world it is ensemble chic? What we mean is, you can't live without one of these sets for spring, and you can have it all ready ahead of time by making it now with our directions. Simply send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet. It's full of the georgeous-es-s-s-st ideas!

And we hope you're not forgetting to look for the weekly Dare fashion letter in The Washington Post each Sunday.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE.

"AQUARIUS."

IF February 5 is your birthday the best hours for you on this date are from 7 a. m. to 8:40 a. m., from 1 p. m. to 2:30 p. m., and from 7:40 p. m. to 9 p. m. The danger periods are from 9:30 a. m. to 10:30 a. m. and from 6 p. m. to 7 p. m.

Do not take unnecessary risks on this date! Accidents are indicated, especially from machinery. Do not rush business affairs, and husband your resources! Spiritual and mental enlightenment are predicted.

The child born on this February 5 will have a frugal mind and will be steady and industrious. It will succeed by steady progress and it will meet with success and prosperity. It will be a steadfast friend and an unforgiving enemy.

You are, although ambitious, very disposed to procrastinate, and do not sufficiently heed the motto, "Do it now." Thrift of time, especially in your case, will repay you in after life with usury of profit beyond your most sanguine dreams, and the waste of it—and this today is your inclination—will cause you to dwindle alike in intellectual and moral stature beyond your darkest reckoning.

Your mind is very active and your conceptions are brilliant and logical; you, however, lack the persistence and indefatigability essential to the making of dreams come true. You are brainy and possess many high intellectual gifts. Why not capitalize them to the nth degree and outstrip those less gifted who today excel you in position and attainment? Experience shows that success is due less to ability than to zeal. The winner is he who gives himself to his work, body and soul.

Your temperament is a serene one; your disposition is kindly; your personality—and you are endowed with much—is at once charming and compelling. In your affections you are not only constant and loyal, but also demonstrative, and your horoscope foretells that, if mated with one born in April or October, your married life will be fruitful of much happiness.

CLEANING RUGS AND CARPETS.

(U. S. Department of Agriculture.)

Rugs and carpets in rooms in constant use need to be brushed or cleaned with the carpet sweeper every day or two, and once a week thoroughly swept or gone over with a vacuum cleaner, or in the case of small rugs beaten out of doors.

In sweeping, the broom should be held nearly up right and the strokes should be short, in one direction, and with the nap of the carpet. Oriental rugs, especially, should be swept with the nap, not against it, and care should be taken not to sweep any kind of a pile rug or carpet with a digging motion of the broom. The so-called "sprouting" of Brussels carpet, by which is meant the appearance of broken ends of yarn on the surface, is often caused by wrong methods of sweeping. The broken ends of yarn should be clipped off with scissors as soon as they appear and should in no case be pulled out. The lint that comes from Axminsters is composed of the short clippings that settle into the nap as the carpet is being woven and is not a defect.

Sweeping should be made as dustless as possible by dampening the broom or scattering crumpled, dampened bits of newspaper, moist tea leaves, or one of the commercial sweeping preparations on the surface of the carpet. These methods must be used with care, however, for delicately colored carpetings are especially likely to be streaked by moisture. If a carpet or rug still seems very dusty after cleaning, the surface may be wiped with a cloth wrung as dry as possible from clear water.

WHO'ZIT?

("WHOZIT?" is a test of your knowledge of history and current events. The statements below describe a character whom you should be able to identify. Match your knowledge and memory against those of your friends.)

1. He was a Frenchman.
2. His life embraced the period of the French Revolution and he held high office under various revolutionary governments, the First Empire and the restored Bourbon monarchy.
3. His most notable services were in the field of foreign relations.
4. He is the author of the saying that "language is given to man to conceal his thoughts."

Hospital Preference proves the importance of Kotex to your health

Authorities in 85% of America's leading hospitals now insist upon Kotex absorbent . . . proving its hygienic safety.

IF there is one time above all others when you want hygienic security, a feeling of safety and absolute comfort, it is when you are selecting sanitary protection. That is why you will appreciate the fact that America's great hospitals (85% of them) are now using Kotex absorbent.

Cellucotton—not cotton

Hospitals know this as Cellucotton absorbent wadding. It is not cotton, but a cellulose product which, for sanitary purposes, performs the same function as the softest of cotton, with 5 times the absorbency.

The marvelous absorbency of Cellucotton explains why Kotex stays soft longer. This protection gives greater safety and security because it absorbs away from the surface, not in just one particular spot.

Soft, lasting protection

It is well designed, it won't twist and bulge, it can't pack. Sometimes there is a deceptive softness about a pad which soon turns to chafing, uncomfortable stiffness after it's worn. That isn't true of Kotex, as you will soon discover when you try it.

Then, of course, there is the reason most women first began to use Kotex: it is disposable. Kotex Company, Chicago, Illinois.

KOTEX IS SOFT . . .

1—Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, fleecy softness that lasts for hours.

2—Safe, secure . . . keeps your mind at ease.

3—Fastidious . . . the sign of true daintiness.

4—In hospitals . . . Kotex is the identical material used by surgeons in 85% of the country's leading hospitals.

5—Deodorizes, safely, thoroughly, by a special process.

2 Track Aces Put Off G. U. Squad

Capt. Milstead and Cranley Deficient in Studies.

Through for Season; Leary, Dunn Join Court Team.

A SEVERE blow was dealt the Georgetown University Track Team yesterday when Capt. Larry Milstead, crack half-miler, and John Cranley, fast quarter-miler, were dropped from the squad owing to scholastic difficulties. Both are seniors and have been members of the team for three years.

Milstead had been counted on as a regular member of the 2-mile team, which is scheduled to make its debut Saturday night in the Millrose A. A. games in New York City. Cranley had been considered as one of the best 440-yard runners of the squad and was thought certain of figuring in all of Georgetown's 1-mile relay races this year. The mile quartet also is slated to compete Saturday night.

Coach John D. O'Reilly today will hold time trials at the Hilltop to determine the personnel of the mile and 2-mile teams. Both Milstead and Cranley would have undergone the trials had they been retained, but few followers of the team doubted their ability to win places. O'Reilly holds trials before each race in order to ascertain who are his fastest men at all stages of the season.

8 Candidates Out for Mile Relay.

Candidates for the mile four are Vic Burke, Artie Briggs, Bob Shotter, Louis Ricca, Chuck Carlin, James Nolan, James Brown and Al Helpern. Those aspiring for positions on the 2-mile team are Jay Jullcher, Jack Mara, James Kelly, John Downing, Clarion Cosh and Richard Douglas.

While the trackmen were bemoaning the loss of Milstead and Cranley, the Hilltop Basket Ball Team welcomed the return of Johnny Dunn and Ed Leary, forwards, who were forced to give up the court sport at the opening of the season, the former on account of the pressure of studies and the latter because of an ankle injury sustained during the football season.

Dunn was a regular on the Blue and Gray Quintet in 1927, his sophomore year, and played about half of last year's games. Leary was a substitute who performed valuable emergency duty last season.

It is not likely that either will start in the Georgetown line-up tomorrow night against New York University, but both probably will see action at some stage of the game, which looms as one of the hardest on the schedule. Coach Dudack announced a line-up yesterday as follows: Dutton and Shea, forwards; Dillon, center, and Capt. McCarthy and Mesmer, guards.

G. U. Defeated Violets In Yale Tourney.

New York University has dropped only two decisions thus far this winter and is ranked among the strongest quintets in the North. One of the losses was inflicted by Georgetown, 31-27, in the Yale tournament, while the other, 23-20, was received from the St. John's Five of Brooklyn, which recently defeated the Crescent A. C., Eastern amateur club champion. Since, in a second meeting, N. Y. U. downed Georgetown, 35-27, tomorrow night's game will be the "rubber" of their 1930 series.

14 Women Seeking Canada Swim Titles

Ottawa, Feb. 4 (A.P.).—Fourteen swimmers will meet here Friday and Saturday in the Canadian women's championship. The entrants include members of the Illinois Women's Athletic Club of Chicago and the Women's Swimming Association of New York.

Eleanor Holm, of New York, has entered the back and breast stroke events. She holds eight world records in these specialties. The Columbus Club of Montreal sent in a surprise entry, Edna May Morris, who holds the 220-yard breast stroke championship of England. The race in which she will take part will see Canadian, American and English girls striving for the Dominion honors.

Griffith Torn Between Omens In Numbering Nats' Uniforms

Nats Follow Yankees and Indians in New Idea in Baseball.

GOOSE GOSLIN.

THE Washington Ball Club has gone modernistic. President Clark Griffith has answered the call of progress and when his team appears on the field next April 14 for the opening game against the Red Sox his players will be resplendent in bright new numbers, legible to all, plastered securely on the backs of their uniforms.

Thus Griffith, one of the old school magnates, follows the lead of the New York Yankees and Cleveland Indians who were adorned with the big numerals throughout last season and who have found the experiment popular with the fans. Griffith's decision to number the Nats follows eight months after the idea was first advocated by The Post and notwithstanding his resolve at that time to wait until the numbering of players became a "league movement."

Good and Evil Omens Tempt Griffith.

In yielding to popular demand Griffith might have been torn between good and evil omens. Adoption of the numbers by the Yankees last season was followed by the loss of league pennant for the first time since 1926, but the situation was balanced by the surprising improvement of the Indians, who finished third last season after universally being picked for the second division.

The accompanying picture of Goose Goslin with the big "3" made famous by Babe Ruth artistically done on his back is symbolic of the way the Nats will look during the 1930 season. Washington players are easily distinguishable to local fandom and until the numbering of players becomes a "league movement" then the full purpose of the idea will not be achieved, for its a wise fan who knows every player in the circuit by sight. And so also is it a wise sports writer.

Clarke, D. C. Umpire, Gets Berth in National

Robert M. Clarke, of 1471 Irving street northwest, brother of Jack Clarke, freshman coach at Catholic University, was appointed yesterday as an umpire in the National League.

For the past three years he has worked in the International League. During the off-season, he is occupied here as an automobile salesman.

New York Fight Body Bans Tony Canzoneri

New York, Feb. 4 (A.P.).—Tony Canzoneri, popular Italian lightweight, today was suspended indefinitely by the New York State Athletic Commission. The suspension was in concurrence with the action of the Pennsylvania commission, which set him down for failure to go through with a match in Wilkes-Barre with Steve Smith.

Lieb Conditionally Accepts Coast Berth

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 4 (A.P.).—Thomas Lieb, assistant football coach at the University of Notre Dame, has conditionally accepted a contract to become head coach at Loyola University at Venice, Calif., it was learned here today.

Lieb planned to leave South Bend immediately for Venice to discuss terms with officials of the school.

Lieb yesterday turned down an offer to become head football coach at Alabama Polytechnic for the next three years at a salary reported to be $10,000 annually. Reports about the campus here today were that Loyola had offered him $12,000 annually, but the length of the contract was not learned.

W. & L. BOWS TO FLORIDA BOXERS

Defeat of McKinney, Welter, by Slaven Decides Match.

Special to The Washington Post.

LEXINGTON, Va., Feb. 4.—University of Florida's Boxing Team slugged its way to a hard-earned victory over Washington and Lee tonight by the score of 4 to 3. Each fight, except in the 125-pound and heavyweight divisions, was so closely contested that decisions might have gone each way. Sloshberg, fighting his first fight for Washington and Lee, and Proctor, of Florida, both won their bouts by technical knockouts.

Washington and Lee made an auspicious start by taking the first two bouts, J. Robinson winning on points before Sloshburg won. Capt. O'Connell, of Florida, and Capt. Black put on the feature fight of the card, the decision going to O'Connell by a narrow margin. L. Robinson, of Washington and Lee won the decision from MacLanahan in a hard fight where each man gave and took heavy blows.

The turning point of the event came when Slaven, Florida, won a close decision from McKinney, a converted welterweight. Marsales, Florida, and Heaps put on a fast fight, with the decision going to Florida.

115-pound class—J. Robinson (W. and L.) defeated Minardi; decision.
125-pound class—Sloshberg (W. and L.) defeated Dykes; technical knockout, first round.
135-pound class—Capt. O'Connell (Florida) defeated Capt. Black; decision.
145-pound class—L. Robinson (W. and L.) defeated MacLanahan; decision.
160-pound class—Slaven (Florida) defeated McKinney; decision.
175-pound class—Marsales (Florida) defeated Heaps; decision.
Heavyweight class—Proctor (Florida) defeated Faulkner; technical knockout, second round.

Illinois Fines Rioux $1,000 For His "Fear" of Carnera

By CHARLES W. DUNKLEY.

CHICAGO, Feb. 4 (A.P.).—Primo Carnera, the huge muscle man from Italy, was just a big bogey man and not a conspirator.

This was the concensus of the Illinois State Athletic Commission today after it had finished an investigation of Carnera's 47-second knockout of Elzear Rioux, the French-Canadian woodsman from Montreal, in the Chicago Stadium punch bowl last Friday night. Rioux, the commission decided, was scared into a half-faint at first sight of the tremendous bulk of the Italian giant and did not deliberately take a dive.

Because of Rioux's unsatisfactory showing, however, he was fined $1,000 and suspended indefinitely. No action was taken against Carnera. He was held blameless and his purse of approximately $16,000 was ordered paid Rioux's fine was deducted from his $3,000 purse.

No Evidence of Crookedness Is Seen.

After questioning all principals or their representatives, the commission concluded there was no evidence of a conspiracy, fraud or collusion. Dave Barry, referee of the abbreviated match, said he was of the impression that Rioux was so badly frightened, even before he entered the ring, that he had no heart to fight. He said Rioux appeared to be rigid with fear when called to the center of the ring and that his muscles would not respond when the big Italian made his first furious rush at the clang of the gong.

The two judges, E. L. Cook and W. A. Batty, agreed that Rioux hit the floor five times without being punched hard enough to knock over a bantamweight. The punch that sent him to the floor, flat on his face, for the sixth and final count, was described by them as a well-directed smash to the chin. That final punch, the judges qualified, did not carry sufficient force to knock Rioux out.

Rioux and his manager, Charles Turner, appeared at the commission hearing, but Carnera and his manager, Leon Cle, were absent, as the Italian heavyweight had an engagement at Newark, N. J., Thursday night. They left depositions, however, with the commission, each asserting belief that Rioux was merely the victim of fright.

French Fighter Calls Self "Very Nervous."

Rioux, in his broken English, explained that he was "very nervous," and that he did not know what it was all about after Carnera landed his first haymaker.

Cardinals Favored to Win Tonight in First Clash of D. C. Foes.

Experience Lacked by Colonials; Heavies in Feature Fight.

By JACK ESPEY.

THE first boxing match in history between Capital colleges will be held tonight when the mittmen of George Washington and Catholic clash in Brookland Gymnasium in a program of seven bouts, starting at 8:45 o'clock. Interest is running high among the rival student bodies, and a capacity crowd of 2,500 is expected to attend.

Catholic is favored to win. Coach Ted Mitchell's team is the more experienced. But George Washington promises to put up a strenuous argument. The teams, physically, are on edge for the match.

The probable feature of the card is the bout between Capt. Jack Malevich, Catholic heavyweight, and Bill ("Red") Oelschlager, 216-pound representative of the downtown school. Malevich is a veteran in college boxing, while his foe is a novice. Oelschlager's advantage in weight will somewhat offset his lack of experience. Malevich tips the scales at about 175.

Oliver May Make Debut In Ring for C. U.

Johnny Oliver, versatile Cardinal athlete, may make his debut in the ring tonight in the lightweight class. He reported for training only three days ago, but showed such impressive form that Coach Mitchell was forced to consider him a possible starter for this match. Jim McGuire fought for Catholic in the lightweight class against Temple two weeks ago. Mitchell will not decide until the match opens which one he will call upon.

The George Washington lightweight will be Leo Coveleskie, formerly of the local Knights of Columbus. He and Bill Stanley, middleweight, are the only two Colonials boasting experience. Stanley, who got his ring baptism at Western High School and campaigned later for the City Club, will oppose Tom McCabe. The lanky Cardinal middleweight was victorious in his debut against Temple.

Following is the program:

115-POUND CLASS — Dave Cohen (G.W.) vs. John De Pasquale (C.).
125-POUND CLASS — Max Jeweler (G.W.) vs. Harry G. Di Giacomo (C.).
135-POUND CLASS—Leo Coveleskie (G. W.) vs. John Oliver or James McQuire (C.).
145-POUND CLASS — Bud Terry (G.W.) vs. Rocco Biasi (C.).
160-POUND CLASS—William Stanley (G.W.) vs. Tom McCabe (C.).
175-POUND CLASS—John Duffalo or Lazio Sommer (G.W.) vs. Ross Zeno (C.).
UNLIMITED CLASS—William Oelschlager (G.W.). vs. Jack Malevich (C.).

American U. Tossers At Baltimore Tonight

The American University Five will invade Baltimore tonight to attempt to repeat its brilliant victory last month over the strong Loyola College Quintet. In their last engagement the Eagles downed the Greyhounds by 21 to 18 in a distinct upset of the dope.

Coach Walter Young expects to start the same team which faced Loyola before, namely, Capt. George Olsen and Orville Targee, forwards; Oscar Sells, center, and John Woods and Warren Colison, forwards.

The Eagles have won their last two games and will enter tonight's fray with an average of .500 for the season.

Atlantic City Loses A. A. U. Title Games

New York, Feb. 4 (A.P.).—The national indoor track and field championships originally awarded to Atlantic City at the annual meeting of the Amateur Athletic Union, will be held instead in Madison Square Garden here March 18, Dan Ferris, secretary of the union, announced today.

Location of the annual indoor classic, originally scheduled for the huge auditorium in the New Jersey resort city, was changed because of failure of Atlantic City officers to fulfill the terms of agreement. With one or two exceptions the indoor championships have been held in Madison Square Garden annually since 1906.

Ferris said the Amateur Athletic Union expects one of the finest entry lists in track history due to the date of the games, which follow the intercollegiate championships and most of the important meets at the tail end of the indoor season.

SEEDED STAR ELIMINATES CONSIDINE

Capital Youth Bows to Rockafellow in U.S. Indoor Play.

By TED VOSBURGH.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4 (A.P.).—The national indoor tennis championship came close to losing its outstanding favorite and drawing card today as Frank Hunter, America's second ranking star, was hard pressed by Frank Bonneau, a comparatively obscure New York southpaw.

Hunter finally won by scores of 6—4, 3—6, 7—5, to reach the quarter final round. However, he needed all his famous fighting fire to pull through.

Using the same weapons with which Jean Borotra, the bounding Basque, turned back Hunter in the final of last year's tourney—the volley and smash—Bonneau located a weakness in the hard-driving Hunter's tennis armor and pounded it throughout the match. Occasionally Hunter's slugging forehand passed him cleanly, but fully as often Bonneau laced into the ball for smashing overhead kills.

Rockafellow Eliminates D. C. Netman.

Perrine Rockafellow, who used to play for Colgate, downed Bob Considine, of Washington, the promising youth who shares the national public parks doubles title, 7—5, 6—0, and Herbert Bowman, New York veteran, outdrove Lieut. R. M. Watt, of the United States Navy, 6—2, 6—2.

Hunter's next opponent will be Eugene McCauliff, lanky former Fordham stylist, who reached the quarter-finals ahead of the field yesterday.

All of Hunter's leading rivals came through in far easier fashion, winning in straight sets.

Rosales and Leonhart To Fight February 14

New York, Feb. 4 (A.P.).—Rosey Rosales, Cleveland light heavyweight, and Freddy Lenhart, of Spokane, Wash., were matched today to box ten rounds in the semifinal to Maxey Rosenbloom and Ace Hudkins on the Madison Square Garden card February 14.

Cards Sign Bobby Rice As Waynesboro Pilot

Philadelphia, Feb. 4 (A.P.).—Bobby Rice, former Phillies infielder and well known in independent baseball circles in this vicinity, has come to terms with Branch Rickey, of the St. Louis Cardinals, and will manage Waynesboro, of the Blue Ridge League, this season. Waynesboro is one of the Cards' farms.

Rice was a player-manager with Charleroi, of the Middle Atlantic League, and will continue in that capacity with Waynesboro.

Jimmy Foxx Arrives Early at Mack Camp

Fort Myers, Fla., Feb. 4 (A.P.).—Jimmy Foxx, star first sacker for the world's champion Philadelphia Athletics, was the first of Connie Mack's squad to arrive here for spring training, which gets under way about March 1. Foxx said he would begin his preliminary training on the golf course while waiting for the remainder of the team.

"Sure, we expect to repeat this year," said the Philadelphia star, when asked about the prospects of the Athletics winning the championship again this year. "At least, all the boys will do their best for Mr. Mack."

Stewart and Dixie Fives, A.A.U. Title Contenders, In Pre-Tournament Game

TWO potential basket ball champions will class tonight at 8 o'clock in the Silver Spring High School Gym in what looms as a "natural."

The Stewart Bros. Five, toting a string of 32 victories over the best the 145-pound and unlimited ranks had to offer in 35 starts, is scheduled to meet the equally as impressive Dixie Pigs of Prince Georges County fame.

The Stewart cagers are considered strong contenders for the District A. A. U. 145-pound championship and the Dixie Pigs are among the top ranking teams aiming at the unlimited title in the tournament to be held next month under the auspices of The Post.

The game will mark the first meeting of the two teams this season. The Dixie Pig Five recently stopped the lengthy winning streak of the French A. C. dribblers in two extra periods. The Stewarts bowed before the French Club in one of their three defeats.

The Woltz Photographers and Centennials are the only other teams to gain victories over the scrappy Stewarts. Likewise, the Dixie Pigs have yielded only to the top notchers. Both teams are rated among the favorite contenders for the A. A. U. championships of their respective classes.

In addition to holding a front line position in the unlimited race of the Community Center League, the Dixie Pigs have played havoc with foes in general in independent competition. They have also made their presence felt in the Prince Georges County League.

The Silver Spring High School Gym, scene of tonight's battle, is considered one of the best equipped basket ball arenas in this section. Arrangements have been made to accomodate a record crowd in the large auditorium. Manager and telephone numbers of teams affiliated with the A. A. U. follow:

Austrian Youth Near Fancy Skate Title

New York, Feb. 4 (A.P.).—A curly black haired Austrian youth dipped, swerved and glided over the glass-like ice club rink today to stand on the threshold of his first world's fancy skating championship.

The youth, Karl Shafer, university student and king of Austrian fancy skaters for four years, is pitted against seven of the outstanding figure skaters of four nations. The championship will be decided tomorrow night when the aspirants for the title complete their competition in a free skating exhibition at Madison Square Garden.

Shafer was runner-up to Gillis Grafstrom, of Sweden, at Vienna last year, but with the Swedish star not defending his title, the young Austrian skater has been made the favorite.

Although no points were announced, skating experts placed Roger Turner, the 28-year-old Boston lawyer, a close second to the Austrian star. Turner won the national championship last year.

By WILLIAM F. DISMER, JR.

TECH stepped within one notch of the 1930 interhigh basket ball title, at the same time narrowing the field to three possible contenders, when it definitely eliminated Central from the running by taking a point-for-point battle, 27 to 25, yesterday at the Tech Gymnasium. By defeating Eastern on Friday, Tech can clinch the title, while a loss to the Lincoln Parkers will leave both teams in a tie. Should Western, which remained in the running by beating Business, 18 to 15, in the opener yesterday, defeat Central on Friday, the Red and White team also will be tied with Tech and Eastern if Tech is beaten.

Differing from the first meeting when it was literally swamped by the Blue and White Five, Tech sent its followers into ecstasies by exhibiting a brand of ball which kept Central from getting any kind of a substantial lead throughout the contest. Although Tech held a 11-10 margin at half-time, it had trailed throughout the first twenty minutes of play and a double-decker by Cross at the resumption of activities immediately regained the lead for Central, an advantage which was held until the second minute of play in the final period.

Tech Abandons Zone Defense.

But with the insertion of Olverson for Johns midway in the third quarter after Central had obtained a 19-15 lead, Tech abandoned its zone defense and for the duration of the game waged a man-for-man style of play which left the Central players groggy in their efforts to get away from the frantic Maroon and Gray players. Fighting to obtain possession of the ball, the Tech players pursued their foes around the court instead of waiting an opportunity to intercept the Central passes.

Lassisse put his team within two points of the Centralites just before the end of the third quarter, and when Capt. MacCartee potted one from the side at the resumption of play, the score was tied at 19-all. Two fouls, by Brandt and Talburtt, left the count knotted before Tech stepped ahead to gain a lead which it never relinquished.

Olverson Gains Lead For Tech.

Then Olverson made his presence felt, giving Tech a 22-20 lead and, try as they would, the Blue and White players were never after able to catch their foes. With the score 25-20, Capt. Cross and Delisio made a desperate attempt to tie the score with a foul and long toss, respectively, but fouls by Russell and Lassisse left Central four points behind with less than a minute to play. Cross again came through with another beautiful shot made on the run in the next few seconds, but it was too late, and not another Central shot found its way in the basket.

Russ Lampson shared with Cross the Central scoring honors for the day by caging three double-deckers, two of them the result of long sensational tosses and another of Cross' "on-the-run" variety. However, this pair was eclipsed by the personal activities of one George Lassisse, who scored just as many times from the floor and made good on four attempts from the foul line. It was also the shot of this performer which gave Tech its one-point lead at the intermission.

Brandt's Defensive Play Feature.

As predicted, George Brandt was started at center for the Blue and White, and played throughout the game, exhibiting a fine defensive play which held two Tech centers to one field goal apiece, while Brandt registered once from the floor and twice from the 15-foot mark.

In saving its chances for the title, the Western Five met a stubborn opponent in Business, which, although eliminated some time ago, made a bold bid to knock the Red and White Five out of the running. After a slow start, which saw the Business reserves powerless to stop Western, the regular Orange and Blue machine took the floor and although trailing 12-6 at half-time, came back in the last two periods of play to outfight and generally outplay the Western warriors.

The game was an especially slow and drab affair, more devoid of scoring than any game in the series this year. Throughout the entire third period, but one field goal was registered by each side, but it was in the final stanza that the real fireworks

MIAMI POLITICAL FIGHT THREATENS RACE BETTING

Gambling War Raging in Resort

Trouble Precipitated When Operators Invade Downtown.

Wagering Is Resumed After Sheriff's Men Leave Track.

HIALEAH RACE TRACK, Fla., Feb. 4 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The ramifications of a political factional fight which has been in progress for more than a week in the City of Miami threatened to make the Miami Jockey Club's meeting a betless one this afternoon. However, the danger passed over as quickly as one of those Florida showers.

Sheriff Lehman, of Dade County, came out to Hialeah track shortly before noon today with eight deputies and stationed them in prominent places under the grand stand and in the clubhouse. No one said anything, but every one knew that no bets were going to be made. However, about half an hour before post time the sheriff and his deputies departed and things ran smoothly as they have since the opening of the meeting.

Operators Invade Down Town.

The political controversy started, as usual, out of a row between gambling interests for the preferred places to do business. The operators of games were told they must keep out of the downtown section but several crossed the deadline. Last Tuesday Welton A. Snow, then city manager, ordered all gambling houses closed.

They closed, but three days later Snow was discharged by the city commission. Frank H. Wharton was appointed in his place and S. C. McCreary named director of public safety.

The friends and supporters of Snow, including the Miami Herald, are making it decidedly interesting for the city commission and the new city manager, and director of public safety is showing them where they can clean house.

TECH HOLDS LEAD IN SERIES

started. Trailing 14-10, little Bobby Lucas again led a Business attack, which threw the Western supporters into a panic, twice coming within 2 points of a tie and once but 1 point behind. A foul by Lucas with a minute and ten seconds to play left Western ahead but 16-15, but Milton Chatlen set Western supporters at ease with a pair of free tosses which ended scoring for the day.

V. M. I. FIVE BUSY THIS WEEK

Davidson, Sewanee, W. & M. to Be Met Within 4 Days.

Special to The Washington Post.

LEXINGTON, Va., Feb. 4.—V. M. I. Basket Ball Team has a crowded schedule this week, with three games to be played in four days. The Cadets will meet Davidson in an afternoon game here Wednesday, will entertain Sewanee at 7 o'clock Friday night and will clash with William and Mary on the home court at 7:15 Saturday night.

If Coach Raftery's quintet can repeat the 1928 triumph over the Sewanee Tigers, the Cadets will have a .500 percentage in the conference standing, having downed Virginia and lost to V. P. I. last week. The Davidson Wildcats are reputed to be stronger than they were last year, when V. M. I. captured a 38-to-37 thriller with Al Hawkins entering the game as a substitute to sink seven baskets from near midcourt. William and Mary, which was defeated last year, is also expected to give the Cadets plenty of trouble.

Tarheel Matmen Also to Be Met Saturday.

A varsity wrestling meet which will follow the basket ball game is another Saturday night attraction. The North Carolina State grapplers will furnish the opposition, and the Cadet matmen will be primed for a comeback after the decisive loss to the Navy last week. The first-year wrestlers will journey to Fort Defiance for a return meet with Augusta Military Academy, defeated earlier in the season. The Freshman Five will play an afternoon game Saturday as a curtain raiser, meeting tthe William and Mary Papooses before the Cadet and Indian Varsities get together.

The V. M. I. boxers, both varsity and freshmen, have heavy assignments, with the youngsters tackling the Navy Plebes at Annapolis Saturday, while the varsity is swapping punches with the Army scrappers at West Point. Both teams are expected to show up well, the varsity having been nosed out last week by North Carolina after the young Cadets had decisively trimmed the Tarheel Freshmen.

Cumberland Nine May Train at Home

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., Feb. 4.—The Chamber of Commerce of Strasburg, Va., has extended an invitation to the Cumberland Colts of the Middle Atlantic League to train there this season, President Nelson W. Russler announced today. For the past two seasons the team has trained at Berkeley Springs, W. Va. The Colts may stay home and use the local diamond for training with the exception of the week of April 28, when a show attraction occupies the park. The diamond of the Ridgeley Athletic Club has been offered the team for that week.

The Middle Atlantic League moguls will meet at Uniontown, Pa., next Sunday afternoon when it is expected the league schedule will be adopted.

Takoma-Silver Spring Five Beats Rockville

Takoma-Silver Spring High tossers had little trouble yesterday in disposing of the Rockville High Five, 43 to 27, in the Silver Spring Armory. Williams, with 14 points, was high gun for the winners, with Steinburg Rockville's score leader with 11 points.

In a preliminary, the Takoma-Silver Spring girls won from Rockville, 24 to 13.

The purple and gold quint has averaged 47 points per game, and holds victories over Charlotte Hall, Woodberry Forest and the strong Augusta Military Academy Team at Fort Defiance.

Fork Union Cadets Down Virginia Cubs

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Feb. 4.—In a game marked by close guarding throughout, Fork Union Military Academy's Quint defeated Virginia's first year team this afternoon 16 to 12.

The visitors held the Cavaliers to a single field goal in the first half, which ended 6 to 2. Fork Union sewed up the game in the third quarter by registering eleven points, but was held to a lone point in the final period.

Staunton Wins, 22-20, From Woodberry Five

Special to The Washington Post.

Woodberry Forest, Va., Feb. 4.—The crack Staunton Military Academy Quint took a thriller from Woodberry Forest here this afternoon by the score of 22-20, the outcome hanging in the balance until the last minute of play, when Chapman and Smith came through with a couple of double-deckers to give victory to the invaders.

From the start to the finish the Orange Team both outfought and outplayed the Cadets, leading all the way until the fatal closing moments, when superior reserve strength and court ability wrested a win from its very grasp.

N. C. U. FIVE FACES POLY TONIGHT

Sewanee, Davdison Also Listed This Week at V. P. I.

Special to The Washington Post.

BLACKSBURG, Va., Feb. 4.—Braced by successive wins over two Big Four rivals, Virginia Tech's Basket Ball Team will turn to heavy out-of-State games on the home floor this week.

The Tarheels from University of North Carolina, long rulers over the far-flung domain of Southern courts, will head into Techland Wednesday night to head the procession of Carolina and Tennessee aggregations. Eagerly seeking the crest after a disastrous week of down home campaigning, the boys who wear the blue should be about ready for a reversal of form when they trot onto Memorial court in the midweek game.

Blacksburg fans will have their first glimpse of one of Dixie's court elite in the Thursday attraction. Those scrappy Tigers from University of the South, down at Sewanee, Tenn., are numbered among the Southern Conference pacesetters and will face the Gobblers with a dual purpose. They will seek to atone for two past upsets in Memorial Hall while scrapping to hold their dizzy pace through the Dixie loop.

Twin Bill With Davidson Friday Night.

More jungle cats will prowl into town in the tracks of the Tigers, for two lair of Wildcats from Davidson College will raid the Gobblers' roost Friday night. The twin encounter will get under way at 7 o'clock between the pacemaking Goblets and the Wildkittens. Fur and feathers will fly in lively fashion in the varsity encounter at 8:15. All varsity games of the week are scheduled for this hour.

Unbeaten Lehigh Five To Play Navy Today

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 4.—Lehigh, the only college team in the East that has not bowed in defeat on the basket ball court this season, will invade Annapolis tomorrow to tackle the Annapolis Midshipmen. In view of this circumstance the game will attract more than ordinary interest. The Tars are on edge for the fray and hope to mar the record of the South Bethlehem lads.

Holding their foe to 3 points in the last quarter, while they were counting 10, the St. Mary's Celtics overcame a lead held throughout by the Knight Store and took possession of first place in the Alexandria City League last night by a 22-15 victory at the Alexandria Armory.

Blacksburg, Va., Feb. 4.—Led by Bushall, their scoring ace, Virginia Polytechnic Institute Freshmen Basketeers continued their point a minute attack here tonight trouncing Jefferson High School, of Roanoke, 45 to 11.

Roanoke was held to a single goal from the floor in the second half. Hall was high scorer with 17 points and Seamon next with 11.

ALEXANDRIA SPORTS

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Feb. 4.—The Episcopal High School Basket Ball Team will travel to Washington tomorrow afternoon to take on the fast Eastern High School Team. Earlier in the season the Episcopalians handed the Washington boys a defeat, but the latter team has improved considerably since that time. Coach Fleming is expecting to have his hands full in turning back Coach Guyon's boys tomorrow, but will have his strongest team on the floor. Some changes may be made in the line-up, as substitutes scored twice as many points in the last game as did the regulars. The work of Cleveland and Hooff stood out in particular.

Another Alexandria boy who is making the grade on a college team this season is Herbert Bryant, former Episcopal High School star, who is playing regularly on the University of Virginia Basket Ball Team and was also a regular half back on the football team. His home is in this city and he attended the E. H. S. for four years, where he made quite a name for himself in athletics.

3-Game Set of 614 Rolled in Cumberland

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., Feb. 4.—What is thought to be the highest individual score rolled in a match game of duckpin in this city was turned in by Albert "Lefty" Brant, of the Machinist team of Foster's Dye Works League last night when he toppled a total of 614 rubber-banded maples in three games on the Savoy Alleys. Brant had games of 211, 192 and 211.

The old record was established by Charley Hare in 1927, who hung up a score of 612 while bowling with the South End Team in the National League.

BUCK ROGERS, 2429 A. D. — Drive Martians From Control Room — By Phil Nowlan and Dick Calkins

In the control room of the space ship from Mars, hovering thousands of miles above earth, Wilma prepared to defend her life. Noory, the Martian girl, lay unconscious, from a blast of the force-ray gun Wilma had seized. The recoil tore the gun from her grasp and buried its tip in the wall.
Wilma struggled with the gun. The pressure of its beam and recoil was terrific Oh! Oh! If I could just hold it steady I might find the trigger or something to shut it off with!
At last she managed to shut off the force-blast
Whooo-eee! In a moment more it would have pushed a hole through the hull. And the crew may find I'm here any second
Suddenly the crew rushed her.
Back out there! I know how to work this thing now!

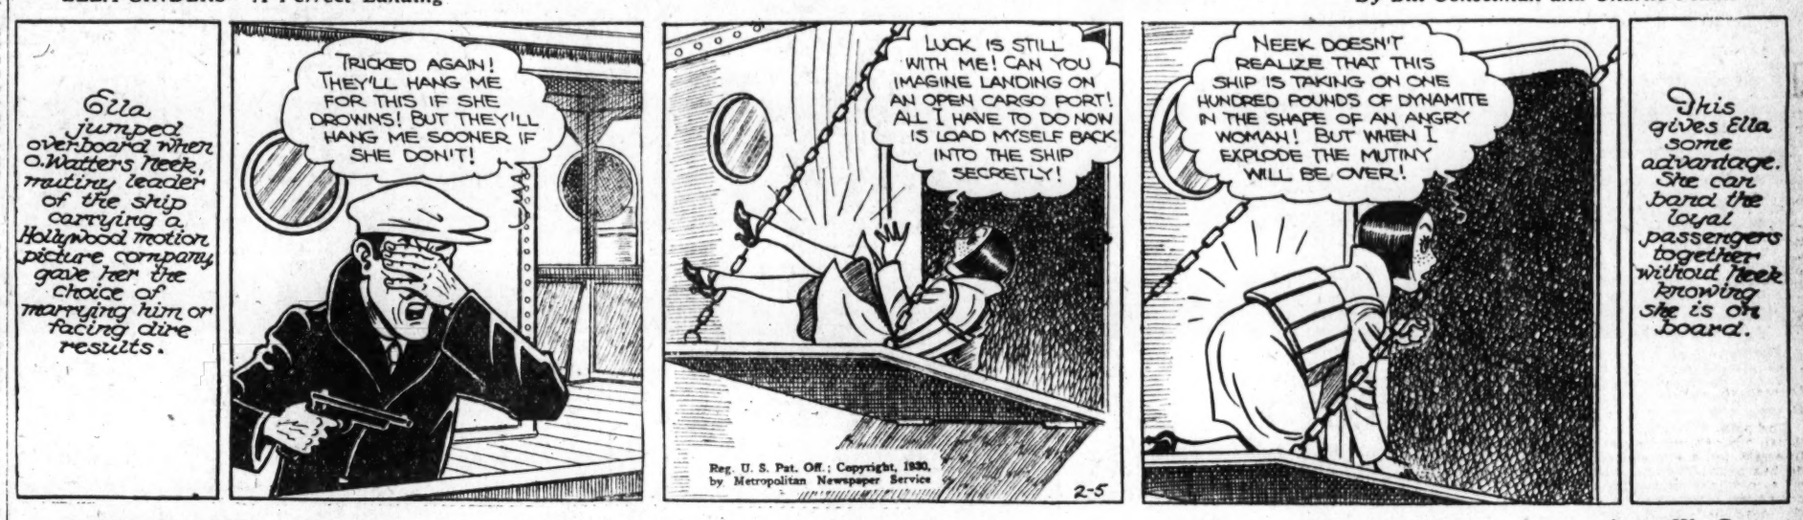
ELLA CINDERS—A Perfect Landing — By Bill Conselman and Charlie Plumb



Ella jumped overboard when O. Watters Neek, mutiny leader of the ship carrying a Hollywood motion picture company, gave her the choice of marrying him or facing dire results.
Tricked again! They'll hang me for this if she drowns! But they'll hang me sooner if she don't!
Luck is still with me! Can you imagine landing on an open cargo port! All I have to do now is load myself back into the ship secretly!
Neek doesn't realize that this ship is taking on one hundred pounds of dynamite in the shape of an angry woman! But when I explode the mutiny will be over!
This gives Ella some advantage. She can band the loyal passengers together without Neek knowing she is on board.

Le Croix, ignoring everyone, now approached Bessie
Don be frightened, leetle gal!! I am your frien', I weel protect you!!
To "Klondike Sal," this was the last straw and she rushed up to Bessie in a jealous rage
Get out of here, you little tramp!! Go upstairs and pack your things!!
But Le Croix again came to poor Bessie's defense
Be reasonable, Cherie!! Zees gal she do no wrong!! Why you want to fire her?!
That's my business, Pierre!! Stand aside!! I think I'll throw the little trouble-maker out myself!!
Sal attempted to seize Bessie but Le Croix grasped the arm of his sweetheart, and for the first time spoke very harshly to her —
Stop, Sal!! Leave zat gal alone!!

BOBBY THATCHER — Visiting Hour — By George Storm

I've been so worried about you children having to manage for yourselves.... If tradesmen bring their bills tell them I'll soon be home to see them
We havent seen a bill, auntie and were getting along fine
She seemed so frail and helpless didn't she?
I'm going to see she doesn't have to face these debts when we bring her home.... Oh I don't know what I'm going to do....
I do! I'm going right out and get a job!

THE GUMPS — Off With the Mask

Come out here - I just want the world to see what a tight fisted man I married
Listen now - right in front of Uncle Bim - lay off of that stuff
My children
Tell him what you said - go ahead - tell him what you just told me - say it to his face - tell him how you complained because I insisted that you pay the taxi bill last night for a change - and then what did you say? Let Uncle Bim pay it - he's rich -
Tight wad!!
And you crave married life -

STOCK PRICES SOAR IN QUIET TURNOVER

Many Issues Climb to High Level for Year With Utilities Leading.

CARRIERS PROVE ACTIVE

New York, Feb. 4 (A.P.).—Bull forces rallied in the stock market today, regained most of the losses of yesterday, and lifting prices generally to the best level of the new year.

The reduction in the German Reichsbank's rate, possibly foreshadowing lower bank rates at New York and London later in the week, and a stiffening of the commodity markets, caused prompt cessation of bearish operations, which caused considerable unsettlement during the morning. Trading was on a reduced scale, only 3,224,610 shares changing hands, but was most active on the advance.

Credit conditions at this center showed little change, call money holding at 4½ per cent, presumably reflecting the increased demands of the turn of the month, but indications were generally regarded in Wall street as pointing to further cuts in central bank rates. The lower Reichsbank rate, following the cut by the Bank of France, appears to have removed the last threat to London's gold supply, and the last obstacle to a reduction in the Bank of England's discount rate. The New York Reserve Bank is believed to be awaiting action at London before making a further cut in its rate.

Business News Pleases.

Business news was largely pleasing. The United States Steel Corporation was reported to have stepped up production to about 80 per cent of capacity, bringing the average for the entire industry around 76½ per cent, only about 10 per cent below the level of a year ago. Preliminary estimates of crude oil production for last week indicated further increase in curtailment. A few pleasing earnings statements appeared, Remington Rand reporting a good fourth quarter. A less favorable item was a drastic cut in prices of several models by RCA-Victor.

The utilities displayed the most notable buoyancy. Columbia Gas was rushed up more than 6 points to the best level for 1930. Its sponsors are particularly enthusiastic over its long-term natural gas prospects. American Water Works made a similar gain, and Consolidated Gas and Standard Gas mounted about 3 points each.

Rails were generally well bought. Chesapeake & Ohio mounting nearly 4 points. Allis Chalmers, Atchison, A. M. Byers, General Electric, Johns Manville, Loews, Simmons, Radio, Warner Bros., and Westinghouse Electric were among issues gaining 2 points or more. Otis Elevator was a buoyant feature, rising nearly 23 points. What appeared to be a bear drive was launched against Gillette, sending it down 5 points, but it regained much of its loss before the close. Macy closed off 5.

Grains Rally Sharply.

In the commodity markets, grains rallied sharply, after further bear pressure around midday, which depressed wheat futures to new low levels. Reports of improved export business, bullish weather forecasts and Kansas crop reports, caused a quick rebound, and closing prices were 1¾ cents higher. Corn closed about 2 cents higher, helped by reports of unfavorable rains over the entire belt and a firmer Buenos Aires market. Cotton was unsettled during much of the day, but closed moderately higher.

Foreign exchanges were inclined to ease, notably the Latin-American currencies. European currencies were barely steady, sterling and German marks sagging slightly in reflection of the lower Reichsbank rate.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Feb. 4 (A.P.).—Facing commencement of the 1930 crop scare season, wheat jumped higher today, although suffering temporary setbacks to below any level since July 1 last. Damage to domestic winter wheat by persistent alternate freezing and thawing weather was reported today from eastern Illinois, western Indiana and from Texas. Under such circumstances broadened speculative buying of wheat future deliveries set in, and the upward swing of the market was also given impetus through action of the Farmers' National Grain Corporation in making big purchases of rural arrivals of wheat at various leading grain centers.

Chicago closing quotations on wheat were firm at nearly the day's top figures, 1½c to 1¾c a bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1⅞c@1⅞c to 2¾c advanced; oats, ¾c to 1¼c up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 10c.

Melting away of snow covering from wide stretches of domestic winter-wheat territory was reported today as disclosing crop damage, and this circumstance did much to outweigh indications that foreigners were active sellers here at times. Another decidedly stimulating influence toward higher prices came from reports showing that the farm cooperative organization, backed by Government funds, had bought about 250 cars of wheat today, and that at variance with earlier advices the organization was taking country run wheat without enforcing quality restrictions which would have apparently excluded large shipments en route to Minneapolis from rural points Northwest. Meanwhile dispatches were also at hand indicating improved call abroad for wheat from Canada and the United Sites, with Argentine wheat in less request and United States wheat afloat the cheapest wheat available.

Instability of an unexpected upturn in Liverpool wheat quotations today was chiefly responsible for a sudden transient collapse of the Chicago market. Quick reversal of the Liverpool upward trend was apparent in the day's final quotations from that center, and resulted in smashing prices here down more than 2½c within a few moments, but the effect failed to last. On the contrary, leading houses here took the ground that all bearish factors as to wheat had been discounted for at least the time being and that wheat prices were entitled to an important rally.

Corn values developed independent strength today. Affected by temporary wheat weakness, May and July corn sold at new low-price record for the season, but country offerings were small and decided gains ensued, helped by emphasis given to the fact that the corn visible supply is 11,000,000 bushels less than last year and that there are no burdensome stocks at primary markets. Oats followed corn.

Provisions were responsive to an increase of only 5,400,000 pounds in Western lard stocks in the last month, compared with 44,200,000 pounds increase last year.

BOND MARKET SEES FOREIGN GROUP RISE

General Gain in European Shares Is Led by French 7½s and 7s.

RAILS BECOME FIRMER

New York, Feb. 4 (A.P.).—Continued inquiry for French government bonds brought out substantial rallies in these obligations today, carrying both the 7½s and the 7s to new highs. The former touched 123, closing at 122¼ for a net advance of a point, while the lower coupon obligations sold up to 116 before easing back to yesterday's final quotation, 115. Turnover in each was substantial.

The entire foreign list was generally higher. Belgian listings were active and rose ¼ to ¾. Colombia 6s and Colombia Agricultural 6s (April) soared 3⅜, and the same city's 6s of 1961 were up ¾. Canada 5s, Norway 5s, Rome 6½s and Japan 4s gained fractionally. Australian bonds turned heavy, with both issues of 5s losing a point, while New South Wales 5s of 1957 sagged ⅜. Brazil 6½s (1927-57), Chile 6s (September), and Denmark 5½s eased.

Corporation Bonds, Decline.

The average showed a small decline in domestic corporation bonds, but the undertone was considerably firmer, especially in the rails—which were active. Santa Fe general 4s, Baltimore & Ohio gold 4s, Rock Island refunding 4s, Missouri, Kansas, Texas prior lien 5s, Missouri Pacific general 4s, Nickel Plate 4½s, New Haven 4½s and Southern Railway general 4s brought higher prices. Gains of a point or more developed in Chicago & Alton 3½s, Erie Consolidated 4s, Florida East Coast 5s, Southern Railway consolidated 5s, Delaware & Hudson refunding 4s, and Central of Georgia 5s.

Numerous low-priced industrials, especially the foreign sugars, made a rather broad upward move. Certainteed 5½s and Pressed Steel Car 5s gained about a point, the latter reflecting the company's 1929 earnings report. North American Cement 6½s advanced 2¾ and Warner Sugar Refining 7s 2½. Remington Arms 6s rallied nearly 2 points to 95. There was active buying in Standard Oil of New Jersey 5s, which were marked up ⅝. Armour Real Estate 4½s and Central Steel 8s also moved higher. Cuba Cane Sugar bonds rallied 2 points.

Utilities Turnover Slow.

Utilities were somewhat slow. The most active issue was the new American Telephone 5s, which held firm, as did the International Telephone debenture of the same coupon, trading when issued.

United States Government Liberties and Treasuries attracted little attention but managed to hold most of yesterday's advance. The Treasury 4s rose 10-32.

The State of Massachusetts awarded $4,750,000 in three issues of 4 per cent serial bonds to a syndicate which bid 100.67.

New offerings tomorrow include a $2,506,000 issue of Chicago North Shore & Milwaukee Railroad 6 per cent one-year notes at 99.12, and a $1,015,000 additional issue of Green Mountain Power Corporation first mortgage 5s, due in 1948, priced at the market.

MUTUAL FIRE MARKS ITS 75TH BIRTHDAY

Insurance Firm of District Names 1930 Managers at Annual Meeting.

GOOD YEAR IS REPORTED

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

The seventy-fifth year of the Mutual Fire Insurance Co.'s existence was marked Monday, when members and policyholders of the company held their annual meeting at its office building, 1301 H street northwest, a number of guests also being in attendance at the meeting.

The office was appropriately decorated and on exhibition were photographs of the founders, early managers and officers. The company was organized January 20, 1855, at the home of Ulysses Ward, on Missouri avenue, then a fashionable section of Washington. Mr. Ward, the first president, and Charles Wilson, secretary, organized the company.

The "old Mutual Fire," as it is sometimes called, has numbered among its directors and officers many men who have been prominent in the civic and business life of this city. Included among these were former Mayor Emery, John C. McKelden, Samuel Norment, Jesse B. Wilson, George T. Dearing, J. Wesley Boteler and others.

Leads in Policies on Homes.

At the meeting, the principal business transacted was the rendition of financial reports and election of managers. The company, being mutual and without stockholders, is operated for its policyholders, and was reported as having had a successful year and as being the largest insurers of homes in the District.

The balloting for managers for the ensuing year resulted in unanimous reelection of W. A. H. Church, B. F. Saul, C. Kettelmann, L. Pierce Boteler, E. C. Brandenburg, Frank A. Johnson and Arthur Carr. The managers were authorized by the policyholders to apply to Congress for certain amendments to the charter for the purpose of enlarging the objects and operations of the company. Flowers were presented to Mr. Church in honor of his completion of 35 years of service as a manager.

Next week will occur the election of officers. The present officers are: W. A. H. Church, president; L. Pierce Boteler, secretary, serving 35 years as an officer of the company; C. Kettelmann, treasurer, and William Reed Macgill, assistant secretary.

Exchange Turnover Here Light.

Rain kept traders from the Washington Stock Exchange yesterday where bond sales of $2,600 marked a falling off of $15,000 from the preceding session, first record day for the year, and the stock turnover of but seven shares was a decline of 530.

Bond sales were: $100 Washington Gas 8s, at 105, last sale price; $1,000 Washington Gas As, at 103½, fractional gain; $500 Capital Traction 5s, at 93, last sale price, and $1,000 at 93¼. A single share of Potomac Electric 6 per cent preferred moved at 112, point gain, and six shares traded at 111, last quotation.

Vice President William J. Flather, Riggs National Bank, received congratulations yesterday on completing 53 years of continuous service with that institution, his long connection with it being exceeded only by that of Charles C. Glover, sr., chairman of the board, now inactive due to ill health.

Mr. Flather entered the employ of Riggs & Co. February 4, 1877, as a messenger boy, and advanced steadily, remaining with the original company until it was converted into the Riggs National Bank in 1896 and becoming a vice president of the bank many years ago. He is in excellent health; at the bank every day and is one of the best informed bankers in the city.

Donaldson Cleveland, of Baltimore, is associated with the Washington office of E. A. Pierce & Co., in the investment department, as of February 1.

On the Rules of Traffic

By WILLIAM ULLMAN

Cutting corners is a violation of the regulations that may have serious consequences, since there is a direct danger of colliding with oncoming traffic. The driver who commits this infraction of the law is endangering not only himself, but others as well, by traveling in the wrong traffic lane.

A driver cuts corners when he makes a left turn without passing over or around the center of an intersection, as specifically enjoined in the traffic code.

Example: A driver reaches an intersection where there are several cars coming toward him. To avoid losing time by making a left turn properly and having to wait for oncoming traffic, he swings sharply into the cross-street. It is a flagrant violation of the regulations and one for which many arrests are made.

FIRE ENGINE CHANGE IS SEEN IN POTOMCA

City Manager Is Notified of Plan to Send Apparatus to Virginia Highlands.

NEW BUS SERVICE LOOMS

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
312 S. Washington St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Although the Alexandria authorities had been given to understand that the 600-gallon American-La-France engine, which has been in use in Potomac, and the ownership of which was in controversy until a decision rendered by Judge Frederick Coleman recently awarded it to Arlington County, would be allowed to remain in Potomac until the arrival of the new 750-gallon pumper just ordered by City Manager Wallace Lawrence, the city manager has been notified by County Engineer C. L. Kinnier that the appartus would be moved immediately, and turned over to the Jefferson District at Virginia Highlands.

Mr. Lawrence notified Fire Chief Duncan of the latest development, and the chief got in touch with Supervisor Edward Duncan, in an effort to have the city allowed the use of the appartus temporarily, or until the arrival of the new apparatus, in about ten days. Mr. Duncan stated the appartus had been promised to the Jefferson District, and the latter was asking for it, and suggested that the chief get in touch with Frank Allwine, to see if he would consent to permit its continued use by Alexandria. The Jefferson Department is understood to have gone on record as being opposed to granting Alexandria's request, and demanding the equipment at once. The original order for its removal at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, then remained in effect.

Pending arrival of the new equipment, Potomac will be protected by a small Reo pumper, which was taken over by the city from the town of Potomac. In the event of a large fire, however, either or all three of the fire companies of the city can reach the scene very quickly, so that no serious embarrassment is expected to result.

Word was received from Richmond yesterday that the State corporation commission has granted the application of the Mount Vernon, Alexandria & Washington Railway Co. to abandon its service between Alexandria and Mount Vernon, effective March 1.

Robert L. May, owner and operator of the Alexandria, Barcroft & Washington Bus Line, announced immediately that he has filed an application with the corporation commission for the establishment of a bus line to ply between this city and Mount Vernon, to serve the area affected, and that as soon as this permission is granted he would take care of the former patrons of the electric line. He said he planned to continue service on the old road, and would reach as many persons in that community as possible, and that as soon as the new highway is completed the bus schedule will be changed to cover a route in that territory.

The sale and abandonment of the Mount Vernon branch of the road will not in any way affect the line between Alexandria and Washington. The operation of the Mount Vernon end of the line has been conducted at a loss, according to officials of the line, and consequently permission was asked to scrap the rails and equipment. The Government, it is understood, has offered the company $150,000 for its right of way, to be used in constructing the Mount Vernon memorial boulevard.

The Holy Name Society of St. Mary's Catholic Church will observe next Sunday, February 9, as rally day, when every member will be expected to be present. The society will receive Holy Communion at the 7 o'clock mass and at 7:30 o'clock in the evening services will be held in the church. An appropriate sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Father Boyd, of the Dominican Order.

The services in the lyceum will be followed by a social meeting, and the Rev. Father Brosnan, spiritual director of the Holy Name Society, and others, will deliver addresses. The meeting will close with the singing of "America."

John T. Worthington was the speaker at the weekly meeting of the Rotary Club, held in the George Mason Hotel yesterday, his subject being "Insurance." Dr. S. Nelson Gray, president of the club, occupied the head of the table.

Capt. W. W. Campbell issued a warning yesterday to all automobile owners that beginning today the police will rigidly enforce the city automobile license law, and that any local motorist failing to display a city tag on his machine will be subject to arrest and fine.

Melvin Skelton, Negro, was walking with a rather peculiar gait when he was noticed by Police Sergt. Lawrence Padgett, Monday night. The officer hailed the man, who attempted to escape by running around a street car. He was overhauled, however, and police say, his erratic locomotion proved to be caused by the presence in his trousers leg of four half-gallon jars of whisky. In Police Court yesterday a fine of $100 and a three-months sentence to jail was Skelton's portion.

Carl Crockett, 21 years old, of 221 West Peyton street, was arraigned in Police Court yesterday charged with theft of two suit cases from the automobile of Abraham Krasnow, of Philadelphia, who had reported to the police that a window of his automobile had been smashed and the two suit cases, containing articles valued at $315, stolen. The alleged loot was recovered by Detective Sergt. Edgar Sims in the room occupied by Crockett. When arraigned, Crockett pleaded guilty to a charge of grand larceny, and was held for the grand jury.

The Alexandria High School unit of the Parent-Teacher Association will meet at 3:15 o'clock this afternoon in the high school building. Mrs. William Jackson Morton will address the members, and Miss Helen Norris Cummings, president of the Cameron Club, will offer, on behalf of the club, a $5 gold piece to the student writing the best essay on benefits to be derived from membership in the high school cadet corps.

The Alexandria Antituberculosis Society has acknowledged contributions to its Christmas Seal sale from the Alfred Street Bapist Church and the Shiloh Baptist Church, both colored congregations. The amount received from colored organizations and churches for the seal sale to date is $78.20.

Among the major projects on the program for Maryland are: Outside plants, $2,656,000; central office improvements, $1,613,000; telephone and private switchboard equipment, $1,557,000. Extensions of the toll line system, intercity cable, are also contemplated.

The schedule for Virginia is: Central office improvements, $2,543,000; telephone and private exchange equipment, $1,229,000; outside plant and toll facilities, $1,864,000, and new buildings and additions, $418,000.

Tobacco Drying Plant; Burned; Loss $200,000

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 4 (A.P.).—Fire that started from an overheated smokestack tonight swept through the drying plant of the Southwestern Tobacco Co., destroying several million pounds of leaf.

Estimates made by officials after the blaze was controlled set the damage at $200,000.

UNVIERISTY FGIHTS WOMEN FOR COLLEGE

Virginia Assembly Listens as Biennial Struggle Begins at Richmond.

VARIOUS BILLS REPORTED

Special to The Washington Post.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 4.—Led by Dr. Edwin A. Alderman, president of the University of Virginia, and by Robert B. Tunstall, president of the Alumni Association, the biennial fight of the university began today against the women of the State, who are seeking to have established a coordinate college of liberal arts at or near Charlottesville.

The General Assembly listened through its schools and colleges committees to the educational wrangle, while Mrs. Randolph Maynard, chairman of a group of organized women said to number 65,000, demanded passage of the Early-Montague-Holt bill that would give them the school.

The women not only were fighting for the main bill, but against three others that would establish such a school for them at Harrisonburg, Fredericksburg or Lynchburg.

The committees took the bills under advisement and, it is expected, will report the Layman bill that would continue a commission to study the proposition and make definite recommendations in 1932, or a bill introduced today by Senator Frank L. Ball, of Arlington, that would provide a new commission.

Verser Bill Reported.

Meanwhile the House privileges and elections committe reported the Verser bill with amendments that would provide a three-three-three commission—three from the House, three from the Senate and three from the State at large, to be selected by the governor, to study for election changes as recommended by Gov. Pollard in his inauguration address and again yesterday.

When the House convened a resolution of respect was adopted on the death of Allen I. Harless, of Montgomery, third member of the House to die this session, the other two being Samuel L. Adams of Halifax and Dr. J. T. Graham, of Wythe. The action was followed by the unanimous passage of a bill relating to justices of the peace that he had sponsored. The House argued for a time over the Brewer bank stock tax bill, but finally passed it 72 to 18, while the Senate, besides considering its calendar, greeted Lieut. Gov. R. T. Fountain, of North Carolina, who was en route to Washington, where the North Carolina park commission will on Thursday transfer to the Department of the Interior 150,000 acres of the Great Smoky Mountain Park.

The Lesner automobile bills, including the measure to provide Statewide permits for all drivers and the safety responsibility bill, were passed out by the finance committee, carrying an appropriation "sufficient" to carry out the provisions of the act, variously estimated at from $125,000 to more than $200,000.

Free Permits Provided.

Under the State-wide drivers bill, as amended, all persons now driving automobiles, whether holders of city permits or not, would be granted perpetual permits free and without examination prior to February 1, 1931, after which date the fee for registration and examination would be imposed.

The Senate fish and game committee, plunged into the rather painful task of extracting the seafood bills, and with much discussion and some opposition, half a dozen of them were reported, some as they were and others with amendments. The bill which would provide for the organization of the commission was amended so as to set the maximum salary at $7,500.

Senator Barron led a fight to advance the tax bill that would allow localities to exempt manufacturers, holding that competition among counties and cities of the State for industrty is just what is needed for the growth of the Commonwealth. A motion to recommit it was defeated and it was advanced to its passage, on which it will be heard tomorrow.

Among the bills introduced today was one empowering the State Prison Board to purchase one radio for each convict camp not to cost more than $150.

W. Basil Bruce, of Farmville, introduced a bill that would bar from her dower any widow who deserted or abandoned her husband, which abandonment had continued to death. James A. Bear, Roanoke, would make it unlawful for any automobile dealer to delay more than 10 days in reporting a transfer of automobile title.

Harrisonburg, Va., Feb. 4.—The Aeolian Club, a scholastic musical society of Harrisonburg State Teachers College, will present a special recital in the college auditorium on Friday of this week.

The Aeolian Club will entertain members of the music department of Harrisonburg Teachers College at luncheon in honor of the visiting musicians.

COUNTY'S TEACHERS TO MEET IN DISTRICT

Prince Georges Association to Hold Annual Social Event on Friday.

DANCE FOR CHURCH SET

The annual special meeting of the Prince Georges County Teachers Association will be held Friday at the Raleigh Hotel in Washington. County schools will be closed all day to enable the teachers to attend, according to Superintendent of Schools Nicholas Orem.

A short business session will begin at 9:30 o'clock Friday mornnig, followed by an address of welcome by Supt. Orem and a solo by Miss Charlotte Zepp, of the Maryland Park High School. Dr. A. S. Cook, State superintendent of schools, will address the meeting on "What Constitutes a Progressive School System." Dr. Earle Wilfley also will address the meeting. The Hyattsville High School faculty will present a play, and Dr. Charles F. Southard will speak on "Eyesight Conservation." Music will be given by Mason and May Willis. Luncheon will be served.

Prince Georges County Police Court collected fines and costs totaling $2,133.60 in the month of January, according to the report of Thomas R. Henault, clerk of the police court. Judge J. Chew Sheriff heard 236 cases and disposed of 229 in the four branches of the court, leaving 7 cases pending.

Motor vehicle fines totaled $997 and costs were $150.10. Criminal fines totaled $739, with costs of $139. State game law violation fines totaled $5 and costs of $3.50. The court turned over $1,131.60 to the county commissioners, which included $100 costs collected in civil cases. The motor vehicle fines will be forwarded to the commissioner of motor vehicles in Baltimore.

The Young People's Club of St. James' Catholic Church, Mount Rainier, will hold its annual card party and dance tomorrow night at the Raleigh Hotel at 8 o'clock. The proceeds are to be devoted to the church building fund.

Miss Marie Keys is general chairman and Mrs. Grace E. Hillers is chairman of the committee on cards and prizes. The young ladies' committee is headed by Mrs. Margaret Robinson, assisted by Miss Margaret Gerhardt, Mrs. Ruth E. Martin, Miss Charlotte Urda, Miss Marie Smith, Miss Theresa Merkle, Miss Audrey Speake, Miss Agnes Mohun and Miss Irene King. The floor committee includes Paul Carney, Francis Bailey, Charles Famosa, George Roper and Martin Casey.

The Mount Rainier common council has adopted a resolution opposing an increase of county taxes for the purpose of park development which will be forwarded to the Prince Georges County commissioners. The council went on record as believing that such an increase would work hardship on the county taxpayers. The resolution follows a suggestion that the present tax levy for the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission be increased to provide for future development, as has been done in Montgomery County.

Councilman Floyd B. Mathias was appointed chairman of a committee to arrange for a joint meeting of representatives of the towns of Hyattsville, Colmar Manor, Cottage City and Brentwood to discuss issuance of building permits and the trial of persons violating town ordinances. The date of the meeting will be announced later.

A card party for the benefit of the Greater Capitol Heights Fire Department will be held tonight at the Shady Oak Inn on the Marlboro pike near District Heights.

Girl Is Seriously Hurt In Cumberland Crash

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., Feb. 4.—Miss Gertrude H. Harris, 22, daughter of Dr and Mrs. Edward Harris, injured in an automobile accident early today, remained in a critical condition tonight at Allegany Hospital with little hope held for recovery because of internal complications and a compound fracture of the left thigh. William Dundee, 28, driver of the car that crashed into a pole on Long Hill, Baltimore turnpike on the eastern outskirts of Cumberland, has a badly gashed throat and ear lacerations.

The authorities are investigating the report that Dundee was racing another machine. Miss Harris left her home with a girl friend after they attended the theater to spend the night at the latter's home, according to Mrs. Harris. Dundee has been under $500 bond since October 19 last, for the May term of Federal Court on a charge of possession of liquor.

Encouraged by the support which is being given by the citizens in every section of the county in the campaign launched by the Arlington County Health Department against tuberculosis, a special radio program over station WJSV is announced for tomorrow night from 8:15 to 8:45 o'clock.

In addition to the address to be given over the air on the benefits to be derived from the campaign, which is now under way, by one of the officials of the department, a change has been made necessary, due to the death of Judge Chichester at Fredericksburg, brother of Dr. F. M. Chichester, county health officer, who was announced as a speaker. A feature of the program will be the musical entertainment to be given by the Glee Club of Arlington Hall School for Girls.

Much interest was shown in the meeting held last night at the Kemper School for the colored population of the county, according to an announcement by Miss Marion Gray, who is in the county, coming as the field worker from the State Tuberculosis Association.

Mrs. Mary V. Brown, president of the Parent-Teacher Association of the school, has been appointed chairman of the committee to work in that section of the county. She will be assisted by Mrs. Mary R. Drew, Mrs Emma H. Clifford, Mrs. Henrietta Hoffman and Carter Taylor.

Tonight there will be a mass meeting held in the Bon Air Firemen's Hall under the joint auspices of the Bon Air, Vietch Civic Associations and the Parent-Teacher Association of the Stonewall Jackson School at which Miss Gray will bring to the citizens of that section an outline of what is being accomplished and future plans for the Health Department's work in fighting tuberculosis.

The program will include the presentation of a play entitled "Listening In."

Mrs. G. H. Benton, chairman of that section of the county on the executive committee, will preside.

President Julian E Tapp, of the Arlington Volunteer Fire Department, announces the appointment of Julian E. Tapp, chairman; V. Ehrhardt, John R. Mossburg, Herbert L. Wilson and Elmer J. Blackmer as the department's membership committee.

According to a report given out yesterday by Jack Travis, fire marshal of the Arlington Fire Department, the department during the past year responded to a total of 127 alarms.

Election of officers will be the principal business to come before a special meeting of the Arlington County Republican Club called for tonight in the Boulevard Bakery at 8 o'clock at Clarendon.

The Arlington Rotary Club will go to Winchester, Va., tomorrow night, where it will attend the intercity meeting to be held in the George Washington Hotel.

Girl Dies of Burns Near Hoover Camp

Clothing Is Set Ablaze by Fireplace Flame; Kin Also Injured.

Special to The Washington Post.

Luray, Va., Feb. 4.—An old-time fireplace before which she was preparing the midday meal for herself and several younger brothers and sisters yesterday brought death to Miss Viola Hurt, living near President Hoover's fishing lodge on the Rapidan River in Madison County.

As she passed in front of the fireplace the young woman's dress caught fire. She rushed from the house into the yard, where she attempted to extinguish the flames by rolling in the snow. Her brothers and sisters, in attempting to tear away her clothing, were burned about their hands and faces. Miss Hurt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Hurt, at the time of the tragedy were visiting the young woman's grandfather, John W. Breeden, several miles away.

The young woman died in the yard before the arrival of her parents. One of her brothers, burned about the hands and feet, ran 2 miles to the home of the nearest neighbor, where he informed them of the tragedy.

When open the library will be run as a free loan library for the use of any citizens of the county. Circus Man's Yacht May Be Total Loss Heavy Seas Pound Partly Submerged Craft of John Ringling.

Sarasota, Fla., Feb. 4 (A.P.).—Heavy seas pounded tonight at the palatial yacht Salophus, owned by John Ringling, circus magnate, as it lay practically submerged in 12 feet of water, one mile off Ringling Island in the Gulf of Mexico, where it sank early today after striking a rock.

Seafaring folk believed that unless the high winds abated shortly the $200,000 yacht might be battered to a complete loss. Insurance representatives said nothing could be done about raising the boat until insurance companies had inspected it.

The 125-foot yacht, manned by a crew of twelve and carrying several passengers, set out from here about midnight last night for a cruise to Useppa Island, near Fort Myers.

The passengers and crew immediately put out in motor craft carried aboard the yacht and reached here about daybreak. None of the passengers was injured, but two members of the crew suffered crushed hands while lowering the lifeboats.

CEDAR DEFENDERS APPEAL TO HOOVER

League Secretary Alleges Disrespect to Flag by Hewers.

PRESIDENT IS SILENT

Special to The Washington Post.

Shepherdstown, W. Va., Feb. 4.—Property owners leagued here in protest against cutting of cedar trees under a State law to prevent cedar rust on apple trees, carried their appeal to President Hoover today when American flags, placed atop trees on the Miss Su Lemen place in an appeal to the tree cutters' patriotism, failed to halt the cutting crew.

The appeal to the President was on the basis of capacity as commander in chief of the United States Army and Navy. The appeal alleges disrespect for the flag was shown when the cutting crews hewed the trees in which the flags had been placed. No reply from the President had been received, Miss Violet Dandridge, secretary of the league of protestants, said.

She said the appeal was wired after she had personally appealed to the crew to respect the flag. Her appeals were ineffectual. Some thirteen trees were cut on the place.

Miss Dandridge denied that the protestants intended to use any violence to halt the cutting, specifically denying that any shotgun had been raised in threat.

Further injunctional proceedings will be futile, she said the protestants felt, in view of an adverse ruling by the Supreme Court some weeks ago on an appeal case taken to stop the cutting program.

CULPEPER ATTORNEY FOUND DEAD ON ROAD

Capt. T. E. Grimsley Thought to Have Died Before His Auto Wrecked.

HIGH IN LEGAL CIRCLES

Special to The Washington Post.

Culpeper, Va., Feb. 4.—The body of Capt. T. Edwin Grimsley, outstanding Virginia attorney, was found this morning more than 100 feet from the point on the road where his car struck a bridge late Monday afternoon. Capt. Grimsley had spent Monday in Warrenton and left just before 5 o'clock with the remark that he wanted to reach Culpeper before dark.

He had completed about 13 miles of the 25-mile trip when the accident occurred. From the tracks made by his car it is thought that he became unconscious and lost control of the machine, which gradually drifted to the left side of the road and struck the hand rail of the bridge. The left door of the car was open and it is thought that the body dropped out into the stream and washed down to where it was found.

Many Persons Pass Car.

Numerous Culpeper people passed the car, and some recognized it, but seeing that no one was in it they passed it by and it was not until this morning, when one of the highway patrolmen called Mrs. Grimsley, that any uneasiness was felt regarding Capt. Grimsley's whereabouts, as Mrs. Grimsley thought that he was spending the night in Warrenton.

When she learned that his car was wrecked, she communicated with Deputy Motor Vehicle Commissioner P. L. Thornton, who went to the scene of the accident at once.

He was unable to find any trace of Capt. Grimsley at first, and called for a part of the Culpeper Volunteer Fire
